Forming a New Party.

Shortly after the election two years ago, in which the Democrats were very generally successful, Maj. Baldwin talked quite freely to an interviewer upon the great changes that were certain to follow the severe defeat of the Republicans throughout the country. He regarded the result of the election as a settlement of the tariff question and claimed that the verdict of the people in favor of tariff reform was final and irrevocable. With this issue removed, he did not see what there was left for the Republican party to fight for, and consequently he indulged in the prophecy that the party as it then existed would disappear and there would be a reorganization of parties. In the reorganization of Judge Gresham to be President Cleveland's secretary of state he fancied that he saw one indication of this recasting of party organizations.

This was less than two years ago. But the Republican party did not die. The Republican party did not pass out of existence or amalgamate with any other party. It did not change its policy. It did not abandon the principles for which it has steadily fought and seek new issues. Defeat did not dishearten the Republican party. It served but to spur it to greater efforts and to better organization. The result is the greatest and most sweeping victory which it ever obtained. And it is the turn of the Democratic party to be nearly wiped out of existence, so far as the popular vote is concerned. The table has been completely turned, and with this overturning goes the prophecy of Maj. Baldwin and the major himself.

And now what do we hear? That President Cleveland is said to view the result of the election as ending the usefulness of the Democratic party and as establishing the fact that a new party organization is needed. Mr. Cleveland has done no talking for publication since the defeat of Tuesday, but the expression in favor of a new party organization came to a Washington correspondent from a member of the cabinet, who is so close to Mr. Cleveland and so responsive to his sentiments that it is believed to voice the judgment of the president himself. This cabinet officer said:

"The main lesson of the election is that there must be reformation of political parties all along the line. There has been too much division in the Democratic party and lack of unity of purpose on tariff, finances and other matters. The coming organization must make the financial question foremost in its policy, as it is evident that the country does not want tariff revision either in the direction of protection or free trade, but is anxious for stability and good money."

The secretary did not go into details as to how the present Democratic party is to go out of commission or as to who will take up the burden of establishing its successor. But coming from a man within the cabinet and following the studied refusal of the administration to give any support to the recent Democratic campaign, it indicates a purpose on the part of such administration leaders as the president, Gresham, Morton, Olney and others to break away from the old Democratic machine and establish one on what they regard as a higher plane of public service.

In view of Maj. Baldwin's utterances less than two years ago in regard to the Republican party being recast upon different lines, it would certainly be a striking instance of the irony of fate if he should be forced to take part in the organization of a new party created from the ruins of Democracy.

The Next Congress.

The Herald has received several inquiries as to when the present congress will cease to exist and when the Fifty-fourth congress will take hold of the reins of legislation. The life of the present congress will expire on March 4, 1895, and the existing house of representatives, with Mr. Crisp as its speaker, will have its innings until that time. The house of representatives, most of the members of which were elected Tuesday, will not meet until December, 1895, unless the president calls an extra session of congress in the meantime. Until that time the power of legislation will be in Democratic hands.

It is probable that after March 4, 1895, the senate will pass out of Democratic control, as well as the house. The senate now consists of 35 Republicans, 41 Democrats and 6 Independents, counting John P. Jones and William M. Stewart, of Nevada, as Independents. There are three vacancies in the present senate, from the states of Montana, Washington and Wyoming. All will be filled by the Republicans, swelling the Republican total to 48. Then the Republicans will gain senators in West Virginia, Kansas, Delaware and New Jersey—4 in number, and comprising an aggregate of 42. Should the Democratic claim of having carried the California legislature be substantiated, that party would gain one senator in place of George C. Perkins and take one from the Republican gain of senators. The senate, when full, consists of 88 members, of which 45 is a majority. The senatorial delegation from North Carolina—2 in number—depends on the legislature chosen on Tuesday, and respecting which definite advice has not yet been received. It is evident that Jones and Stewart, of Nevada, will hold quite a commanding position in the senate after March 4 next.

There is not likely to be much legislation of importance at the approaching short session of the Fifty-third congress. No tariff changes need be expected, because the Republicans in the senate will not permit any to be made. They could easily talk against time, if necessary, until March 4. Thus it is certain that there will be no free iron or free coal bills passed this year. The Gorman tariff law fixes a duty of 40 cents per ton on coal and iron and an ad valorem duty on sugar. This was so galling to Chairman Wilson that he rushed through independent free-iron, free-iron and free-sugar bills at the close of the last session. The bills passed the house and are now on the senate calendar. It had been the intention to push them in the senate as soon as the session opened next month. But now that the Democratic policy has been so overwhelmingly defeated, the three bills will be allowed to die peacefully. With the prospect of a Republican senate after March 3 next, there will be no difficulty in preventing the passage of the bills in the three months prior to that date, even should any effort be made to pass them. Chairman Wilson's friends say, however, that he will make no further effort to push his scheme of tariff reform during his few remaining months in congress.

Neither need there be any fear of a free silver coinage bill being passed at the coming short session. It is possible that Bland and his free silver associates might get such a measure through the house, but it could be done only after a hard fight. The same reasons that would prevent the passage of any tariff bills in the senate would also operate against a free silver bill in that body.

A solid North is one of the most significant lessons of the election. The returns show that over twenty Northern states will send solid Republican delegations to congress. Even in the few Northern states in which there is a Democratic congressman the number is down to a single member, as in Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and California. Under these circumstances the hope that has so long animated the Republican members of meeting the solid South with a solid North is almost if not quite accomplished. And at the same time the solid South has been shattered.

The Mankato Free Press rejoices over the defeat for superintendent of schools of a Murray county auditor, because of his "definite opposition" to Senator Washburn. If the Mankato paper is seeking the defeat of Senator Washburn it has started in the right way. Calling the anti-Washburn men names will add to their strength, and they are not very weak at the present time.

An now it is said Attorney General Olney will resign soon and Wilson, the defeated congressman of West Virginia, will take his place. Few will regret the departure of Olney from the cabinet, and Wilson as attorney general would have no opportunity to put his free trade views into practice. The latter, however, denies the story that he will succeed Olney.

The Belgian parliamentary elections are now completed and the Conservatives are to have an ample working majority in the new chamber. They will number 100 as against twenty-three Progressives and twenty-five Socialists. It was only in the manufacturing districts that the Labor party and Socialists won their victories.

It now looks as if Henry Clay Evans had actually been elected governor of Tennessee. A Republican governor for that state is a novelty. Mr. Evans is a Northerner by birth and lives in Chattanooga, where he engaged in the manufacturing line shortly after the war.

David B. Hill still holds his seat in the senate. He is liable to make it very uncomfortable for Grover when the next session of congress opens. And no one can blame him if he does score the ungrateful and vindictive occupant of the White House.

The Minneapolis Times has discovered the reason of the present cold snap. The Populist party was so mortified at its defeat that it threatened to become offensive, and nature sent the cold to keep the atmosphere clean and wholesome.

If Dr. Parkhurst will avail himself of all the opportunities afforded by being made an honorary member of the Union League club, of New York, he will doubtless find that there is room for reform in other quarters besides those in which he is now prosecuting his work.

It begins to look as if winter had set in early. There was some ice in the bay yesterday. But possibly the old proverb may be true that—"If there be ice in November that will bear a check. There will be nothing thereafter but sleet and snow."

The New York Evening Post says that the rest of the country may be ignorant of what free coinage at 16 to 1 means, but the Ohio Democrats have found out at last. It means 16 votes for the other fellows to 1 for them.

Richard Croker is said to be the heaviest winner of election bets in New York state. He left the Tammany leadership when he saw the deluge coming, and he was shrewd enough to bet on the right side.

The Mugwump-Cleveland organs that are referring to David B. Hill as a political corpse will find that he is a decidedly lively corpse.

The fact that further tariff legislation is impossible until after 1895 anyway is what inspires confidence in business circles.

There is a new czar in Russia, but "Czar" Reed will resume business at the old stand in Washington next year.

West Virginia is getting to be a great industrial state, and it will probably stay in the Republican column.

China wants peace very badly, and Japan will undoubtedly make her pay handsomely for it.

He Never Came Back.
Young China-ling Ching, of Chinese origin. A truly young chap in his way. In a moment of day concluded that he would walk to the Mellena way.

He put on a bike, went out in the pike. He found he had been in the Mellena way. He proceeded the record to beat.

Going down a decline the riding was fine. And his bicycle was standing out at sight. To the road came a rise, and to his surprise, he found he had been in the Mellena way.

For the wheel going slow, made it different, you know. His bicycle becoming entangled in the spokes of the wheel, made China-ling feel that he was to be strangled.

He gave a loud squeal, but just then the wheel started down a decline in the pike. As it turned around, the pike's wheel found the hub of China-ling's bike.

First his face it got red, then he stood on his head. In that way he is riding today. The record he beat, but not with his feet. Nor yet in the Mellena way.

His Methods Approved.
Anoka Herald: But C. A. Towne's election to congress in this district ought to give us even more satisfaction than any other victory. Baldwin has received a rebuke for his official actions while in congress and his henchmen have been condemned for their dirty, contemptible and dishonest campaign. Mr. Towne has been accused of everything which the fervid imagination of the Democracy could conceive, but throughout the fight he carried himself with that dignity which everyone admires and which was wholly lacking in his opponent. The people approve of his methods and endorse his sentiment.

It Did Not Pay.
Virginia Enterprise: We wonder if the major still thinks it pays to overlook and ignore a petition with ten thousand names attached, asking him to vote for a reinsurance of the 75 cents per ton duty on iron ore? The enormity of the major's defeat is but commensurate with the wanton disregard for the interests of his district as shown by the major by his vote and labor on the tariff bill.

"Hungry Bellies" Do Count.
Vermion Iron Journal: Maj. Baldwin is relegated to the rear. The free raw material policy of Maj. Baldwin did not meet the approval of the people of the Sixth district and in consequence the major will once more act as a private citizen. "Hungry bellies" do count just the same. The district has decided that Charles A. Towne is abundantly able to run the congressional business, state matters to the contrary by the opposition, notwithstanding. It is well. We will be proud of Charles A. Towne.

Triumph of a Friend.
Sank Center Herald: There is no feature of the campaign more gratifying to the Republicans of this city than the election of Hon. Charles A. Towne. He made an impression here during his several visits which impressed him upon their good will and affections as few men are capable of making. His election is felt to be the triumph of a personal friend.

SELECTING THE JURY

Case of Leonidas Merritt Against the Mining Companies Taken Up Before Judge Lewis This Morning.

Work of Drawing the Jury Occupied the Whole Morning and Was Not Completed at Noon.

High-Roller Highton Was Arraigned This Morning and Entered a Plea of Not Guilty.

The case of Leonidas Merritt against the Biwabik Mountain Iron company came up before Judge Lewis in room 3 this morning. Merritt sues to recover something over $30,000 for services as president, general manager and financial agent of the company, and the suit is the second in a series of them. The first was against the Missabe road, and Mr. Merritt received a verdict of $12,530. The third will be against the Missabe Mountain Iron company, for $11,000, and is similar to the present suit.

The suit is prosecuted by A. A. and H. E. Harris, and is defended by J. B. Otton, attorney for the road and the Consolidated mines, and G. Wellwood Murray, John D. Rockefeller's attorney and general counsel for the road and Consolidated mines. The selection of the jury was conducted with more than ordinary care, and at noon the panel was still incomplete. Each taleman was subjected to a searching examination by the company's lawyers as well as by the plaintiff's attorneys, and five were excused by the court, challenges for actual bias being sustained.

George W. Taylor was called and admitted that he felt a good deal of sympathy with the Merritts and that he had heard some discussion of the case. He was challenged for actual bias by the defense, and though he stated that he thought his sympathy would not prevent him from giving the case an impartial trial, the challenge was sustained and the taleman was excused.

C. T. Fitzsimmons said that he had heard a good deal about the deals between Rockefeller and the Merritts, and he had a feeling against one of the parties which it would take pretty clear evidence to remove. He was challenged and excused.

Frank R. Leslie, G. W. Strayer and John Lowry were challenged for actual bias by the plaintiff on account of business relations with the defendant company. At noon twenty-one talemen had been called and five had been excused for actual bias and five on peremptory challenges. It looked as though each side was going to exercise its full rights of peremptory challenge. The case will probably occupy three or four days.

High Roller Highton Arraigned. This morning A. G. Highton was arraigned before Judge Moer on an indictment for grand larceny in the second degree in passing a check for $100 upon W. S. Whitten in payment for the Omaha special car in which Highton went to St. Paul. He pleaded not guilty and M. H. Crocker was appointed to defend him.

Mike McDonough pleaded guilty to burglary in the third degree. Alfred and Mary Johnson pleaded not guilty to a charge of incest and E. C. Coleman and E. Corry made the same plea to charges of burglary in the third degree.

John Boschart, Mat Johnson, William Matson, John Brennan and Lizzie Nicholas were arraigned and will plead Wednesday. The indictment found Friday which was withheld was against Lizzie Nicholas, who is charged with keeping a house of ill-fame at Biwabik.

The grand jury was in session this morning and returned new indictments against Jennie Pascoe against M. H. Mason for attempting to carnally know a child under 16 and for assault in the second degree.

These indictments were the only result of the morning's session, but the American Loan and Trust company matters were still under consideration. The jury adjourned until Thursday morning.

The case of John S. Palmer against the Duluth Street Railway company was given to the jury this afternoon before Judge Moer.

Land Office Has Orders to Enter the New Government Building.

The local United States land office officials are in receipt of a letter from the general office, instructing them to move into quarters in the new Federal building. The move will be made the latter part of this month.

The land attorneys also will be compelled to move down town for the convenience of both themselves and their clients. They feel that they have been paying too much rent and for that reason will with delight an opportunity to vacate the fourth floor of that building. There is some talk of securing office rooms for every attorney in some one building but no one step has yet been taken. Any move on the part of any one to raise rents in any of the downtown offices will be strenuously opposed and promptly resisted.

Just to show you: This morning we had an elegant 'ad' all written up about OVERCOATS, referring to the two excellent values at $10.00 and $15.00 we advertised in yesterday's News Tribune and elaborating quite freely on "A New English Great Coat," (brought in by this morning's express.) This is the only Overcoat made up with one seam; it's made from Schuau's Fine Chinchilla and sells at $30.00. We say without any hesitancy that this is one of the swellest Coats ever shown in Duluth.

Knowing What
We Want to Do

And keeping at it everlastingly is the concrete fact about this business. Our aim for the last twelve years has been to give Duluth the best Dry Goods Store in the Northwest. Nothing diverts us from this plain purpose. Every day we come closer to our object.

Two Questions:
Have the goods we have ever sold to you been otherwise than as exactly represented?

Have the prices ever been higher than you would have paid elsewhere? Nine times out of ten the prices we ask are lower than the prevailing market prices. Ten times out of ten the goods are all they should be. There's nothing wonderful about this. It's the knowing how.

Dress Goods.
If conditions anywhere make it possible to put Dress Goods prices lower we mean that you shall see them here first of all.

Granite Suitings,
75c.

These stuffs have been $1.25 but a little while ago. Fine Granite weave in mottled colorings. Worsted and Wool put together as thoroughly good. Dress Goods must be. Plume 32 inches. Think of saving $3 on a 6-yard pattern of such goods.

$1.25 Covert Cloth,
98c.

All Wool and Worsted mixtures that finds so much favor these days. Four of the finest color blends, in a stuff that belongs to aristocracy.

Imported Cheviots,
$1.25.

Just in—color navy blue and black, meant to be $2.50 inches wide.

Serge Plaids,
29c.

Five styles at 29c the yard. They cost somebody nearly twice that to import.

Black Dress Goods, Priestley's.

Silk Warp EUDORA the most perfect smooth-faced fabrics ever offered. Prices up to $2 a yard.

Remember
46-inch Silk Finish Henriettas sell here at 75c the $1 kind.

40-inch All Wool Henriettas sell here at 35c the 50c kind.

For reliable Black Dress Goods visit our Black Goods counter.

Black Silks.
Here's the Silk headquarters. Specials:

Just received a line of Fancy Black Taffeta Silks, for skirts and waists. For the reliable Silks visit the Silk Department.

Furs.

Excellent reasons for thinking that the Fur trade is being done here. Everything draws you here. The biggest first, the variety, the prices. Every dollar counts for nearly two dollars here.

$10.75 BUYS a 24-inch Astrakhan Cap made of elegant quality skins, would sell readily at $15.50.

$16.75 BUYS a 30-inch Baltic Seal Cape, with Martin collar, full sweep. Some houses ask you $25, but we make the price $16.75.

$14.50 BUYS a 27-inch Monkey Cape, with electric seal collar, would be good value at $22.50.

HERE you'll find the best assortment of Fur Caps. See ours before buying. $37.50 BUYS a 34-inch Astrakhan Jacket with large balloon sleeves, large storm collar, made by best of furriers and guaranteed to wear, sold by largest houses at $50.

Ask to see our Electric Seal Jackets $47.50. You'll not duplicate them elsewhere short of $60.

Our $39.50 Krimmer Jackets are all we claim for them—better made—and a saving of $10.50 for you.

Otter, Mink and Beaver Coats sold here at lowest prices.

Muffs.

Work of Drawing the Jury Occupied the Whole Morning and Was Not Completed at Noon.

High-Roller Highton Was Arraigned This Morning and Entered a Plea of Not Guilty.

The case of Leonidas Merritt against the Biwabik Mountain Iron company came up before Judge Lewis in room 3 this morning. Merritt sues to recover something over $30,000 for services as president, general manager and financial agent of the company, and the suit is the second in a series of them. The first was against the Missabe road, and Mr. Merritt received a verdict of $12,530. The third will be against the Missabe Mountain Iron company, for $11,000, and is similar to the present suit.

The suit is prosecuted by A. A. and H. E. Harris, and is defended by J. B. Cotton, attorney for the road and the Consolidated mines, and G. Wellwood Murray, John D. Rockefeller's attorney and general counsel for the road and Consolidated mines. The selection of the jury was conducted with more than ordinary care, and at noon the panel was still incomplete. Each talesman was subjected to a searching examination by the company's attorneys, as well as by the plaintiff's attorneys, and five were excused by the court, challenges for actual bias being sustained.

George W. Taylor was called and admitted that he felt a good deal of sympathy with the Merritts and that he had heard some discussion of the case. He was challenged for actual bias, by the defense, and though he stated that he thought his sympathy would not prevent him from giving the case an impartial trial, the challenge was sustained and the talesman was excused.

C. T. Fitzsimmons said that he had heard a good deal about the case, and that he had a feeling against one of the parties which it would take pretty clear evidence to remove. He was challenged and excused.

Frank R. Leslie, G. W. Strayer and John Lowry were challenged for actual bias by the plaintiff on account of business relations with the defendant company. At noon twenty-one talesmen had been called and five had been excused for actual bias and five on peremptory challenges. It looked as though each side was going to exercise its full rights of peremptory challenge. The case will probably occupy three or four days.

High Roller Highton Arraigned. This morning A. G. Highton was arraigned before Judge Moyer on an indictment for grand larceny in the second degree in passing a check for $100 upon W. S. Witten in payment for the Omaha special car in which Highton went to St. Paul. He pleaded not guilty and M. H. Crocker was appointed to defend him.

Mike McDonough pleaded guilty to burglary in the third degree. Alfred and Mary Johnson pleaded not guilty to a charge of incest and E. C. Coleman and E. Corry made the same plea to charges of burglary in the third degree. John Boschart, Mat Johnson, William Matson, John Brennan and Lizzie Nichols were arraigned and will plead guilty to the indictment found Friday.

The grand jury was in session this morning, and returned new indictments against Jennie Pascoe and John H. Mason for attempting to carnally know a child under 16 and for assault in the second degree.

These indictments were the only result of the morning's session, but the American Loan and Trust company matters were still under consideration. The jury adjourned until Thursday morning.

The case of John S. Palmer against the Duluth Street Railway company was given to the jury this afternoon before Judge Moyer.

SOME BETHEL NOTES.

Boys' Club, Under Charge of Young Men, to be Opened.

The Bethel Boys' club will be opened next week under the charge of a volunteer corps of young men. Bound copies of the Youth's Companion, Wide Awake, Harper's Young People, St. Nicholas and other papers adapted to the young will be welcomed, also any games such as would amuse a crowd of boys just from the street. All should be addressed to the boys' club. The young men who will take charge will meet at 6:30 o'clock this evening.

The Bethel Sunday school voted yesterday to again entertain the new boys at dinner on Thanksgiving day. Now they will begin looking for donations of turkey.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Christian church has sent $5.76 to the Bethel day nursery. This is the first dividend received from five savings banks located in different stores.

Land Office Has Orders to Enter the New Government Building.

The local United States land office officials are in receipt of a letter from the general office, instructing them to move into quarters in the new Federal building. The move will be made the latter part of this month.

The land attorneys also will be compelled to move down town for the convenience of both themselves and their clients. They feel that they have been paying too much rent and for that reason will hail with delight an opportunity to vacate the fourth floor of that building. There is some talk of securing office room for each attorney in some one building but no definite step has yet been taken. Any move on the part of any one to raise rents in any of the down town offices will be strenuously opposed and promptly resented.

WHAT MAKES A GOOD SHOPPING PLACE AND A GOOD STORE TO TRADE AT?

Above all, honest business methods. Next, reliable goods represented just as they are. These principles are the foundations of every honestly successful house.

Now, build upon these, enterprise, push, energy, modern improvements, promptness and punctuality, up-to-date business methods, and you have a foundation and superstructure which will stand forever.

We have tried to the best of our ability to build our business up on these principles and our present establishment is the result.

We thank the public for their appreciation of our efforts and we shall continue building up on the same foundation and we also offer the following for your kind consideration:

In handling FURNITURE, CARPETS, RUGS, CURTAINS AND DRAPERY it requires large warehouses, a thorough knowledge of the business, competent salesmen and skilled workmen in all departments. Also a very large stock and variety is necessary to cater to the cosmopolitan and metropolitan tastes of our people.

The importers and manufacturers tell us that our trade here in Duluth demands the greatest proportion of tasty and stylish goods of any city in the United States (not excepting New York city.)

People here will have useful, comfortable and pretty homes! We have today the largest and best selected stock in this state and all new, bright, clean goods.

DENVER MURDER

Another Crime by the Fiend Whose Strange Hobby is to Choke Women to Death.

Kiku Oyama, a Young Japanese Girl, Found Strangled, and Signs of a Desperate Struggle.

Was Discovered While Her Pulse Was Still Beating and Breath Yet in Her Lungs.

A Turkish Bath Towel, Twisted Into a Rope, Was Used to Choke the Woman.

DENVER, Nov. 13.—"Stringers' Row" was the scene of another murder early today. About 1:15 a. m. No. 1075 Market street was visited by the fiend whose strange hobby is to choke women to death, and when he left the place, Kiku Oyama, a Japanese girl who ran the place, was a corpse with the marks of the strangler's work upon her throat. This morning's murder was committed in the same row of houses in which Lena Tapper and Marie Contassot were strangled. The mode of her death, too, was exactly similar. After partially choking her, the job was completed by tying a towel around her neck and tightening the noose until life left her body.

The only difference between Kiku Oyama's murder and the stranger's other jobs is that she was discovered while her pulse was still beating and breath yet in her lungs. Kiku Oyama was 24 years old and emigrated from Japan to Chicago with the racial representatives of her native land to the Columbian exposition. There she made the acquaintance of Imi Oyama, and together they came to Denver last November. Imi Oyama is a Japanese who lives in a woman's cook, but the neighbors say he lived with her as her husband. He was the first person to enter the Japanese girl's room after her death.

In the room where the murdered woman was found there was every indication that a desperate struggle had taken place. The bed clothes were disturbed and the whole spread of the bed was covered with spots of blood. A Turkish bath towel had been used to choke the woman, and there was another of a similar kind lying upon a dressing table. The first towel was twisted into a rope and the second was used to strangle the victim was thrown upon her back upon the bed after the towel had been placed about her neck and then deliberately garroted. No money was found in the room and it is believed the woman was robbed.

Imi Oyama and several other Japanese have been arrested on suspicion, but so far as known not the slightest evidence has been discovered to implicate them with the crime. The excitement among the women of ill-fame inhabiting the part of the city where the murders by strangling have occurred within a few weeks, rivals that produced by the crimes of "Jack the Ripper" in London a few years ago.

The World's fair award to Dr. Price's baking powder speaks for itself. It claims the superiority of this popular brand over every other.

THEY MUST STAND TRIAL.
Recalcitrant Witnesses in the Sugar Investigation Scandal.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Judge Cole, in the United States district court of the District of Columbia over-ruled the demurrer in the cases of John W. MacCartney, of Washington, and E. R. Chapman, of New York, brokers, who refused to answer certain questions before the senate sugar investigating committee and the defendants for trial.

This was in the nature of a test case and the decision means that the witnesses will have to stand trial. Judge Cole recites the facts leading up to the indictments and the statute of 1857 which provided for the indictment of witnesses refusing to answer questions put by congressional committees. Concerning the statute the judge says: "It was not the intention of congress by that section to enlarge or attempt to enlarge or define its own jurisdiction, but to provide a method of punishment to a witness who should attempt to impede in the manner stated in that section either house in the lawful exercise of its constitutional authority."

After disposing of the jurisdiction of the senate in favor of the government, Judge Cole discusses the pertinency of the questions asked, and declares that any court would have held the questions to be material and pertinent to the subject under investigation. As to whether the witnesses were subject to be excused on grounds personal to themselves, the judge holds that the questions were not such as to criminate themselves. "Their business," he says, "was a perfectly legitimate one and they are as much at liberty to deal with senators as anyone else." As to the contention that the defendants' counsel gave notice that they would appeal to the District of Columbia court of appeals.

At the conclusion of the reading of the decision, Attorney Jere Wilson, of the defendants' counsel, gave notice that he would appeal to the District of Columbia court of appeals.

The Weapon Was Discharged and the Bullet Entered His Sister's Brain, Causing Instant Death.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 13.—Maud Smith, aged 21 years, was arrested yesterday charged with horse stealing. On the evening of Nov. 1 a horse and buggy belonging to Mrs. Mary S. Roberts, of 232 Cedar avenue, were stolen from the rear of the Century building. During last week the rig has been seen about town, always with a woman driving and Sunday it was located at Newman's livery stable, 145 Washington avenue north, where it had been left by a woman to be sold for $75. An officer was placed at the stable and yesterday Maud Smith called and was arrested.

Sergeant Qualey started with the woman for the lock-up, but just as they arrived at the door she fled. Qualey gave chase. Unfortunately for the woman she ran into the blind alley in the rear of Regan's restaurant and was unable to go any further.

FOUL PLAY SUSPECTED.
The Sudden Death of a St. Paul Milliner in Minneapolis.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 13.—Miss Harriet Hubbard, a young woman of 10 years, died yesterday morning in Minneapolis under circumstances which may lead to inquiry. Miss Hubbard is from Columbus, Ohio. She had lived in St. Paul for a year, and until within two weeks had been a saleswoman at Schuler's millinery store on Wabasha street. She had a sister, Mrs. Andrew Dowell, living at the Bateau.

Ten days ago Miss Hubbard left her boarding place at 35 East Tenth street, saying she was going to Chicago for a few days. She left her sister, Mrs. Dowell, nothing about her going and the sister was much worried. Miss Hubbard's whereabouts were unknown until yesterday morning, when word was received from Minneapolis that she was dead.

The exact cause of her death is not known, but enough has come to the surface to cause a suspicion of foul play, and the case will be investigated by the Minneapolis police.

HE SHOT HIS SISTER.
A Ten-Year-Old Boy Found a Revolver With the Usual Result.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 13.—A case of accidental shooting, in which Caleb Corser, a 10-year-old son of F. G. Corser, killed his 14-year-old sister Bessie, occurred last afternoon at the Corser residence, No. 615 James avenue north.

The children were playing together in one of the rooms on the lower floor of the house. Lying on the table in one corner of the room was a revolver, which the little fellow started to get. He took it in his hand playfully, and was about to take it from the table when the trigger caught in a corner of the cloth covering the table, causing the weapon to be discharged.

The bullet entered the girl's face just a little to the left of the nose and penetrated the brain.

SENT THREATENING LETTERS.
A Youth Who Was Led Into Trouble by Older Companions.

HUDSON, Wis., Nov. 13.—John Evans, the youth from Cady who was arrested three weeks ago for sending threatening letters to Hon. William Carson, the millionaire lumberman of Eau Claire, had his hearing before Judge Randall yesterday afternoon. He was acquitted.

It was thought he wrote the letters thoughtlessly through the influence of his older companions. The object of the letters was to extort money by threats. The boy was made to believe that Carson was a dealer in greengoods, and claims his object was to expose him.

Fire at Worthington.
WORTHINGTON, Minn., Nov. 13.—What at one time seemed to be a serious fire broke out at 5:30 yesterday afternoon in the shoe store of Blair & Co. Their loss is large, there being no insurance. The stock of Mrs. Post and the meat market of Mitchell & Co. were greatly damaged.

Whereabouts of a Thief.

LABOR KNIGHTS

The Annual Convention of the Knights of Labor Opened at New Orleans
at Noon.

Neither ex-Grand Master Workman Powderly or Eugene Debs, Who Have Been Invited, Were Present.

Nature of the Attempt to Wrest Control from the Present Ruling Element Not Known.

Mr. Sovereign Says He is Not an Active Candidate But Will Accept a Re-Election.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 13.—Neither ex-Grand Master Workman Powderly nor Eugene Debs, who have been invited, were present when the Knights of Labor convention was ready to be called to order today at noon. Both of these labor leaders were expected on the morning train but did not arrive. It was stated, however, that they would be on hand tomorrow. Until Powderly reaches here, it is difficult to say what the nature of the attempt to wrest the control from the present ruling element in the order will partake of.

The convention came together at 12 o'clock with about ninety delegates representing the various states of the Union in attendance and with the officers of the order occupying seats at the head of the Screwsman's hall. Governor Foster wired today that he was ill and could not come to the city, and Col. T. Sambo Jones appeared as the special representative of his excellency, for whom he spoke. Col. Jones also read a letter from the governor commending the order.

Mayor Fitzpatrick made a brief address of welcome on behalf of the city, and Grand Master Sovereign replied for the Knights. After the public ceremonies of opening the convention were over, the public was asked to retire, the doors were closed and the session, which will be a brief one during the day, began.

The report of the various officers in the principal business is occupying the attention of the knights today and their reports will be given out by the press committee tonight. The session will last for eight or ten days. Leading officers and delegates say it is too early yet to say who will be chosen as officers, and Mr. Sovereign is authority for the statement that he is not a candidate in the sense of active of the order in the election. He will, however, accept his present office if it is tendered to him.

Eugene V. Debs telegraphed to Vice-President Howard of the American Railway union that he has been summoned to appear in Chicago on Friday and that he will be unable to attend the session of the Knights of Labor.

Repeated trials show that a single teaspoonful of Dr. Price's baking powder will go further than two or more teaspoonfuls of any other.

GOT ONLY A SMALL SUM.
Booty Obtained by Robbers Who Held Up a Train.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 13.—According to reports to Superintendent Simpson, of the Wells-Fargo Express company, the total sum of the booty obtained by the robbers who held up the St. Louis & San Francisco train near Monet, Mo., was $215, from the local safe. The pursuit of the robbers has not yet developed any immediate probability of their capture.

The messenger, A. M. Chapman, is the brother of the messenger who was killed in defense of his car in Kansas a year or two ago. He was himself also held up at Red Fork, I. T., last June, but by quick work hid all the money he had and saved it.

WOULD-BE LYNCHERS FOILED.
Murderers of a Kansas Mayor Taken to the State Penitentiary.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 13.—A special to the Star from Larned, Kan., says: Harvey and Arnold, the murderers of Mayor Marsh, of Kiley, were taken before Judge Vandiver this morning at 8 o'clock, where they pleaded guilty to the charge of murder in the first degree. The sentence imposed by Judge Vandiver was imprisonment in the state penitentiary until such time as the governor shall decide that they shall be banded. The boys were taken on the 9 o'clock train for Leavenworth by Sheriff Heath, but not until a mob had gathered and threatened lynching.

Judge Vandiver convened court an hour before the regular time in order to frustrate the would be lynchers. The boys are 17 and 19 years old.

MCGANN PULLED THROUGH.
Congressman McGann the Only Democrat Elected in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Congressman Lawrence E. McGann comes under the wire a winner, the only Democrat elected in Chicago. The finish of the official count gave him a plurality of seventy votes over Belknap (Rep.) who, until today, was supposed to have overwhelmed McGann in the general landslide.

McGann's success makes him a dangerous rival of John P. Hopkins for the Democratic mayoralty nomination in the spring.

Denny Will Contest.
FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 13.—The official vote in the Seventh district compared by Secretary of State Headley today gives Owens (Dem.) a plurality of 101 votes. Total vote cast: Owens (Dem.) 13,657; Denny (Rep.) 13,576; Johnson (Rep.) 265; Finley (Pro.) 554. It is said here that Denny has employed attorneys to contest the seat.

THE CALIFORNIA CONTEST.

The Democratic Candidate for Governor is Still in the Lead.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—There has been no marked change in the gubernatorial contest in California in the past twenty-four hours. Complete returns have not been received from 2135 precincts in the state in a total of 2274 precincts and the result shows: Budd (Dem.), 109,000; Estee (Rep.), 108,012. Budd's plurality, 1008.

There are 135 precincts to hear from and also the official canvass of forty-seven counties. The official returns have been received from ten counties in the state and the gains of the two candidates are about even. The figures given above allow a plurality for Budd in this city of 11,550, as that seems to be the most accurate figure which can be obtained until after the official canvass has been completed.

An Important Point.
MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 13.—Judge Steele, of the probate court, has allowed the claim of the Bank of Minneapolis against the Beedler estate for $29,303.17. The money is that stolen by Philip X. Scheig. The case will be appealed.

J. Lindahl's Shoe Store on Central Avenue Was Entered by a Sneak Thief Last Night.

Death of Charles F. Lamb, a Former Citizen of West Duluth, at Litchfield Yesterday.

H. J. Murphy, Foreman at Merrill & Ring's Sawmill, Badly Hurt by Falling Yesterday Afternoon.

The little shoe store of J. Lindahl on central avenue was entered by some sneak thief last night and about $20 worth of leather, shoes, etc., taken. The panel of the rear door cut sufficiently to permit the hand to be passed in and the bolt turned. Besides the shoes and leather a hammer and knife were stolen. Even the strings of a violin which was lying on a table were taken off. Mr. Lindahl suspects a stranger who was in the shop yesterday pretending to be a shoe man and who seemingly sized up the interior of the premises. He has given a good description of the man to the police officers and they are on the watch for the stranger.

Death of C. F. Lamb. Word was received yesterday announcing the death of Charles F. Lamb at Litchfield, Minn. Mr. Lamb was formerly a prominent attorney of West Duluth and a highly respected citizen. While here he was taken with pulmonary troubles and left sometime ago for Phoenix, Ariz., for the benefit of his health. For a time there was some improvement and his friends began to hope that he had overcome the disease which threatened his life. The relief was but temporary, however, and when it was found that he must die he returned to his wife's old home at Litchfield. His death will be mourned by a large circle of friends in West Duluth.

Sawmill Foreman Hurt. H. J. Murphy, foreman at the Merrill & Ring mill, met with a serious accident yesterday while working about the docks. He was pushing a pile pole when the stick broke and he fell striking on the back of his head. He was unconscious for several hours and it was at first thought he could not recover. He is slightly improved today and the physicians are hopeful for a change for the better.

A Different Canal. A party of surveyors was mentioned in an article yesterday as preparing to survey a canal route from Thomson to Fond du Lac. This is erroneous. They are government surveyors and have no connection with the St. Louis Water Power company. Owing to the character of country between Thomson and Fond du Lac it would be necessary to build the canal on trestle work, like the one in the Sierra Madre mountains about which Mark Twain tells in one of his works. The surveyors who left here yesterday are exploring for route for the proposed Lake Superior and Mississippi canal by way of Mill Lake to St. Paul.

West Duluth Briefs. The Arion quartet, assisted by Miss Moak and Miss Mackey, will be heard at the Congregational church next Friday evening. The proceeds will go to the church fund. Company G will have a turkey shoot on Thanksgiving morning, commencing at 10 o'clock. S. S. Williamson has been re-elected superintendent and J. P. Weir assistant superintendent of Westminster Sunday school.

The Musical Treat society gave an entertainment at Great Eastern hall last night under the auspices of the Young People's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church.

The Jefferson club is making arrangements to form a debating society for the coming winter. There is also another society of like nature being organized by a number of young men.

Morris Foley was picked up at Hazelwood Park last evening in a state of intoxication and registered at Hotel de Briggs.

A. J. Scott and O. Hageness are out looking for the festive deer in the north woods. Bay View Heights' population is again increased by the birth of a boy at the house of E. J. Wilkinson.

The secretary of the woman's board of missions will speak at the Congregational church Thursday evening.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Congregational church meets tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. Deary.

Charles Viers, Charles Illis and the Gross brothers are the latest hunters to return from the north with fine deer.

ACTIVITY IN CASH WHEAT.

A Big Scramble for Spot Stuff by Shippers, Mills and Elevators.

There was a great scramble for cash wheat on the Duluth board today, and the volume of trading was large. The shippers were the principal buyers early, and then the mills and elevators, and finally the market and bought a large amount at prices ranging from 60¢ to 62¢. The mills secured about 100,000 bush to arrive in ten days at St. Louis. The shippers took 300,000 bush and the elevators bought about 250,000 bush. May wheat ruled quite active, especially during the latter part of the session. It opened at 51¢ decline from yesterday at 51½¢ and December started high at 51¢ decline at 50¢. May advanced ½¢ right after the opening, but dropped ½¢ by 10 o'clock when it was selling at 51½¢. Inside the next hour it sold up ½¢, and then eased off to the close, which was unchanged from yesterday for cash stuff, 51¢ lower for December and ½¢ lower for May.

Cash wheat did not respond to the advance in American markets as largely as was expected. The exports from the seaboard have been light and steadily diminishing since the advance. But while our exports have been growing less, other countries have been increasing theirs. This is especially true of Russia, from which shipments have been liberal, indeed largely by the railway to get the grain out before navigation is blocked by ice. The export last week was 512,000 bush, or over 500,000 bush more than during the week previous. This, with the United States added, makes a total of 1,250,000 bush more than the weekly routings and a record for a week factor. Following were the closing prices:

LON MERRITT'S CLAIM

His Suit Against the Biwabik Mountain Iron Company for Services as President on Trial Today.

Lon Merritt Testified as to His Work in Promoting the Interests of the Company.

Trial of the Libel Suit of M. L. Cormany Against The Evening Herald Was Begun Today.

The jury in the Merritt case was finally completed at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and the case went to trial before the following twelve men: V. S. Wilkenson, A. E. Gilbert, Charles Hopewell, F. P. Clark, F. B. Schuman, C. O. Blanchard, August J. Tunkelson, Stephen James and Andrew Alfes.

Lon Merritt was the first witness in his own behalf. He told how he and his brother Alfred furnished money to send a crew to explore the property, held under lease by the Biwabik Mountain iron company, which they had previously formed. Ore was finally discovered on the property, and a 10-day option from John McKinley was secured for $30,000. Mr. Chase and others opposed the purchase, but he persisted. His crew proved up 1,000,000 tons of ore during the ten days the option had to run. Mr. Merritt was on the stand when court adjourned for the evening.

Mr. Merritt continued on the stand nearly all the morning under cross examination by Mr. Murray. He stuck to his story about the discovery of ore and the formation of the Biwabik company, although Mr. Murray tried to get him to admit that Wilbur Merritt, who conducted the exploration, was working for other interests besides the Biwabik company. Asked whether the deal with McKinley could be considered a bargain, Mr. Merritt said:

"Oh, yes, about as good as you could pick up of a morning."

The demands for services upon the road and the Biwabik and Missabe contain iron companies were shown the witness and identified by him.

Value of Merritt's Services.

"How did you get at the sum of $37,000," asked Mr. Murray.

"I figured the services were worth that, about $10,000 a year."

"The claims upon the road and the Missabe Mountain were got at about the same way?"

"Yes."

"The claim upon the road was about $20,000 a year, and upon the Missabe company about $10,000 a year, were they not?"

"Yes, I figured it that way."

"They were for compensatory periods and the services were of about the same order, were they not?"

"Yes."

"You served your demand upon this company May 28. How long did you wait before beginning this suit?"

"I don't remember. Not very long. The demand wasn't paid."

"Wasn't the demand served Friday and the summons in this suit served on the following Monday?"

"I don't remember. It was only a few days."

The redirect examination was conducted by H. E. Harris.

"You testified about making a demand upon the company for your salary. Did you ever make a previous demand, and if so state the circumstances?"

"In February, shortly after my return from New York, I asked Mr. Cotton to recommend me to some law firm that would take up the matter of salaries. He recommended me to his own firm of Cotton, Dibble & Reynolds, and they said never did anything with the matter. They left me at that, and I was sick at the time, and hardly able to attend to my business."

"You testified on cross-examination that you sold out to the defendant. To whom was the sale made?"

"To Rockefeller, and at a price fixed by him."

"At the time you made the demand had he been paid anything?"

"No."

"You have received a verdict against the Missabe road which has not been paid, have you not?"

"Yes."

Mr. Cotton—You said that you attempted to make a demand in February. You don't remember that you spoke to me about these claims do you?"

"I asked you to recommend me to some one who could attend to my affairs. I don't remember that I spoke to you personally about the claims, did you?"

Price of Biwabik Stock.

E. H. Hall, who was secretary of the Biwabik company during the Merritt control was the next witness.

"What was Biwabik stock worth during Mr. Merritt's presidency," asked A. A. Harris.

"At one time it sold for $2."

"What was it worth when part of the property was leased to Kimberly?"

"Some of it sold at 10 cents."

"What effect did the McKinley lease have on the value of the stock?"

"It enhanced its value. It afterwards sold at $2."

"Do you know of the services rendered by the plaintiff to the defendant?"

"Something."

"What part did he take in the explorations?"

"He had full direction of the company during that period. He gave all the orders."

"Were the directors cognizant of what he was doing?"

"I think they were."

Mr. Hall was still on the stand in direct examination when court adjourned at noon.

The Herald's Libel Case.

The libel suit of M. L. Cormany against the Duluth Printing and Publishing company came up yesterday afternoon before Judge Ensign. The jury was not completed before this morning.

The greater part of the session was taken up in arguing legal points as to the admissibility of evidence. The plaintiff called A. C. Weiss, general manager of The Herald, to the stand on cross-examination, to identify the publication on which the libel is based.

M. L. Cormany was called in his own behalf, and testified that as a direct result of the alleged libelous publication he lost his position with a Minneapolis photographer, which he had held a month at a salary of $25 per week. On cross examination the defendant's attorney tried to show that the loss of his position came from some other cause than the publication and that he had been unable to hold previous positions for any length of time.

That finished the plaintiff's case, and the defendant called his witnesses. The plaintiff objected to the introduction of evidence against his character, and the defendant was being argued when court adjourned for the week.

Hull Case Next Monday.

The criminal cases will come before Judge Moer Thursday morning. The Hull case will have been set for next Monday.

The jury in the case of St. George R. Fitzhugh against A. M. Cox went out at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon and was still out at noon today. The case of Aaron Peterson against A. E. Johnson & Co. to recover $173 alleged to have been paid for tickets from Sweden to America which were never sent, was given to the jury at noon.

Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a severe kidney trouble for many years, with severe pain in the back and also that the bladder was affected. He tried many so-called kidney cures but without any good result. About a year ago he began using Electric Bitters and was greatly relieved at once. Electric Bitters is especially adapted to cure all kidney and liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Price only 50 cents for large bottle. GEN. CLAY'S LIFE

Gen. Cassius M. Clay Tells a Very Sensational Story of His Domestic Ups and Downs.

His Divorced Wife Was Prejudiced Against Him on Account of His Anti-Slavery Work.

There Has Been a Steady and Determined Effort to Prevent Him From Marrying Again.

Despite all the Obstacles and Threats Made He Finally Married Pretty Little Dora Richardson.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 14.—In an interview with Gen. Cassius M. Clay, who married little Dora Richardson, he told the following sensational story of his domestic ups and downs.

"Ever since I obtained a divorce from my wife, who, together with her relatives, was prejudiced against me because of my anti-slavery work, there has been a steady and determined effort to prevent me from marrying again. When I brought home from Russia with me the child who is known now as Lonnie, I did not do like others have done—disown my flesh and blood—but I had that child adopted and made him the equal of my other children, as he is this vast estate. You will understand that my father, Gen. Clay, who was a gallant soldier in the war of 1812, left this immense estate to me during my lifetime, but entailed it on my children. I could have held my interest in the estate until the day of my death, but I loved my children and divided the land equally among them, retaining only this house, which I built with my own money, at a cost of nearly $100,000, and 350 acres of land.

"In order to have an annuity sufficient for my wants I charge the children a rental of $1 per acre per year. They lease it out at from $5 to $10 an acre, so you see I am giving them the benefit of the land when it really belongs to me until death. This much by the way of explanation.

"When Lonnie was brought here they began a systematic course of poisoning by giving him some sort of drug, which procured absolute torpor. That is the reason that he is no larger than you see him now. He is 20 years of age, and yet he does not stand above my knee. I could not let him grow up, but I had to try to kill him in this secret way, and married the boy, who was a handsome fellow from the second story window of this house, but by the greatest miracle his life was saved. I killed the man who tried to destroy the boy. I shot him twice with my pistol, either one of the shots being sufficient to kill him. The facts were so much in my favor that the court failed to indict me.

"Several times when I was on the point of marrying again they have put obstacles in my way and prevented me from choosing a wife. This recent trouble dates back three months. Up to that time I had in my employ S. S. Moore and wife, who were my overseer and housekeeper respectively. They grew so arrogant that they seemed to think that they owned the entire place, and that I was their servant. Of course I could not stand that. They also circulated stories about me to the effect that I was debauching Mary Lee Bowling, a young woman who assisted in the house work and Dora, my present wife.

"There never was a baser lie concocted under heaven than that, and I judge I never had any carnal thoughts in connection with that child, Dora. Well, they succeeded in inducing Mary to leave and they married her to some young fellow. Had they tried to do so with Dora, she would have been living here happily yet.

"They then tried to poison the mind of Dora against me, but in this they signally failed. Realizing what they were trying to do to me, I drove them off my place. But they were not to be so easily disposed of. They recruited a band of about thirty men among their friends, and they came here to mob me, but when they found that I was on guard, they prepared to shoot to kill, they very sensibly left and have never been back on a similar mission.

"I had my cannon loaded, and had they attacked the house there would certainly have been several funerals among them. The house, as you see, is more like a fortress than a residence. Failing to dislodge me by physical force, they informed several of my children that I was about to be married to little Dora. This made the children furious and they have placed every obstruction that they could in our way. They persuaded Judge John Chenault not to marry me after I had procured a license last Friday. I then asked Squire Green B. Million to marry us, and he promised to do so, but they got wind of that and persuaded Million not to have anything to do with me. Yesterday I suspected that they would issue, or cause to be issued, an injunction restraining me from marrying the girl.

"They thought they had me here like a caged lion, and that I was unable to help myself from their machinations. Accordingly, I determined to thwart their designs, and after it had become dark last night, I armed McClelland Richardson, brother of Dora, and Row Clark, one of my farm hands, and sent them eight miles across the county after Squire Isaac Newton Douglass. The squire, who is a good Christian, a kind hearted gentleman and who sympathizes with me in my trouble, got up in the night and rode on horseback over the roughest kind of road, that he might be here in time.

"The ceremony was accordingly performed yesterday morning before 10 o'clock. Just as the final words were said that made us man and wife, my grandson, Green Herrick, son of my daughter, Mary B. Clay, who was divorced from her husband and who took the name of Clay, and also calls herself Green Clay, arrived at my door. I suspected that he had come for the purpose of interfering with my marriage by some order of the court, and I promptly told him to leave the place and never come here again. He was invited to leave, and I would shoot him if he came back before I invited him. He left.

"Now you see the way I have been treated by those who ought to love and desire my happiness. They have treated me in such a manner that they have actually made a wild beast of me, and I would just as soon shoot down one of the conspirators as to fire on my most deadly enemy, for they are my enemies. But as long as I have my health and strength I'll defy them to the bitter end."

The Castle Closed.
CINCINNATI, Nov. 14.—A Times-Star special from Lexington, Ky., says that Whitehall, the castle of Gen. Cassius M. Clay, is closed to all visitors today, the general having placed his son, Lonnie, in command with instructions to allow no one to disturb him. None of the neighbors dare venture on the premises in the face of these instructions. Gen. Clay is fearful that harm may come to his bride and will not allow her to leave the house.

Dr. C. C. Smith carried away to Richmond yesterday some documents which give rise to the story that Gen. Clay has made a new will.

A QUESTION OF COLOR.

Difficulties Which Best Mrs. Williams' Admission to the Chicago Woman's Club.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—This is the question: Shall educated, cultured, gentle women of color be received on the same social plane by fairer faced women? This problem is before the Woman's club and its perplexities revolve around Mrs. Frances Williams, one of the most progressive of her race in this city. Mrs. Williams won the good grace of a number of well known society leaders by her intelligent and enthusiastic work as a member of various important committees of the Columbian exposition. It was at this time also that Mrs. Williams attracted considerable attention by her well written papers before the parliament of religions and the congress of the Woman's club as Mrs. Charles Henriotin and Mrs. C. C. Pooley, pastor of a Unitarian church at Geneva, N. Y., suggested the Woman's club as an excellent field for the promulgation of her race principles. A fortnight ago Mrs. Williams presented for formal membership, backed by some of the leading members of the club. This act was the occasion of a blustering breeze. The more conservative members raised a dissenting voice, while others vented their opinions in positive disapproval.

A certain coterie, including some of the best known and most progressive members of the club, declared that the time has arrived to be oblivious to a color line. Mrs. Henriotin, who was the first to approach the question said decisively: "There is no color line. Mrs. Williams will become a member of the Woman's club."

HE HAS ROYAL BLOOD.

A Telegraph Lineman's Great Grandfather Was Once King of England.

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 14.—James Lord, a lineman of the Western Union Telegraph company, has papers and documents proving that he is a great grandson of George IV, king of England. George IV, as prince of Wales, married the beautiful and fascinating widow, Mrs. Maria Anne Fitzherbert. The issue of that union could not ascend the throne, because his mother and father were married according to the Catholic rite and the mother was a devoted member of the Catholic church. Under these circumstances the son of this union was a menace to the future king's peace of mind. The upshot was that the son was brought to America, where he died at Omaha at the age of 65 years. He had seven children, one of whom, the youngest male living is John S. Lord, of Santa Cruz, Cal., and whose second son is James Lord, of Portland, Ore.

The flight of the son to America is historical. The documents proving his legitimacy are locked up in Count's bank, London, where they were deposited in 1883 by the duke of Wellington. Proceedings are now being taken to compel the bank to deliver the papers to inspection. Young Lord's grandfather, on reaching America served in the United States army during the war of 1812 and was denounced by England as a traitor. A sister of the young man is the wife of S. W. Holliday, a San Francisco attorney. James Lord, who now resides in Portland is 24 years of age. He is above the average height, though of solid proportions. He is smooth shaven and handsome. His manners are easy and his conversation quiet and refined.

BALDWIN IN WASHINGTON.

Has a Candidate For Chairman of the Chippewa Commission.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—[Special to The Herald.]—Representative Baldwin arrived in Washington from Duluth last night. He will see President Cleveland tomorrow regarding the appointment of a successor to William M. Campbell as chairman of the Chippewa Indian commission. He has a candidate for the place, but will not make his name public at this time.

Maj. Baldwin says he proposes to pass at the winter session all the bills he has wung up on the calendar of both houses. He will also introduce a new bill providing an appropriation of $25,000 for the improvement of the upper harbor at Duluth.

SHOT BY A POSSE.

A Negro Assaulted a White Woman Killed in Alabama.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 14.—News reaches here today from the hamlet of Dolomite, twenty miles south of the criminal assaulting of the wife of Tom Hayne a prominent farmer, by a negro, Bob Moseley, who attacked her while she was looking after some chickens. A posse pursued Moseley, and it is reported found him in a swamp and shot him.

KIEFER COMING.

Congressman Kiefer of St. Paul Will Arrive in Duluth Tonight to Confer With Maj. Sears.

Thinks the Major Should Decide on the Most Feasible Route for the Twin City Canal.

Sadie Spencer Tried to Kill Mrs. Meyers With an Ax and Then Swallowed Poison.

She Was in Love With Mrs. Meyers' Husband and Could Not Live Without Him.

St. Paul, Nov. 14.—Congressman Kiefer left this afternoon for Duluth for the purpose of having a conference with Engineer Sears, who has charge of the Superior-Mississippi canal survey. It is the opinion of Col. Kiefer that enough has been developed by the parties who have been making a preliminary examination, to warrant Maj. Sears in deciding upon which is the most feasible route.

Information from Washington is to the effect that Duluth interests are opposed to the proposed canal. If built it would bring a vast amount of shipping to the head of the lakes which would not have to be reloaded. The legislature will doubtless consider the matter of appointing a representative to look after the interests of the state.

Col. Kiefer will also consult with the engineer of the Minnesota Canal company, who writes that the feasibility of the canal has been established beyond any question, and that all difficulties can easily be overcome by the Sandy lake and St. Louis river route.

LOVED A MARRIED MAN.

A Minneapolis Girl Tried to Kill His Wife and Then Poison.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 14.—Possessed of peculiar attachments for Edward Meyers, a married man, residing at 800 Washington avenue north, Sadie Spencer, 18 years of age, attempted to kill Mrs. Meyers and then tried to end her own life by taking a dose of acetone.

Mrs. Meyers has been out of the city for some time, and during her absence the Spencer girl had become infatuated with Meyers. When the time came for the wife and two children to return, Meyers told the girl she must not frequent his home any more. It seems that he gave her some token of his affection, for the girl would not leave, saying that she had sooner die than leave him.

While Mrs. Meyers was tacking down a carpet Miss Spencer approached her from behind with an ax and struck savagely, the blow being averted by Mrs. Meyers. The girl then became wildly excited and told Mrs. Meyers that she had taken poison. She threatened to kill the baby if Mrs. Meyers left the house, and finally when Meyers appeared she was removed to the hospital, where she is in a fair way of recovering. She was arrested, but on telling his story, was released.

PEOPLE STILL TALK.

The Death of the Hubbard Girl in Minneapolis Causes Gossip.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 14.—Minneapolis people concerned in the case insist that the death of little Hubbard, the unfortunate girl of this city, was due to peritonitis and nothing else, although the mystery has not been cleared up. The body was embalmed and the remains shipped last night to Toledo, on the strength of a certificate of peritonitis. Mrs. Lambert, the professional nurse, living at 239 Twenty-first avenue north, at whose house the girl died, does not talk comprehensively about the matter, and in view of the fact that the remains have been gotten out of the state, it is not likely that any further investigation will be made. Gossip at the hospital, in this city, however, is far from silent.

PROCLAMATION BY NELSON.

The Governor Appoints the Day for Annual Thanksgiving.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 14.—Governor Nelson has issued his annual Thanksgiving proclamation fixing Thursday, Nov. 29, as the date for turkey dinners and special praises. In the proclamation the governor refers to the forest fires of September in the following paragraph: "Not unmindful of the great afflictions which have befallen the people of portions of our commonwealth by fires and storms, we rejoice with them in the constant and abundant stream of charity which has flowed from all parts of this state, and which has, so far as such kindly ministrations can avail, alleviated their sufferings and mitigated their sorrows."

Denver Dan Callahan Seems to Have a Weak Head.

VIRGINIA, Minn., Nov. 14.—[Special to The Herald.]—Denver Dan Callahan is afraid to fight Sheehey. The Virginia Athletic club had up a purse of $500 for a contest between Sheehey and Callahan. Callahan positively refuses to go into the ring with Sheehey, although large enough to fight a fight with Patsy Cardiff and fought a draw with Denver Ed Smith.

Hinckley Fire Commission.
ST. PAUL, Nov. 14.—At a meeting of the Hinckley fire commission yesterday it was decided that the state board would need about $20,000 more to carry on its work through the winter. It has already disbursed $90,000 for buildings, etc., and the care of the 2100 people on the list, and will surely need the additional sum indicated.

Valuable Barn Burned.
HURON, S. D., Nov. 14.—The barn of Aaron Campbell, in Logan township, Sanborn county, was burned, with seven head of cattle, nine horses, two buggies, farm machinery, feed, etc., and about sixty tons of hay. The origin of the fire is unknown. Loss about $2000.

Towne for Washburn.
ST. PAUL, Nov. 14.—Congressman-elect Towne will visit Washington during the winter and look in on the Democratic house. He says the good of the party demands the re-election of Senator Washburn and will under no consideration allow the use of his own name in that connection.

Yale for Senator.
ST. PAUL, Nov. 14.—The latest named candidate for the United States senate, to succeed Senator Washburn is ex-Lieutenant Governor Yale, of Winona.

A South Dakota Fire.
FREDERICK, S. D., Nov. 14.—Eighteen business places were destroyed in the late fire at this place. The losses aggregate $40,000 and the insurance $10,000.

A DENVER ROMANCE.

Police Authorities Think a Trace of Corbett's Championship Belt is Found.

DENVER, Nov. 14.—Clarence W. Clark, a young adventurer who represented himself as the "champion cyclist of the world, the owner of a $35,000 diamond belt, and a globe trotter, arrived in this city Saturday and had an interview with himself published in which he said that he and Jack Prince were traveling together and would attempt to lower the roller skating record in Denver. He secured an introduction to Miss Gertrude H. Hutchins, aged 18, and on Monday they were married by a justice of the peace. Their present whereabouts is not known.

Miss Hutchins is the daughter of Harry T. Hutchins, an artist, and is a perfect picture of beauty. She is the niece of D. W. May, the owner of the Gilsey house in this city. Her relatives are prominent in the East, her grandfather being a commodore in the United States navy. Her uncle, John Graham, a famous criminal lawyer in New York city, died recently, leaving a large part of his estate to Miss Gertrude. The police have a theory that Clark may have had Corbett's diamond belt which was stolen in Davenport, Iowa, and that he promised Miss Hutchins to make the famous introduction to her. Clark falsely represented while he was that he was a brother of Harry Carson Clark, a member of the Lyceum theater stock with a highly respected family in New York.

WORK ON APPROPRIATION BILLS.

Chairman Sayers of the House Committee Ready to Commence Work.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—Chairman Sayers of the house committee on appropriations, has telegraphed the clerk of that committee that he will arrive in Washington on Nov. 20, with a view of getting appropriation bills under way as far as possible before congress convenes on Dec. 3. Three months session never afford too much time for the preparation of these necessary measures and there is special reason for expedition in the preparation of the bills for the approaching session owing to the probability of the loss of much time in chaffing over the late elections. The Democrats expect a good deal of this from the Republicans and naturally desire to be able to forestall it with business as far as they are able to do so. Appropriation bills always have right of way, and can be used at any time by the majority to displace a disagreeable or frivolous question. The estimates for only three of these bills, the District of Columbia, the fortifications and pension bills have so far been furnished, but it is understood that other estimates will follow soon, and by the time these shall have been disposed of by the committee other bills will be ready for its consideration. The sub-committees which have these bills to deal with have been summoned by the clerk in obedience to Mr. Sayers' instructions to meet on Nov. 22.

THOUSANDS MASSACRED.

A Horrible Story That Comes from Turkish Armenia.

*SOPHIA, Bulgaria, Nov. 14.—The report received by the London Daily News from Constantinople on Nov. 12, that 3000 Armenians, including women and children, had been massacred in the Sassoun region near Moosh, Turkish Armenia, during a recent attack by Kurds, is seemingly confirmed by a story which has reached Varna that a force of Bashi Bazarous raided a number of Armenian villages and killed and wounded 6000 persons.

The Daily News' dispatch referred to said that the Kurds massacred 3000 Armenians and destroyed twenty-five villages. The Turkish officials at Constantinople declared that the report was not true and that it grew out of the suppression of a small rising in the region mentioned. It was added that the British ambassador at Constantinople was making inquiries into the matter.

A HOUSE SHATTERED

An Attempt to Blow up a Large Tenement House in New York City.

Gas Pipe in the Cellar Cut, Permitting Gas to Escape and Fill the House.

An Explosion Took Place and a Hole was Torn in the First Story Ceiling.

New York, Nov. 13.—What the fire marshal believes was an attempt to blow up the big 5-story tenement house at 135 Eleventh street occurred at 3 o'clock this morning. There are fifteen families in the house and there was a panic when the explosion shook the building. A large portion of the flooring was torn away and a hole made in the ceiling of the first story, but no one was hurt.

Two minutes after the explosion, the hall stairs were packed with the frightened people of the house who crowded each other in a wild scramble to reach the street. The dust from the ceiling plaster went up through the house, and the odor of escaping gas was stilling. One of the tenants sent an alarm of fire. An examination showed that the gas pipe in the cellar had been cut, permitting the gas to escape and fill the house. How the explosion occurred is not known.

The force of the explosion was so great that three windows of the adjoining house were blown out, and the terror and alarm were communicated to the occupants of that building. The gas pipe was similarly located several weeks ago, and the fire marshal will make a rigid investigation of the affair.

WILL BE REORGANIZED.

Depositors of a Suspended Bank Will Re-organize It.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 13.—The depositors of the First National bank which closed Thursday last, are making arrangements to reorganize the bank themselves. At a meeting at which $750,000 out of a total of $1,000,000 was subscribed, a committee of six was appointed to confer with Bank Examiner Wightman as to plans for reorganization.

Members of the committee said that they had good grounds for stating the bank would be reorganized, and that all the depositors would be able to get their money back.

LURED TO HIS DEATH.

A St. Paul Man Murdered in Indiana for His Money.

ELKHART, Ind., Nov. 13.—Early in October an unknown man was murdered by thugs in the outskirts of this city. His body was held for several days for identification and then buried in the potter's field. Police investigation at last solved the mystery of the unknown grave.

The murdered man was C. C. Hummert, a St. Paul man, and the robbery was the motive for the crime.

It is established by the fact that Hummert had recently fallen heir to a fortune in the lumber trade.

He was a man of money at the time he was lured to his death.

A Victim to Science.

New York, Nov. 13.—While it has been no secret to the medical profession in this city, it will be a surprise to the public to learn that Dr. John M. Byron, director of the bacteriological department of the Loomis laboratory in the University Medical college is suffering from consumption.

While experimenting with some tuberculous bacteria, he became somewhat careless and inhaled them. Two weeks later he discovered that he had fallen a victim to the disease.

His condition has compelled him to resign his position as pathologist and visiting physician to the Columbus hospital in this city, and as visiting physician to the New York dispensary, while he has had to abandon his lucrative private practice.

One of Dr. Byron's achievements resulted from his study of leprosy, showing that it was produced by bacteria.

HE KEPT HIS MOUTH SHUT.

Col. W. T. Dubois Brings a Novel Suit Against a Postmaster.

SEATTLE CITY, N. J., Nov. 13.—Unless he appeals the case, Postmaster Lansing, of Bridgeton will have to pay Col. William T. Dubois $10 for keeping his mouth shut half an hour. The postmaster, after a wordy war with Col. Dubois, told him to shut his mouth and keep it shut for half an hour and he would be given $10.

Dubois, who is commander of the New Jersey militia division of the Knights of the Golden Eagle, took advantage of Lansing's offer and then sued to get the money. Lansing having refused to pay it. When the case came up for trial, Lansing filed an offer of $14 against Dubois for subscriptions to his paper, the Bridgeton Chronicle, for printing and other things.

Lansing's lawyer, ex-City Solicitor Charles S. Sheppard, argued that the militia law gave the editor to the colonel was not to be taken literally, as the matter did not amount to a contract in the eyes of the law.

Ex-Assemblyman van Sickle contended that as Lansing had received the benefit of Col. Dubois's silence, his client was entitled to recover. Judge Meyers was evidently of the same frame of mind for he allowed the claim of $10 and imposed the costs, amounting to $5.75, on Lansing. It is understood that Postmaster Lansing will carry the case to a higher court.

A CHINESE APOLOGY.

Promt Compliance With Demands Made by the British Government.

TUNG TUNG, Nov. 13.—The Chinese government this morning made the apologies demanded by the British government for the outrages committed by Chinese soldiers on board the British steamship Chung King in August last. The Chung King was saluted by the guns of the Taku forts and the required apology was made to the British minister in Peking. On Oct. 4 a dispatch was sent to the Associated Press announcing that an ultimatum had been sent to the viceroys regarding the Chung King affair. It demanded that within seven days Tatar Sheng be dismissed and degraded, that the Chung King be saluted with twenty-one guns from the Taku forts, and that a money indemnity be paid to the owners of the Chung King. If these demands were not complied with within the specified time the British officials threatened that the fleet under the command of Admiral Freeman would make reprisals, and it was believed that steps had been taken to occupy the important island of Chusan, which commands the line of communication by sea between the northern and southern provinces of China. The British occupied this island in 1841, during the first war between China and England.

The Chinese government succeeded in recovering Chusan by giving up Hong Kong in exchange.

SEARCHING FOR MISSING PEOPLE.

Revenue Cutter Rush to Look Out for the Ivanhoe's Crew and Passengers.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 13.—A telegram has been received by James D. Hoge Jr., one of the proprietors of the Post-Intelligencer, from the revenue department stating that the revenue cutter Rush has been ordered from San Francisco to cruise along the coast of Vancouver island and among the islands to make a thorough search for the wreckage or survivors from the missing Ivanhoe, on which Hoge, F. J. Grant, editor of the Post-Intelligencer is a passenger.

Capt. Patterson, of the schooner Fanny Island, who recently reported having seen a ship and distress flag, said that a few days after the Ivanhoe sailed, he was certain there was no person on board, and that it was the Ivanhoe she had been deserted. In that case the crew and passengers had taken to the boats and may either have been picked up by some outside boat or have been driven on the coast of the Vancouver islands. In the latter case the Rush would be likely to pick them out.

WILL MEAN CERTAIN DEATH.

Highlanders Who are Deported Likely to be Beheaded Promptly.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—The police have obtained evidence of the existence of the lawless and strongly organized band of Chinese Highlanders, 3000 in number, residing in this city. This society is not only an organization of blackmailers, murderers and thieves, but also has for its purpose the overthrow of the present Tartar dynasty.

Through the Chinese consulate a diplomatic correspondence is now being carried on with the British government to the end that when Chinese Highlanders are deported from this city they will be turned over to the Chinese government at Hong Kong. If this is done it will mean certain death for the Highlanders, as with such evidence against them as is now in the hands of the police, the Highlanders will be beheaded without trial.

A CHANCELLOR KILLED.

Was Shot by the Clerk and Master of the Court.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 13.—Chancellor Andrew Allison, of this city, was shot and instantly killed this afternoon, in a corridor in the court house by George K. Whitworth, for six years past the clerk and master of the court. Whitworth then shot and fatally wounded himself.

Chancellor Allison's son, Granville Allison, was appointed a few days ago to succeed Whitworth as clerk tomorrow.

THE DESERTERS.

One by One They Stole Out to a Certain Fate.

We went into camp—150 men—in a grove of cottonwoods on the left bank of a creek which was named the Road point. A line had been drawn across the creek and formed a natural bridge, and beyond it, heading over a hill, was a well defined trail used by the animals which came down from the east to quench their thirst at the creek. The line of cottonwoods ran close to the western end of this bridge. We had seen the line of the bridge during the afternoon, and when night came every man in that camp knew that any attempt to pass beyond the line of sentinels was fraught with danger.

The falcon tales of the riches of the Black Hills had reached the ears of the desperadoes, and a few had deserted. Most of these had fallen into the hands of the Indians and been put to torture and their bodies left about the camp. Road point was a place where the sentinels were posted, and the officers reasoned that no others could be tempted to steal away. The chain of sentinels was made strong, and the line of the bridge was made last night at 10 o'clock. At that hour the camp was quiet and all save the commanding officer and the sentinels on duty at the bridge leaned their bodies against the cottonwoods and slept. A half past twelve the sentinels on duty at the bridge leaned their bodies against the cottonwoods and slept. A half past twelve the sentinels on duty at the bridge leaned their bodies against the cottonwoods and slept.

Ten minutes after the first sentinel had deserted his post the man on his right followed him. He was a man of about 35 years in the service and was looked up to by all as steady and trustworthy. He had been in the service for 10 years, and after a moment he reached for his gun, but he had not time to do so. He was crossing when a private lying near him followed his actions, and then another and another, until 11 men in all had passed over the bridge. Their eyes had marked that path before darkness set in. It led in the direction they wanted to go. A voice came from beyond the ridge—none dared. Each man would halt on the other side, and when the full 11 had come up the ridge, they would march away for the grim Black Hills and find ruin. Eleven well armed men could defy any band of Indians seeking to oppose their progress. Desecration meant disgrace and punishment if caught, but greed for gold drove these thoughts out of their minds as soon as they formed.

A sentinel had gone up the path to the crest of the ridge at midnight and taken a look at the foot of the hill. He found no one in sight. He had not yet made his report when three or four sentinels left camp in a hurry to creep up the hill. The force was too strong for them to attack. There were but 20 warriors, and the most they could hope for was to hang about the camp and take a look at the sentinels. A dozen remained on the path just over the crest of the ridge as a reserve picket. At half past 10 they had footed on the path and the foot of the hill. The sentinels were heavy, and there is a jingle of spurs. Like serpents, the Indians slipped up the hill and hid in the brush. As they moved they lit arrows to their bowstrings and made ready for a victim.

The deserter reaches the crest of the ridge, turns his back to the Indians and looks down upon the grove and waits. Nothing alarms or disturbs him. A minute has passed away, when he hears a noise in the brush. He hears a faint cry and a shout. An arrow has passed through his body. He turns his head forward, and the dusky band of Indians is upon him. He is a man of about 35 years in the service and was looked up to by all as steady and trustworthy. He had been in the service for 10 years, and after a moment he reached for his gun, but he had not time to do so. He was crossing when a private lying near him followed his actions, and then another and another, until 11 men in all had passed over the bridge. Each man would halt on the other side, and when the full 11 had come up the ridge, they would march away for the grim Black Hills and find ruin. Eleven well armed men could defy any band of Indians seeking to oppose their progress. Desecration meant disgrace and punishment if caught, but greed for gold drove these thoughts out of their minds as soon as they formed.

THE COUNTY CANVASS.

The Canvassing Board This Morning Began the Work of Figuring Up the Exact Pluralities.

No Democratic Justice of the Peace Could Be Secured and the Board Is All Republican.

It Will Take Two or Three Days to Canvass the Entire Vote of the County.

The canvassing board met in Auditor LaVaque's office this morning to officially survey the election returns and to announce the result. The only new matter which will be the result of their investigations is the exact pluralities of the successful candidates, for no one is ignorant as to the results of the election.

Of course, anyone having the good luck to have had a place on the Republican county ticket is elected, and the only thing left to wonder about is the exact amount of pluralities, or whether they will in many cases merge into majorities. The complete county returns were handed in to Auditor LaVaque by the afternoon of the Thursday following the election. Some trouble was experienced in making up the board because Mr. LaVaque was unable to find a Democratic justice of the peace, Judge Powell, the only Democratic justice in the city holding a judicial position, was obliged to decline because of a lack of time.

Finally the attempt was given up, and the entire board is Republican. The returns are too, however, so it will not make much difference. The board consists of J. A. Reed, of Mountain Iron, and H. J. Eaton, of Virginia, both justices of the peace, and Commissioner Porter and Auditor LaVaque. The task of canvassing the returns is a tedious one, and it will probably take two or three days. The returns from but half of the city of Duluth occupied the entire forenoon.

The board this afternoon discovered that the judges of election in the Second precinct of the Sixth ward had omitted to report the vote on county auditor and county treasurer. This will have no particular effect on the general result, as the vote in that precinct was about the same as in the others, but it shows carelessness on the part of the judges.

The Chamber Concert.

This morning the sale of reserved seats for the chamber concert, which occurs next Monday, opened at Clinton's music store, and if one may judge from the interest shown, the affair will surpass any musical event ever given under high school auspices. Numbers will be given by Mrs. Dorwin-Aspinwall, Miss Moak, Miss Mackey, J. Armour Galloway, George Tyler, Nicholas Murphy and Arthur Lahey. Several concerted numbers will be given and the Duluth public will be given a chance to hear again Mr. Galloway, who won his hearers by his work in "The Creation," and also Mr. Tyler, whose initial appearance it will be. Mr. Tyler is an operatic tenor of the Italian school and his work here promises to be in the nature of a surprise. The concert will occur in the Assembly hall, which will be appropriately decorated for the occasion.

Street Railway Men Here.

D. H. Douglas, J. H. Davis, F. R. Greene and Mr. Andrews, of New York, are in the city. They are connected with the street railway company and other Duluth interests. This afternoon they were given over the company's lines.

W. J. Holmes deals in municipal and corporation loans, also wants large real estate mortgages. Office at residence, West Duluth. Correspondence solicited.

CHARGED WITH VAGRANCY.

And Yet Mrs. James Cole Could Put Up Twenty Dollars Bail.

In police court this morning Mrs. James Cole made a hard fight against a charge of vagrancy preferred by Detective Benson. When arrested she put up $20 bail, and when arraigned this morning she had an attorney present in the person of F. E. Ebner, who made a demurrer against the complaint on the grounds, first—that the complaint did not state facts sufficient to constitute a public offense; second—that the complaint did not state facts sufficient to constitute a violation of the ordinance.

The latter part of the morning session was set for the time for argument on the demurrer.

John Mattson was committed ten days because of drunkenness. Thomas Broffie and John Syolberg, charged with similar offenses, pleaded not guilty, and their hearing was set for the afternoon session.

GEN. GORDON'S LECTURE.

His Story of Lee's Surrender Told in a Masterly Manner.

Gen. John B. Gordon, who will lecture at the First Methodist church on Friday evening, Nov. 23, on "The Last Days of the Confederacy," is an orator of note.

The Brooklyn Daily Eagle said of him: "He told the story of Lee's surrender in a masterly and most effective manner. He briefly outlined the early stages of the war and rested the burden of his narrative on Gettysburg and Appomattox. His humor was keen, his pathos affecting. With his story was simply told. More than one incident brought tears to the eyes of the audience. All the incidents cited were illustrative of the spirit of the war, which pervaded the ranks blue and the ranks gray. Grant and Lee were faithfully pictured. The closing scene of the bloody drama was splendidly presented. It was a tale inspiring to the young and intensely realistic to the old."

The plaintiffs have filed their reply to the defendant's answer in the case of William McKinley et al. vs. Lake Superior Consolidated Iron mines. They admit that they were well informed as to the value of the mines conveyed to the defendant, but deny that they knew anything of the value of the stock of the defendant company which they were to receive in exchange for their mine. They also admit that they knew of some of the defendant company's purchases, but deny that the conditions were well known to the defendants. Other minor matters are denied or admitted.

"The hand
that rocks
the cradle rules
the world."

SOME COMMENTS upon this quotation bearing upon its application to the end-of-the-Century-Times.

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 15th, 1894.
What innocent object is more potent in awakening an intense train of thought or a tender and remembrance than an old cradle-stored away in a well-ventilated corner of the parlor.

We have all seen these quaint, old treasures and it is not many years since each sturdy husband and happy father delighted the heart of his loving wife by presenting her with a cradle hewn out by his own hands from the trees raised upon his own birthplace. But times are vastly changed now, and now haven't time to do this work themselves, so the sentiment expressed by his own rude work in former days is now expressed by the taste and judgment shown in selecting a cradle—or more often, a crib—from a regular stock of such goods.

It is surprising to see how much time and thought have been spent upon these comfortable nests for the little ones, and in a well-selected stock you will find a great range—from a simple, plain cradle for $1.00, to a handsome mahogany bedstead crib at $15.00. Good swinging cradles come at $2.50, large cradles with rocking motion at $3.00, and cradles with woven wire bottom, which latter can have the rockers removed and serve as a crib, can be had for $2.75. Attractive cribs in oak and mahogany finish are $3.75; folding cribs with woven bottoms are $2.50; and some very ingenious little beds are made to fold up against the wall with a curtain in front with woven wire bottom for $10.00.

Such a complete stock as this can be found at French & Bassett's at No. 1, First street and Third avenue west, and they will be glad to show you these or any other goods they handle.

Delays
are Dangerous!
More than ever since Election and with the turn of Prosperity Predicted!

It is a make-up of human nature various and endowments seem to be distributed; for instance, the efficiency of being thrifty is not by any means equally noticeable in this regard. It is asked that many people do not develop money-making qualities until they are in debt, or have obligations to meet—and this is true, for we see all around us men paying for snug little homes from their savings. They have an object to work for and to save for and they do it. Almost every man needs this incentive and it is perfectly natural and proper.

Of course, it is not meant by going in debt that one should go to over their means, but a reasonable amount of just obligation will help any man who can earn a living.

For instance, a young man is engaged or in love, but keeps thinking he cannot afford to marry because he cannot furnish a home. This is a mistake, for in these advanced times he can buy his needs and pay for them from month to month and at the end of a year he will have been married a year and the woman of his choice and have a good home, with his household goods paid for. The same principle is involved when one re-purchases the home or buys any piece of furniture.

There has been considerable criticism on the method of many installment and easy payment dealers, and justly so, for false prices and business principles are such as to call for the utmost caution.
But when you decide to save money by buying household goods on a just and honest plan, don't be afraid to go to French & Bassett's, First street and Third avenue west, Duluth, and buy for the all household goods at prices from 10 to 20 per cent lower than others here and give you long time and use you square.

The Magnates of the National League Are Holding Their Annual Session in New York.

All Probability of a Change Being Made in the Number of Clubs Has Ended.

The Convention Today Discussing the Disposal of the Ten Per Cent of the Receipts.

President of the Eastern League Says He Will Produce Letters of a Sensational Character.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—A majority of the baseball magnates were present in the Fifth Avenue hotel today when the twentieth convention of the National league assembled in Parlor F. Prior to the meeting George Ruchstuhl, of Louisville, expressed the belief that an arrangement would be reached today without much further discussion of the subject of division of receipts.

If the constitution could not be amended, it is believed an S-circuit would very soon take the place of the present 12-club arrangement, or if not,
that four clubs would be glad to buy their franchises. It is practically ac-knowledgeed today that all probability of a change is at present at an end as far as the number of clubs is concerned.
The only clubs that might sell their franchises will not dispose of them for what would be considered a reasonable sum.

Should the Eastern clubs buy four of them out it would cost $200,000, and such a sum is far beyond what those most in favor of the project would think of giving. The scheme of forming two circuits—an Eastern and Western one—to play separate schedules, and then conclude the series by Eastern and Western games and vice versa, while it may eventually come to something, does not appear today to have even the remote chance of adoption.

The convention on resuming business at once took up for discussion of the disposal of the 10 per cent of the receipts, which will occupy the undivided attention of the magnates until late in the day.
The minor leagues, which are often in session today, will have some suggestions to make, which will either make confusion worse confounded, or will perhaps provide some solution of the tangled question with which the magnates are now puzzling their brains.

Patrick Powers, president of the Eastern league, said: "Our meeting will be a very important one, and we will perhaps let in some light on all this business which will be of a rather surprising nature. As to the formation of a new American association, you can dismiss that."

There has been an attempt made to take Buffalo from the Eastern league.
Now Buffalo will not join the new association should it be formed, nor will it buy a franchise in the National league, should that be possible. Buffalo is making money and it would want to have a team in the league in the national league to avoid losing a lot of money. The league to avoid losing a lot of money.
have some communications I cannot now produce, but when I do they will create a big sensation.

Later—the convention, after a long session, agreed by a vote of 7 to 5 to abolish the 10 per cent assessment to the league. In future, in place of the 10 per cent assessment, salaries of the officers will be met by pro rata assessments.

BRICE DECLARES FOR ADLAI.
Says Stevenson is the Logical Democratic Candidate.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Senator Brice, who is in the city, has been interviewed regarding the political situation. He said: "The Democratic party was defeated because of the hard times. The question was not so much a tariff issue
as a great many people are led to think.
The people all over the country expected that the party in power would bring better times, and when these did not materialize, they turned their ballots against them."

"The same cause defeated Harrison two years ago. When prosperity languishes, the people blame the party in power for it, or at least being able to restore the normal condition of affairs.
But I think that things will brighten up,
so that we will have a decidedly spirited presidential contest."

"Who do you think will be the next presidential candidate on the Democratic ticket, and will Cleveland run for a third term?"

"The next Democratic candidate to run for the presidency will be Adlai E.
Stevenson, and he will have the united support of all factions of his party. He is the logical candidate, and he comes from a state that can be carried by Democrats with his name leading the presidential ticket. He is the best man we can take. I do not think that the party would make a mistake. The election of last Tuesday settled the fate of several prospective candidates, and I am more than ever convinced that Adlai Stevenson is our man. As for Cleveland running for a third term, that kind of talk is worthless."

A Lithuanian Colony.
BALTIMORE, Nov. 15.—John Cooper, of Baltimore, who recently bought 1,000 acres of land near Wheaton's wharf, on the Rappahannock river, Virginia, has just obtained an option on 600 acres adjoining his first purchase. It is said that he wants the land for a colony of Lithuanians, who wish to come to this country to settle and engage in farming. He is endeavoring to secure 15,000 additional acres, so as to make the whole tract for the colony 22,000 acres.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.

It Would Knock Out Bookmaking at Illinois
Race Tracks.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 15.—A decision has been rendered by an East St. Louis justice of the peace which, if sustained by the higher courts, will knock out bookmaking from the race tracks of the state of Illinois, and possibly in many other states. The ruling was made in a suit instituted in Justice James A.
Wyatt's court in East St. Louis by H. E.
Barnes.

Barnes claims to have lost $184 at the East Side track during October, 1894.
When the case was tried he produced higher tickets, which he claimed were losing tickets representing the amount he claimed to have lost, and succeeded in convincing the judge of the truth of his statement, whereupon a decision was rendered in his favor.

The defendants offered no witnesses to disprove the truth of his statement and, aside from contending that he had a right to keep money won from the public on the grounds that the public would keep money won from them, they made no defense whatever.

Judge Wyatt said that his decision in the case was strictly in compliance with the state statute governing such cases, which defines clearly that a person, upon proving that he has lost an amount equal to or more than $100 upon any gambling device whatever, can obtain the full amount lost from the parties receiving the same, and if not from them, from the lessee or owner of the property upon which such games were conducted. A similar case has been compromised by the track people but this will be carried up.

FIENICE FIRE BURNING.

Has Burned Over Several Square Miles in Colorado.

BOULDER, Col., Nov. 15.—A fierce fire is burning in the pine timber on the mountains west of this city. It started last night in a sawmill and has already burned over an area of several square miles and is spreading rapidly.

Ward, a mining camp nineteen miles from here, of 1,000 people, and Gold Hill, a camp of 500 inhabitants, six miles nearer Boulder, are in danger of being destroyed. Many of the inhabitants have fled. Several ranches in the canon between the two places have been burned over.

Gold Hill has been abandoned to the flames. Before the fire, the place the residents stored their most valuable effects in the mining tunnels which they had dug. The population of Gold Hill is numbered about 1,000, and they are on their way to this city. A large force is fighting the flames and it is believed that the city will be saved. The loss already caused by the fire is estimated at $100,000.

WANTS TO SEE HOOVER.

Maj. Baldwin Will Wait Until Secretary Smith Returns From Georgia.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—[Special to
The Herald.]—Owing to a severe cold, Representative Baldwin did not make his contemplated call on the president today to see about the appointment of a successor to Campbell as chairman of the Chicago land commission. He says now that he will not make any recommendations for the place until Secretary Smith returns from Georgia.

EX-SENATOR O'MALLEY FOUND.

He Surrendered Himself to the Chicago Police
Today.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Ex-State Senator John O'Malley, for whom the police have been searching since the night of the election, surrendered himself today.
O'Malley is charged with having wounded a bartender and a cab driver, and was also wanted for alleged conspiring to resist an attempt to steal a ballot box. O'Malley denies that he had anything to do with the ballot box theft.

ADDRESSED BY THE KAISER.

The Military Recruits at Berlin Were Sworn In Today.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—The ceremony of swearing in the recruits of the Berlin, Charlottenberg, Spandau and Lichten-felde districts occurred today in the Lust-garten in the presence of the emperor, William, the imperial princes and a number of prominent generals.

After the address of the emperor, and Protestant chaplains, the emperor made a short speech to the recruits, urging which he urged them to not refrain from the duties of their fatherland and to uphold order and the religion of the country. The recruits swore the emperor at the conclusion of his remarks and were afterwards marched back to the barracks.

SENTENCED TO DEATH.

James Read Murdered a Young Woman He Had Ruined.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The trial of James Read for the murder of Florence Dennis, a young woman whom he had ruined, which has been in progress at Chelmsford, Essex, for several days, has resulted in the death sentence being imposed upon the prisoner.

The case has attracted the greatest interest. Read was a porter employed about the London docks and was married. He killed Florence Dennis when she became troublesome.

Drugged and Robbed.
TUNPAN, Tex., Nov. 15.—An American named F. J. Hanley, here for the purpose of buying a vanilla plantation near here, started out alone and nothing was heard from him until he was brought back by two Mexicans who found him wandering. He is demented, and all the money which he had on his person when he left was gone. It is believed that he was drugged by the loco-weed and robbed. From a card found in the pocket of the unfortunate man, it is learned that his home is in Pittsburg.

Sent to Pekin.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The president has appointed Edward K. Lowry,

KINNEY DENIES.

Paul that He is a Candidate for Senator.

A Great Throng at the Funeral of the Late
A. H. Wilder, of St. Paul This Afternoon.

Freshmen and Sophomore Classes of the State University Held Their Annual Cane Rush Today.

Judge Sanborn Considers the Union Pacific Receivers' Application to Cut Off the Branch Lines.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 15.—O. D. Kinney, of Duluth, is in the city, and the greater part of his time since his arrival has been taken up in standing off the fellows who think they can see in the impressive presence of Mr. Kinney an active senatorial candidate. They are mistaken, for Mr. Kinney says he is not after political honors. He inclines to the opinion, however, that there will be several candidates. As to who they will be Mr. Kinney saith not.

FUNERAL OF A. H. WILDER.

Large Throng of Friends to Pay the Last Tribute of Respect.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 15.—The funeral of the late A. H. Wilder took place at the family residence, 226 Summit avenue, this afternoon. The office for the burial of the dead was said by the Rev. Dr.
John Wright, rector of St. Paul's church, with which Mr. Wilder was for a long time associated, and the Rev. Y. P.
Morgan, of St. John's, Bishop Gilbert was also present, and pronounced the benediction.

The handsome casket which enclosed the body was placed in the bay window of the music room, surrounded by flowers. A great throng of friends and business acquaintances from the city, state and abroad, gathered to pay their last tribute of respect to the departed. A long train of carriages followed the re-interment took place.

UNION PACIFIC BRANCHES.

The Receivers' Applications to Cut Off Branch Lines.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 15.—Before Judge
Sanborn, in the United States circuit court today, there was heard the matter of the application of the receivers of the Union Pacific road to cut off certain branch lines and to abandon certain contracts between the branch lines and the road. The matter came up on the report of Judge Cornish, master in chancery in the proceeding to whom the questions were referred. He made numerous recommendations concerning the matter, and this morning the court heard arguments on either side.

On the question of a division of earnings between the Kansas City & Omaha and the St. Joseph & Grand Island and the Union Pacific, the matter was submitted, with the privilege of filing briefs,
should the attorneys desire.

Judge Cornish has recommended that the receivers of the Kansas City & Omaha operate that road and that any deficit that might arise from such operation be borne by the St. Joseph & Grand Island and the Union Pacific, the division between them to be based on some fair ratio.

HE KILLED A KAFFIR.

How the United States Consul at Mozambique Got Into Trouble.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The state department has been fully informed of the facts in the case of W. Stanley Hollis, United States consul at Mozambique, who has gotten into trouble as the result of shooting and wounding a Kaffir whom he suspected of burglarious intent.

The shooting occurred early in last September and Mr. Hollis was afforded a prompt trial, through the intercession of our minister at Lisbon, although being simply a consular officer, he could claim no immunities not accorded any foreign resident. On trial it was shown that the wounded Kaffir was innocent of burglarious intent and therefore that Mr.
Hollis had been guilty of homicide.

He was sentenced to six months' imprisonment, but the prosecution, regarding the sentence as inadequate, noted an appeal, which may be done under the Portuguese law. This appeal was referred to Lisbon and, if it is rejected, as is anticipated, the consul will be declared innocent. Meanwhile he is confined in the fortress at Mozambique and treated with kindness and consideration by the Portuguese authorities.

THE REPORTS UNFOUNDED.

Oxford Knows Nothing about a Boat Race
With Yale.

OXFORD, Eng., Nov. 15.—Mr. Pittman, president of the Oxford university rowing club, says that there is no foundation for the reports circulated in the United States, that negotiations are in progress for an international eight-oared boat race between Oxford and Yale.

Oxford, Mr. Pittman adds, has not received any letters on the subject from Yale or from Robert J. Cook, the Yale coach, who is reported to be in Europe for the purpose of negotiating a match between Oxford and Yale, and Oxford has certainly not sent out a challenge to Yale. Finally Mr. Pittman says that Mr. Cook has not even visited Oxford, and nothing is known among the Oxford oarsmen of his coming.

Mr. Pittman said that he much regretted the repetition of these rumors, as they distinctly tended to diminish the chances of a match being made. But if a challenge is sent or if Mr. Cook does come to this city, for the purpose of negotiating for an international eight-oared race, the matter will receive the courtesious attention of Oxford.

WEST DULUTH ITEMS.

Although the Sawmills Are Shutting Down, Work in Other Lines is on the Increase.

Car Works Has Every Prospect of Doing a Big Business During the Coming Winter.

Frame Work of the LeSurre Company's Mill is Up—Smoke Rolling from the Iron Chimneys.

Although the early shutting down of the sawmills is to be deplored, there is some gain from so great a loss to the manufacturing industry of the city. As soon as the mills close the work of overhauling the machinery commences at once and there is always found a certain amount of repair necessary for the coming season's cut. The repair and rebuilding of such machinery at the West Duluth mills is usually done by the Marquette company and this is the reason that these shops are kept busy in the winter and thereby help to offset the loss by the closing down of the sawmills. The winter season is also the time for the railroads to take account of stock and prepare for the summer's rush of business so that railroad shops such as the Duluth Manufacturing company's works always anticipate receiving the heaviest orders at this time of the year. L. G. Mathews of this firm has just returned from the East where it is understood he secured a large amount of work for the shops. The Great Western people have also secured a number of orders for the future and are anticipating prosperous times ahead.

The frame work for the LeSurre mill is up ready for the introduction of machinery. The most comforting sight to West Duluth people of late has been the belching forth of smoke and steam from the stacks of the Iron plant which shows that a start is being made at the greatest iron works yet built in the city.

WHEAT CLOSED LOWER.

It Was a Nervous Market With Considerable Fluctuations.

Wheat was somewhat nervous here today. The market opened firm at 1/2c higher than yesterday for May at 62 1/2c and quickly advanced to 62 3/4c, at which it held steady for fifteen minutes. Then it eased off to 62 1/2c and remained up 3/4c. From that point it eased off gradually to 62 1/4c and held firm until near the close when it broke sharply in sympathy with other markets, where the decline was due to heavy realization on the advance.

Cables came higher from both the United Kingdom and the continent, domestic markets were stronger and the Cincinnati Price Current confirmed the estimate it made last week that the feeding of wheat this season would probably exceed 55,000,000 bush. This, with the generally bullish sentiment which seemed to rule, gave the shorts some fright and there was a season of active recovering and good buying. Trading was pretty fair in May and declined in December. There was good business in cash, the shippers and mills buying delivery, both during the first and last half of the month, on a basis of 62 for No. 1 hard.

Following were the closing prices:
No. 1 hard, cash, 62 1/4c; No. 2 hard, 62 1/4c; No. 3 hard, 62 1/4c; No. 4 hard, 62 1/4c; No. 5 hard, 62 1/4c; No. 6 hard, 62 1/4c; No. 7 hard, 62 1/4c; No. 8 hard, 62 1/4c; No. 9 hard, 62 1/4c; No. 10 hard, 62 1/4c; ## FOUND BY THE TRACK

Angus D. McDougall, Switchman for the Missabe Road, Ran Over by a Train
Last Night.

No One, so far as the Company Knows, Was an Eye-Witness to the Accident.

His Body Was Found Near the Track and Was Mangled in a Horrible Manner.

Angus D. McDougall, a young Canadian switchman of about 23 years, was run over by a train on the Mesaba docks about 12 o'clock last night and instantly killed. So far as may be learned by the officials of the road there was not an eye witness of the accident, so the exact cause can not be learned.

An ore train was standing on the dock while an extra which was bringing down some people from the range was going by. All that the train hands knew about the accident is that they found McDougall's body beside the track, frightfully mangled. Death must certainly have been instantaneous from the nature of the injuries.

The body was brought to the Union depot in a caboose and taken to Stewart's morgue, where it now lies. Coroner Ekland decided to hold an inquest at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

McDougall was unmarried, and had no relatives in Duluth. He had but lately come from Canada, and resided at Proctorknott.

A PAYING INVESTMENT.

Steel Barge Company's Dry Dock Has Been Doing Well This Year.

The dry dock of the American Steel Barge works has done an excellent business this year. This season has seen almost double the business of last year and during the coming winter will be filled with vessels upon which repairs will be made at leisure. During the season of 1913, the patronage of the drydock was very gratifying to the owners and the receipts for repairs amounted to about $120,000. This year the receipts will fall short of $75,000 and may be they will be more.

The fact that there is a drydock at the head of the lakes is becoming pretty well known now and a large number of boats that ordinarily made for the docks at lower lake ports now come to Duluth. There is no other drydock of equal size on the great lakes and few in the world that are larger. It will accommodate at the same time almost any two vessels on the great lakes. Following is a list of the vessels docked this season: A. D. Thomson, two dredges, steamers Samuel Mather, Hiram Sibley, Magnus, Sibley, Bartlett, Colgate, Wilhelm, Hesper, Kottman, Oades, Forbes, City of London, Fedora, Jay Gould, M. C. Stafford, schooners Kattie, Belle, Cross, Chicago Board of Trade, Bruce, S. P. Elv, Maxwell, tugs Lyon, Stone, Record, Estelle; barges 109, 124, 101 and 107.

Rev. Southworth at St. Cloud.

Rev. F. C. Southworth is in St. Cloud and on Tuesday evening attended the exercises preliminary to the installation of Rev. Carleton F. Brown as pastor of the Unitarian church of that city. Rev. Mr. Brown succeeds Rev. C. J. Staples, who has been heard in Duluth a number of times. Rev. Mr. Southworth spoke on "Christianity, Old and New." The St. Cloud Times says: "He spoke of the progress of religion and said that if by the aid of higher criticism the story of Jesus of Nazareth was divested of the myths that often surround it, it would be found so plain and so simple that every child could understand it. It taught the great doctrine of love to God and love to man and under this banner the Unitarian church is marching."

The state commander writes us from Lincoln, Neb., as follows: "After trying other medicines for what seemed to be a very delicate cough in one of our children we tried Dr. King's New Discovery and it cured him. ### SUPERIOR WANTS IT.

Evening Telegram Says the Mahoning Ore Will Go Through There.

Contractor Dear has commenced stripping on the Mahoning iron company's property near Hibbing. The Superior Telegram finds great reason for congratulating Superior over this, claiming that the ore will be shipped over the Winnipeg and that the ore dock at Alouette bay, which has been lying idle, will then have something to do. The Telegram exults as follows:

"The owners of the Mahoning iron mine are among the most extensive furnace men in the Mahoning valley and they use in an average year from 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 tons of iron ore. Their new mine on the Mesaba, which they have named the Mahoning, will soon be one of the largest in point of output in the United States. Nobody knows how deep the ore bed is, but tests have developed that it is seventy-five feet, and when that depth was assured, covering a wide area, no further investigation was made or needed, for the value of the property was established."

"It is the intention of the owners of the Mahoning to ship 500,000 tons of ore next season and mining operations will be begun early. All of this ore will be shipped over the Winnipeg road and the ore dock on Alouette bay in this city. As 500,000 tons of ore is equal to 16,700,000 bushels of wheat or 5,000,000 barrels of flour in furnishing vessel cargo, it will readily be seen that the item of ore will be of the utmost consequence."

"The best part of the Mahoning mine is that its owners are manufacturers of iron, and heavy ones at that. Superior has the assurance that no less than 500,000 tons of ore will pass through the port every year from this source alone for a long time to come. It is to be presumed that every year will witness an increase in Superior's ore shipments, for there are other mines to be developed which will ship over the Winnipeg. The addition of 500,000 tons annually to Superior's shipping, and from a new and single source, is one of the best pieces of information that has been received in many a day."

Gen. Gordon's Lecture.

Gen. John B. Gordon's lecture next Friday evening at the First M. E. church is already being talked of, and there is great interest to hear him. He will speak on "The Last Days of the Confederacy" and no one could be more competent to speak for he was Gen. Robert E. Lee's chief of staff. The New York Tribune said of him:

"Gen. Gordon is a speaker of magnetic eloquence, and the scene in the Tabernacle last night was more like that of a stirring political meeting than at a mere lecture. The audience was at times aroused to the highest pitch of enthusiasm. Gen. Gordon is full of fire, and his style of oratory has a Southern warmth, dash, brilliancy and force not often to be found in Northern speakers."

Work on the Bridge.

Work on the bridge between Connor's and Rice's Points will probably begin before long. The street railway officials expect it to be completed within a year. Plans have already been prepared and sent East and the visiting of the Eastern street railway company people who were here yesterday was due somewhat to a desire to look over the ground. The company has considerable dredging to do, which is the greatest difficulty in its way, but this will be overcome.

Thanksgiving Turkey Shoot.

The Central Gun club has decided to give its members a chance to secure Thanksgiving turkeys and will have a shoot for that purpose. A meeting was held at J. W. Nelson's store at the West End last evening and Messrs. Nelson, Heister, Day, Pastore and Gunderson were appointed to make arrangements for it.

Cadwallader Gets Five Years.

A. A. Cadwallader, former president of the Superior National bank, was yesterday sentenced to five years in the house of correction at Milwaukee for having violated the national bank laws. His wife and two children are living at Madison, Wis.

Johnson-Messick Marriage.

Miss Ida Johnson and George A. Messick were married last evening at 317 Seventh avenue east, Rev. C. J. Staples performing the ceremony. Mr. Messick is the senior member of the firm of Messick & McCauley. It was a quiet wedding and only a few friends were present.

A Few Words to the Public.

To the Editor of The Herald: Next to last evening's issue of your valuable paper I notice an article signed "Taxpayer" in which he calls the public attention to the fire sale at 225 West Superior street. He objects to our slaughtering prices and claims it is a great injustice to others in the clothing business. He also objects to the fact that our store is always crowded and that we are decreasing our stock by the wholesale. This is a great objection. I think it is very little to ask you, Mr. Taxpayer, I should like to ask you whose business it is if we are selling these goods for less than they can be manufactured. I ask you to give me a receipt for the goods I have sold. We will pull up our tent and move. Hoping you will give this as conspicuous a place as Taxpayer had, and thanking you in advance, I am, Yours truly,

MR. FIRE SALE.

Adulterated Wine.

Is injurious, but nothing gives strength, and tones up the stomach like a pure old port wine. "Royal Ruby Port," so called for its royal taste and ruby color is on account of its purity, age and strength, particularly adapted for invalids, convalescents and the aged. Sold only in bottles (never in bulk) while cheap wine is sold by the gallon and gives a larger profit to the seller but less to the user. The wine is absolutely pure, and has no age without which no wine is fit to use. Be sure you get "Royal Ruby" quart bottles. Sold by S. F. Boyce, druggist.

LOOK TO YOUR DAUGHTERS.

The Lingers Talk of an Interurban Duluth-Superior Line.

The cold weather season draws nearer an increase in the size of the crowds in the hotel lobbies is noticed, in fact they are pretty good thermometers by which to judge of the weather outside. If the crowd is large the air is apt to be pretty cold and if it is small it is pretty certain to be rather pleasant outside. Among the little groups which gather around the lobbies a great variety of topics come up for discussion. The weather, politics, city government, failure of the powers that be to properly conduct their offices, and all matters, in fact, are talked over, and some of the ideas which may be heard are often curious and amusing. Not unfrequently much good originates in these little gatherings and business projects are often formed and initiated.

A few men were talking over the question of the bridge between Connor's and Rice's Points the other evening. One of them said:

"It is too bad that the street railway system in Superior is all built on narrow gauge. It must have been a sighted policy that dictated that. Now if they had standard gauge tracks over the bridge we would have a line from Duluth and Superior would have an interurban line similar to the St. Paul and Minneapolis line."

This is a subject which has been frequently talked about here and many conjectures have been made as to whether Duluth and Superior would have an interurban line similar to the St. Paul and Minneapolis line.

A well-known family recently secured a domestic from the country. When she got off the train here it was the first time she had ever been in any place other than a small village. The electric cars were the objects of the greatest wonder to her and everything she saw caused her eyes to open in an unusually wide manner. When she was installed in the place where she was employed one of the objects of greatest interest to her was the gas. Its use was explained to her and she was told that it was highly of the body but turned it into heat.

"Yes ma'am," she responded, "and I did not blow it out. I turned it off and then turned it on again so it would be all ready to light when I got home."

The humor of the situation here struck her mistress and she laughed long and heartily. Now she cannot get that domestic to go within ten feet of a gas jet.

THE WATER PURCHASE.

Some Preliminary Matters Connected With the Transfer Being Looked Up.

There seems to be a studied silence on the water works question. Those who favor the purchase act as if a hen were on and those who oppose it, appear to be following the same tactic. It is said that the family doctor of the city is pressed and that some hidden hand has agreed to furnish the money for a fight if Mr. Truelsen will make it in his own name or allow his name to be used in making it.

There has been a rumor that there are $500,000 or $600,000 more of bonds than the city has authorized to issue in its statement but that is now denied. The disagreement of figures is said to be the result of the fact that bonds issued and afterwards cancelled were counted, thereby making an apparent discrepancy where none exists.

Financial transactions are busily engaged, seeking information upon such points as the charter requires and several reports will undoubtedly be made next evening.

Yesterday Alderman Goldsmith and Lerch and City Comptroller Ten Brook went over the company's books and verified figures as to the amount and number of outstanding bonds. Next Monday evening it is expected that the council will have at hand a certificate as to the amount of outstanding bonds, next Monday evening it is expected that the council will have at hand a certificate as to the amount of outstanding bonds.

Today City Engineer Reed, accompanied by Alderman Goldsmith, expected to inspect the pumps of the plant and report next Monday on the condition and value, but as Mr. Reed is up on the range there will undoubtedly be a month's delay in that direction.

The company has made a statement as to the quantity and value of its real estate. The value is placed at $150,000, but as some of the abstracts have not yet been furnished the city attorney wants them before accepting anything definitely.

The gas and water company claims its poles between here and Lakeside are personal property and values them at $7000, but agrees to turn them in with the plant. The Hartman Electric company is figuring on their value and will purchase them from the city if the water works deal goes through and terms can be made with the city.

Brought to Justice.

Chief Armstrong is in receipt of a letter from Mandan, N. D., containing the information that Watkins and Mead, the cattle thieves arrested in Duluth, pleaded guilty to the charge and received sentences of three years and six months respectively in the penitentiary at Bismarck. It is known that they belonged to a large gang with people of considerable prominence among its members. The authorities will now endeavor to bring the rest of them to justice.

DRUGGIST WILCOX.

He Talks Strongly Because He Knows.

Many Will Read This With the Utmost Fear and Terror.

Danger and Death Follow Us Every Step We Take.

Too many people become insane. Too many drop dead. Too many become paralyzed. The papers are constantly recording such cases, and even only a small proportion ever reach the public. It is enough to frighten anybody; and what does it mean?

It means that people overwork, overstrain and weaken their nerves, their heart, their brain, and then they suffer the terrible, but natural consequences. Do you belong to this class? If so, look to your health. Read the warning words of E. T. Wilcox, Esq., a well known Druggist, residing at Ticonderoga, N. Y.:

"I have used Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy for some time. I have sold all kinds of proprietary medicines in our drug store, and know what is said about them all."

"Whenever I feel nervous and run down, I use Dr. Greene's Nervura and it does the business every time. I think it is the best medicine, and it certainly is the best seller."

"I am now using it myself."

"Of course I have the choice of all my own personal experience and reports of others, I am perfectly satisfied that Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy is the best."

Mr. Wilcox has devoted his life entirely to the drug business, and when a man so experienced in medicines is satisfied that there is nothing in the world so good as Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, it is the strongest possible recommendation. Everybody who takes it speaks just as highly of it. It makes strong nerves and builds up the worn-out and run-down system. It prevents insanity, paralysis and promotes long life.

The reason why this great curative has had so phenomenal a success is because it is not a patent medicine, but the prescription of the most successful living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West Fourteenth street, New York city, who stands ready at all times to answer for the action of his medicine.

He has the largest practice in the world, and this grand medical discovery is the result of his vast experience. The great reputation of Dr. Greene is a guarantee that his medicine will cure, and the fact that he can be consulted by anyone, at any time, free of charge, personally or by letter, gives absolute assurance of the beneficial action of this wonderful medicine.

THE DELEGATION DIVIDED.

Representative Underwood Thinks Hennepin Not Solid for Washburn.

"In my opinion Washburn will have a bare majority of the Hennepin members, if he has that," was the declaration of Representative-elect J. M. Underwood, of the Thirty-third district, of Minneapolis, on being asked whether there was any break in the delegation on the United States senator. And that number, Mr. Underwood said, would depend on whether S. B. Howard and D. F. Morgan are really for him or not.

"If reported," said he, "Howard is against him, it will make twelve or thirteen members who cannot be counted for him. Asked what the trouble is, Mr. Underwood replied that it was largely his Canadian Pacific connection. 'I repeatedly asked Washburn,' said he, 'to come into my district and explain to my people, and he would not, and as a consequence my constituents are greatly opposed to Washburn's re-election. I do not say that I shall not vote for him, but that there is going to be great opposition to him both in the caucus and the legislature any man can see, and it commences right here at home.'"

FIERY BAPTISM.

Winnipeg Had a Series of Fires Last Night, No Less Than Five Taking Place.

Large Business Block Was Burned and the Grand Union Hotel Swept Out of Existence.

Work in the Woods in Wisconsin is Nearly a Month in Advance of Last Year.

Mark Conway, a Resident of Olmsted County for Forty Years Past, Killed by the Cars.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 16.—A Journal special from Winnipeg, Man., says: Winnipeg had a serious baptism of fire between midnight and 6 o'clock, no less than five alarms having been turned in for different fires. The Western Canada block, on the corner of Main street and Portage avenue, was completely gutted, and the stores underneath, occupied by Wright Bros. & Mitchell, druggists, burned out. Loss $85,000.

The Grand Union hotel on Princess street was swept out of existence in addition to several stores and houses adjoining. The fire then crossed the street and consumed the large warehouse of Merrick, Anderson & Co., which was filled with valuable stock. The total loss in this connection will exceed $125,000. This fire is supposed to have been started by an incendiary, as it occurred in a mysterious way while the other was raging.

MUCH WORK IN THE WOODS.
Work Nearly a Month in Advance of Last Year.

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis., Nov. 16.—There has not been in the memory of any one here a season when winter began as early as it has now. The work of getting the lumber camps in order began several weeks ago, and active work in the pines has been going on for some time. The number of men and teams left for the pines at the beginning of the present cold snap and expected a solid freeze-up. There have been over fourteen inches of snow this fall but a warm wave has taken it nearly off and has been a good deal of a detriment to the loggers, as it made it too heavy and sloppy to work to advantage. Many of the men are now idle, waiting for it to freeze up solid so they can begin hauling. Work is nearly a month in advance of what it was last year among the pines, and the cut will be a very large one if the season is favorable, as much of the timber was injured by the forest fire, and must be cut in order to save it from entire loss. Wages will compare very favorably for the past few years, and leading lumbermen predict that the price of lumber will not fall over 50 cents per 1000.

A WEDDING AT FARIBAULT.
Miss Ellen Grant United in Marriage to Nelson S. Erb.

FARIBAULT, Minn., Nov. 16.—The society event of the evening was the marriage here last evening of Miss Ellen Grant and Nelson S. Erb, both prominent young people of this city. Miss Grant is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Grant, the well known railroad contractor, and the groom is one of the most prominent young business men of this city.

Many guests were present, including a large number from abroad. After the ceremony, which was held at the residence of the bride's father, a reception was given, followed by a dancing party.

SUPREME COURT DECRIES.
One Decision Reversed and One Affirmed by Judge Buck.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 16.—There were two decisions handed down today by Judge Buck in the supreme court. The case of Albert T. Mills, respondent, versus John Wilson, appellant, is reversed. The case of William Elliott, appellant, versus the City of Minneapolis, W. H. Eustis as mayor et al, respondents, being the letting of coal contracts, is affirmed. This was the case of the giving of the fuel contract to John Goodnow, though he was not the lowest bidder, and the decision is that the city had to give such contract.

A MINNEAPOLIS SUICIDE.
Mrs. Grace Buck Took Carbolic Acid and Soon Died.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 16.—This morning Mrs. Grace Buck, living at 728 Nicollet avenue, died from a dose of carbolic acid about 2 o'clock. She expired in the arms of her husband, E. L. Buck. The coroner decided that no inquest was necessary as she died by poison, self-administered.

Last June Mrs. Buck's baby died. Ever since she has been suffering and seemed to live only waiting for the time when she and her baby should be united. She was 33 years old.

THE STREETER TRIAL.
New Evidence Which Greatly Aids the Prosecution.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 16.—New evidence introduced in the Streeter trial today is quite a feather in the cap of the prosecution. The evidence is in the form of a memorandum in Streeter's handwriting, giving figures which were to be used in making out some of the famous Gairrany Loan notes.

and that these had been preserved in an old desk merely by accident. The notation "checks L. F. Menage's order," appeared at the bottom of the memorandum sheet.

This evidence connects Streeter more closely with the making of bogus notes than the prosecution has been able to prove before.

Cut to Pieces.
ROCHESTER, Minn., Nov. 16.—Mark Conway, a resident of this county for the past forty years, was killed by the cars near Chester. He had been to Chatfield on a visit and on his return home he started to walk part of the way on the railroad track where he met his death. He was cut all to pieces.

Koerner's Big Majority.
ST. PAUL, Nov. 16.—The official returns for state treasurer have been very slow in coming in, and there are still twenty-nine counties from where the official vote has not been reported. The figures to hand give A. T. Koerner, the Republican candidate, 77,541 plurality and 17,866 majority.

Made an Assignment.
CHIPPewa FALLS, Wis., Nov. 16.—Charles Hoppe, a cigar manufacturer of this city, made an assignment to Edward Coleman for the benefit of his creditors. Liabilities, $2500; assets, $5000.

DUKE OF ARGYLL TO MARRY.
The Aged Scotch Peer Engaged to Miss Knox Little.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The Realm, of which Lady Colin Campbell is the editor, appeared today and was favorably received. In its first issue Realm announces that the duke of Argyll is engaged to Miss Knox Little, George Douglas Campbell, eighth duke of Argyll, was born in 1823 and is the father of the marquis of Lorne, who married the Princess Louise, fourth daughter of Queen Victoria. Lady Colin Campbell, the editor of Realm, was the wife of Lord Colin Campbell, fourth son of the duke of Argyll, from whom she obtained a judicial separation in 1884. The duke of Argyll has been twice married; first in 1841 to Lady Elizabeth Georgiana Sutherland-Leveson-Gower, who died in 1878. She was the eldest daughter of the second duke of Sutherland. In 1881 the duke of Argyll married Amelia Maria, daughter of the late Rt. Rev. Thomas Leigh Claughton, D.D. (formerly bishop of St. Albans) and widow of Col. Hon. Augustus Henry Archibald Anson. She died in 1892. All the children of the duke of Argyll, four sons and seven daughters, were by his first wife.

STEVE ELKINS INTERVIEWED.
Says He is a Candidate for United States Senator.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 16.—Stephen B. Elkins, ex-secretary of war, in discussing the political situation in West Virginia, said that while he is a candidate for the United States senate from that state, just at this time he is paying more attention to his private affairs than to a canvass for the position.

There are several candidates in the field besides himself, he said, and the impression is that some of them were suggested by Democrats rather than by Republicans. Referring to the candidacy of Judge Nathan Goff, Mr. Elkins said he had not heard directly or indirectly from Judge Goff or any of his friends that Judge Goff intends to enter the contest.

It is almost certain to follow," he continued, "that if Judge Goff is selected, President Cleveland will appoint William L. Wilson as his successor on the United States circuit bench."

THE "RED DUCHESS" DEAD.
She Raced Horses Under the Name of "Mr. Mantion."

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Carolina Agnes Beresford, dowager duchess of Montrose, known in the racing world as "Mr. Mantion" and also as the "red duchess," is dead. The duchess expired at her London residence, 45 Belgrave square.

The dowager duchess of Montrose was a daughter of the second Baron Decies. She was born in 1818 and was married three times; first in 1836 to the fourth duke of Montrose, who died in 1874; secondly, in 1876 to William Stuart Stirling-Crawford, who died in 1883, and third, in 1888 to Marcus Henry Milner, Esq.

The late dowager duchess was a remarkable character. She maintained a splendid stable and raced horses under the name and colors of "Mr. Mantion." Owning her favorite costumes being of fiery colors, she became known as the "red duchess."

DEBS AND KELLNER.
Appeared to Plead to the Indictments for Conspiracy.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—President Debs and Secretary Kellner, of the American Railway union, appeared before Judge Grosscup in the United States district court today to plead to the indictments returned against them for conspiracy in connection with the great railway strike.

Owing to the absence of Judge Woods, the case was continued to Dec. 4, when arguments of the defense to quash the indictments will be heard. Should the motion to quash be overruled, the hearing will be had on Jan. 9. Sixty-nine of the men indicted for conspiracy were in court today and the hearing of all went over until Dec. 4. Should the motion to quash the indictments be overruled, one of the defendants, probably Debs, will be selected for trial at the January hearing, and the result of other indictments will hinge upon the outcome of the test case.

nd he was very pale. He carefully placed the proof sheets of his almanac in an inside pocket, buttoned his coat over them and walked to the door and opened it before saying:

"Yes, und I vhill go home und inwe

I was seated on a log at the door of the quatter's cabin smoking a pipe with the old man himself when a long, lank young man about 20 years old came out of the wampup close at hand. The color of his face was like chalk, his lips were blue.

"WHAT YO' GOT TO MARRY ON?"

and it was easy to see that when he was screwing with swamp fever he was screwing with chills.

"Howdy, Jim?" saluted the squatter
e looked up.

"Howdy, sah?" replied Jinn as he cannot halt near us and leaned against ree.

"Cum over to see Linda?"

"Reckon so."

"Linda hain't yere today. Gone over to see Tom's wife."

"Yans?"

Nothing more was said for a couple minutes. Jim furtively regarded me, and I snuck away and kept my eyes on the ground and seemed to be turning something over in his mind.

"See yere, Jim, yo' is shackelty."
 "Yaas, shackelty," replied Jim.
 "Yo' has chills and fever all the time."
 "Yaas, all the time."
 "Yo' hain't got no cabin."
 "No cabin."
 "Nor a mewl."
 "Nor a mewl."
 The stem of the old clay pipe, found

"Yo' hain't even got a dawg?"

"No; hain't got no dawg."

"My Linda's a powerful nice gal."

"Yaas, powerful nice."

"Yo' want to marry Linda, but wha' o' got to marry on?"

He proceeded to scratch his back against the tree while he did some hard thinking. And by he replied:

"Got ambishun, I reckon."

"What's that?"

"Dunno."

The squatter removed his pipe and pointed with it in his hand to the swampland whence the young man had appeared.

"Kase you've got some durned ailment which may be ketchin' and kerry the humphs off at a day's notice. Chills and fever and backache and weak knees and sillousness ar' bad 'nuff, but if you've went on and let ambishum jump on to you, then Luidas' ole nan him'n't got no more use for you."

Jim censes to scratch that he might leave a sigh and take a long, lingering look at the cabin. Then he scratched on and on and turned into the path and so disappeared in the swamp. We looked after him in silence, and he had long been out of sight when the squatter muttered: "Humph! Jest like a shacklety you."

Preventing Forest Fires.

State governments have been slow to realize the vital necessity of preventive measures in regard to forest fires. The terrible disasters of the present year, involving an awful loss of life, have directed so much attention to the subject that it may now be deemed probable that some action will be taken to prevent a recurrence of such great calamities. The heavy loss of life and property at Hinc-ley and the surrounding territory and the great forest fires in Northern Wisconsin, also accompanied by the destruction of many human lives and valuable property,
as well as the loss of millions of dollars of other towns on the Mesaba range a year ago, have impressed the public mind with the urgent necessity of some steps being taken that will protect the forests from accidental fires.It was probably necessary that the lesson should be learned by the bitterness of experience. When fortune favored us and the fires were on a small scale, the people were indifferent and it was impossible to arouse the legislatures to a sense of the great danger which existed. The fact that no great calamity had occurred had given them the idea that the danger was fancied and imaginary. The experience of the past few years has removed this sense of security, and many are now trying to discover what will prove to be the best method of guarding against such calamities in the future. It is admitted by all that more binding laws on the subject are necessary, but what form those laws shall take is the problem that remains unsolved.Fortunately we have the experience of the older states and of other countries in forestry legislation to guide us in arriving at a proper solution of the question.
In a communication to the Pioneer Press
Gen. C. C. Andrews of St. Paul, draws attention to what is being done in regard to forestry in the state of New Hampshire. The forestry law passed there in March, 1893, is regarded as especially admirable from the fact that it does not attempt to accomplish too much. While it is not wholly suited to Minnesota, some features might well be incorporated in any proposed legislation here.
The law has only four rather short sections. The third section, relating to fire is the one in which Minnesota people will feel the most interest. In substance it constitutes selectmen (supervisors) of towns "fire wardens" whose duty it shall be to watch the forests and whenever a fire is observed therein to immediately summon such assistance as they may deem necessary, go at once to the scene of it, and, if possible, extinguish it. In regions where no town or organizations exist, the county commissioners are empowered to appoint fire wardens. Fire wardens and such persons as they may employ shall be paid for their services by the towns in which such fires occur, and in the absence of town organizations, by the county."This law created a forestry commission which began work in June, 1893, and its first annual report, recently issued states that the objects sought to be accomplished by creating the commission were first to obtain accurate information regarding the forests of the state, the rate and method of their removal and the resulting effects, economic, social and climatic;
second, to secure public discussion of forestry interests. Notices of penalties for the setting of forest fires printedon cloth were posted in forest districts, the expense of which was reduced by the co-operation of lumber men.
County commissioners, though twice requested to appoint the wardens for unorganized places, failed to respond. On the other hand, town "selectmen have been measurably prompt in discharging their duties as fire wardens when once they have learned them. But in the communities where no town organizations exist the forests are no better off under the new law than they were without, for the county commissioners have neglected to make the appointments authorized, and the most extensive and most heavily timbered of all our forest tracts are left without official protection against their deadly enemy, fire."The experience of New Hampshire may furnish suggestions for the Minnesota legislature when it takes up this important subject at the coming session.
They can see where the New Hampshire legislature is weak and fails to accomplish the desired result, and can frame the Minnesota law so that those weaknesses may be avoided.

'Frisco's New Mayor.

One of the strangest events of the November elections was the election of Adolph Sutro as mayor of the city of San Francisco. He was nominated by the People's party, but his victory was not due to the strength of that party but to the vigorous fight which he made upon the Southern Pacific. The railroad have been in great dispute in California, and when the people found that Mr.
Sutro was in earnest in his fight against the Southern Pacific and was forcing that great corporation to do justice to the public interests, they rallied strongly to his support. At the election Mr. Sutro polled 30,676 votes to 12,548 for Dr. O.
C. O'Donnell, an irresponsible agitator;
11,175 for L. R. Elliott, non partisan Republican nominee and the present mayor, who had been looked upon early in the campaign as a sure winner; 4,970 for J. S. James, the Democratic candidate; 258 for N. E. Kelsey, Socialist Labor nominee, and 192 for C. B. Williams, a Prohibitionist.The great object of Sutro was to secure a 5 cent fare to the Cliff house and Sutro Heights, both of which properties are owned by him. He has given their use to the public and at Sutro Heights has erected magnificent public baths at a cost of over $1,000,000. Sutro Heights is in reality a free park, commanding the best view of the Pacific, the Seal Rocks, the Golden Gate, Fort Point and the Farallone islands. Sutro wanted everybody to enjoy his grounds and scenery, but the Southern Pacific has a monopoly of all the street car lines terminating at Ocean Beach, adjoining the Cliff, and charged two fares, thus barring many poor people from the enjoyment of the splendid marine view and the pure salt air.Mr. Sutro began his fight for a single fare before he thought of becoming a candidate for office. First he built a high board fence around the Cliff house, barred the gates to Sutro Heights, and charged an admission fee of 25 cents to every patron of the railroad who visited either place, while a limiting occupants of other than railroad vehicles free. He hoped thus to discourage traffic and to force the railroads to reduce their fare, but the Southern Pacific is not in the habit of surrendering without a struggle.
Then Sutro obtained a franchise for an electric road from Central avenue to the ocean, and made a combination with the cable road running to Central avenue and not controlled by the Southern Pacific, to transfer passengers to the beach from town and vice versa for a nickel. This was alarming, but the big corporation affected to regard it as merely a bluff, that Sutro would never finish the road.When, however, he had completed the grading it became thoroughly alarmed and made overtures of peace. But Sutro is stubborn and would not compromise.
When the first shipment of railroad material arrived two weeks ago, Southern Pacific capitulated at once. Down came the fence at the Cliff house, open flew gates at Sutro Heights, a great shout went up from the people, all the newspapers lauded Sutro as having scored the first victory over the railroad, and Sutro's election as mayor was assured, although none of the papers would openly support him at that late day.A description of the career of this famous man is interesting. He is 63 years old but is still vigorous, tall and straight as a pine tree, his hair white and with but a tinge of black in his side whiskers. He owns one-tenth of the area of San Francisco county. He was born in Aix-la-Chapelle, near the River Wurm in Rhineland Prussia, one of eleven children. His father was a manufacturer of cloth. In this calling Adolph was early initiated.After the revolution of 1848 the mother, by this time widowed, brought her brood to New York, landing in 1850, and in the same year reaching Baltimore. Adolph caught the gold fever and was soon on the Pacific coast. He has been there ever since, excepting for trips abroad, during which he has visited all the civilized countries, and he has been an important factor in the development of the city. His career is one of the most picturesque and striking in the American catalogue of wonderful men.Fame and fortune came to Sutro through the Comstock tunnel which bears his name, an enterprise that he conceived and carried out in the face ofopposition that would have discouraged and crushed another man. The tunnel was begun in 1874 and completed in 1878, and then Sutro was a millionaire. By judicious investments his wealth steadily increased. He is of luxurious tastes and has gathered about him treasures of art to enrich his home, Sutro Heights, and made it beautiful with rare vegetation and statuary. It is his design to give it to the city some day. He has a library of great value, also to be given to the city. He has the detestation of the capitalists who combine against the people, and this is the keynote of his present great popularity.Dr. McCosh Dying.
The venerable Dr. James McCosh is upon his deathbed at Princeton, N. J.
Nearly 84 years old, he is sinking as the result of weakness due to old age. With his demise, one of the greatest educators that America has seen will pass away.
Dr. McCosh is a Scotchman by birth and education, having studied at the famous universities at Glasgow and Edinburgh.
In the latter institution he was a pupil of Dr. Thomas Chalmers, and the influence which the latter's teachings exerted upon him was visible throughout his lengthy career as a writer and an educator.Dr. McCosh entered the ministry at Scotland, and while pastor at Brechin he published a work entitled "Method of the Divine Government, Physical and Moral," in which he endeavors to interrogate nature by the inductive method, inquiring what is the method of the divine government, primarily in the physical world, and secondarily in providence as related to the character of man and tending to his restoration. The work discusses the laws of substance and phenomenon and of cause and effect in physical nature and in the human mind.
He subsequently continued the argument in a later work issued in 1862, when he was a professor in Queen's college, Belfast. His appointment to this college was due to the lord lieutenant, Earl Clarendon, reading Dr. McCosh's
"Method."He remained at Belfast sixteen years, and while there wrote his "Intentions of the Mind Inductively Investigated," which established his reputation as a metaphysical writer. In 1868 he removed to this country, having been elected president of the College of New Jersey, at Princeton, where his administration was remarkably successful.
Owing to advancing years, Dr. McCosh resigned in 1888, and was voted a salary as president emeritus and retained the chair of philosophy. He has been a voluminous writer and besides the works already mentioned and many important addresses and contributions to various periodicals, he has published numerous other works.In an interesting pamphlet on silver by H. V. Yates, of Omaha, it is pointed out that "at the present time there is not a nation on earth which does not coin and circulate at parity both silver and gold at any ratio." This is a significant fact which is ignored by free coinage advocates. The market ratio of gold to silver at present is 33 to 1, so that the silver in the "standard" dollars is worth only 48 cents, the decline being due to the great increase in the world's production of silver. A 48-cent dollar is not and cannot be an honest dollar.A Denver paper says a syndicate is endeavoring to obtain control of the silver market and dictate the price of the metal to all silver-using countries, regardless of the supply and demand.
This is a big undertaking but it may be carried out. Of course the names of the Rothschilds and the Rockefellers are mentioned in connection with the scheme.
They are always mentioned where large sums of money are needed to carry out a scheme.Even the anarchists are rejoicing over Hill's defeat. One of the anarchist speakers in New York Sunday night said:
"The anti-anarchist bill is dead, and his father, David, is buried." The anarchist's battered of Hill was only matched in in-temper by praise of Altgeld.The current number of the Illustrated American contains a large and very correct engraving of Governor Nelson, accompanied by a short sketch of his life.
A picture of the governor's modest home at Alexandria is also given.The jury found that The Herald should pay Mr. Cormany $500 for damaging his reputation. This is a point upon which opinions may differ, and consequently he has not got the $500 up to date.Billiardist Ives is playing a great game in his match with S. Schaefer, and if he wins may justly claim the title of "Wizard" now held by his opponent.And now the Chinese say that the Japs have not captured Port Arthur. Certainly they ought to know.No Commemorative.
Kansas City Star: Herr Altgeld denounces Mr. Cleveland and Herr Most militarizes Altgeld. Thus the necessity for comment is clearly obviated.Intended as a Compliment.

ROUND UP THE GANG.

Superior Police Raided a House and Captured Three People Who Were Passing Counterfeit Money.

A Number of Spurious Gold and Silver Coins Were Found Hidden Around the House.

They Have Operated to Some Advantage and a Large Number of Merchants Have Been Victimized.

Superior seems to be a popular place for counterfeiters. Some time ago the police over there unearthed a gang of them and yesterday another lot was rounded up. For some time counterfeit money has been making its appearance there. There were $5 and $10 gold pieces, and silver dollars, halves and quarters and nickels. The gold pieces were the best imitations and not a few merchants suffered losses through securing them.

The police kept a close watch and found that a woman was engaged at shoving off the queer gold pieces and the nickels and looted her at a little 1-story house on Hammond avenue opposite the Presbyterian church. Her husband and another man lived there but it was seldom that all three were in the house at the same time. The place was watched and the United States government notified. Special Agent in Charge, Agent Gallacher, of Chicago, United States District Attorney Briggs and Deputy Marshal Main arrived in Superior yesterday.

Arrangements were made to descend on the house last night but at noon it was learned they were all at home and the raid was made at once. The officers went to the house and were admitted and Aesop Parliades and his wife, Albena Parliades, were found at dinner with their four children.

Frank Ferguson sat in an adjoining room reading a newspaper. He was the only cool one of the three. He evidenced no surprise at the sudden intrusion. He did not even quit reading the paper except to glance up when the officers entered and then resumed his paper, which he continued to read until he was invited to empty his pockets. Eight counterfeit nickels were found on his person and some good money. A number of spurious nickels were also found in the possession of Mrs. Parliades. The two men and the woman were placed under arrest by the marshal, and the prisoners were sent to police headquarters and locked up. They were thoroughly searched at the station but nothing further of a criminal nature was found upon them.

Mr. and Mrs. Parliades loudly protested their innocence of any wrongdoing, but Ferguson was silent. He is believed by the officers to be the principal rogue, and subsequent developments by the searching party tends to establish the theory. He is a clever fellow and knows how to keep his mouth shut. Mr. Parliades, on the contrary, is regarded as a man of little shrewdness and dull intellect.

The house was searched at once and with good results. In Ferguson's trunk was found a lot of counterfeit money, several counterfeit silver dollars and letters that will be of interest to the government regarding the purchase of material for making spurious coin. In an out-house was found a lot of blocks of plaster of paris and flakes of lead. A number of counterfeit coins were found in the out-house, which was tipped over. The coins were laid away on top of a piece of studding.

Henry Ferguson had his hearing before United States Court Commissioner Perkins this morning and was bound over to the December term, with bail fixed at $5000. The woman had her hearing this afternoon.

One of the best theatrical events of the season will occur on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, when Nat. C. Goodwin with his admirable company of players will occupy the boards at the Temple. On Tuesday evening "David Garrick," supplemented by the sparkling comedy "Lend Me Five Shillings," will be the bill for the opening, and on Wednesday evening Mr. Goodwin will present his great success "In Nizour," by Augustus Thomas, Esq., and this production in every detail will be given with the same splendid success as the New York. The company of players surrounding our popular favorite this season is a very large and capable one, and on each evening elaborate and unusual splendid performances can be anticipated.

Gen. John B. Gordon's lecture on "The Last Days of the Confederacy," which will be delivered at the First M. E. church on next Friday evening, will have a strong attraction for everyone. The subject itself is one which compels interest, and when it is known that Gen. Lee's chief of staff, a man who is now a patriotic citizen and a United States senator, will deliver it, there is a double interest. The citizen of Brooklyn, said of his lecture there:

"The debut of Gen. John B. Gordon, United States senator from Georgia, on the lecture platform, which took place at the Tabernacle last night, marks an epoch in the telling of the rising generation of the story of the war, or at least its close, and more than a glimpse of the scenes attending its later days. In thrilling periods that will reach thousands who would never read a book, and in a style of earnest eloquence that no written words can ever hope to equal, however inspired the pen."

Gentlemen:
Having made careful examination of the respective merits of the Ohio and Majestic ranges with view of purchasing, I have decided upon the Ohio, as I believe it is superior to the Majestic in all respects. The fact that your range is 30 per cent cheaper is also a consideration. Yours truly,

HOPE FOR A PARDON.

Why Banker Cadwallader Threw Himself on the Court's Mercy.
Inspector McLaughlin, of the house of correction, has received no word from Madison as to the time when ex-Banker Cadwallader, who was sentenced to five years in the Milwaukee house of correction, will arrive here to begin his sentence, says the Evening Wisconsin of Milwaukee.

It was hope of a pardon before more than one-fifth of his sentence has been served that largely influenced Cadwallader in abandoning his fight for acquittal of the charge of misappropriating the funds of the Superior National bank, of which he was once president. Added to this was the fact that he was without means to get his witnesses to Madison or to pay his attorneys. Spenser, Sanborn & Kerr, who are already out of pocket for their services on his behalf. There is little doubt that by the time a year has passed a strong petition will go to Washington for Cadwallader's pardon and it is believed it will bear the signature of most if not all the officials of the court which sentenced him.

SUSPECTED OF SMUGGLING.

The Schooner Emily Seized and Brought to Duluth Yesterday.

Some time ago The Herald told of opium smuggling which was being carried on between Canadian ports and Duluth by men ostensibly engaged in fishing. Collector Olund yesterday made a seizure of one of the suspected boats, belonging to Capt. Redmire, a Norwegian fisherman. Collector Olund and Deputy Collector Hart left Wednesday night on the Record, having received notice that the suspected vessel was near Two Harbors.

Early yesterday morning the boat was sighted on the north shore. She was seized and brought to Duluth. Yesterday afternoon an examination failed to disclose any of the drug.

The Emily, when captured, had on board some furniture, a quantity of cedar and a part load of fish. Nothing was found on the boat today and she was released. The seizure was made merely on the ground of suspicious circumstances in which the boat was found, and it is not the first seizure of the kind. The Emily is the highly sensational story published by the morning paper.

Was a Fine Specimen.
Yesterday noon a carpenter named Shaw who lives at the corner of Twelfth avenue west and Third street, shot a big white Arctic owl up above the boulevard. The bird's wings measured five and one-half feet from tip to tip and those who saw it say that it was one of the finest specimens ever brought to Duluth.

THE RELIEF COMMITTEE.

Report of Expenditures Made Yesterday—Other Matters Attended To.

The central relief committee appointed at the time of the Hinkley fire held a meeting yesterday afternoon for the purpose of closing up its affairs as far as possible. A report of expenditures was read and all the committee's bills ordered settled. There is not much left of the original fund and that will be expended by the Duluth committee instead of being turned over to the state committee. All the salaried employees of the local committee were discharged but it is probable that an assistant or two will be employed one or two days a week. A committee to rearrange the work was appointed.

There are still thirty-five families of the sufferers in Duluth, aggregating 100 people and most of them require more or less aid. They will be turned over to the state committee as soon as possible. William Craig, Bishop McGolick and E. C. Gridley were appointed a committee to arrange for that transfer.

Patents as follows, and all of them for pre-emption claims, were received recently at the local United States land office:

Consider Them Immoral.

The "Aladdin, Jr.," and other lithographs which have adorned the bill boards lately have proven offensive to the people of the Methodist church who consider them immoral, and indecent and injurious to the young. Dr. Thorburn brought up the matter last evening at the prayer meeting and thought the authorities ought to take action. A protest against the posting of such pictures was resolved upon.

Elks' Social Session.
The Elks will have one of their famous social sessions tonight at their hall in the Parsons block. A musical program has been arranged and will be given. For Circulars,
Special sale tomorrow, Saturday,
M. S. BURROWS & CO.

Be a Gentleman Do Matter How Painful It

Might Be—We Are Helping Them.

We are and read the following, then think over. The tire sale is making them equal.

This space is paid for by the fire sale.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I noticed in last night's edition of The Herald an article on "The Fake Tire Sale."

The headline being "A Taxpayer Complains."

I am a merchant of eight years' standing in this city. Our firm has never to my knowledge issued any petition or anything else to have the city fathers (as the lakers call our board of aldermen) drive

fakirs, obloits or peddlers out of the city.

In fact I have always looked down on them with sympathy, yes, even pity, as a class of men of unfortunate circumstances, who had to earn a living some way or other.

The would-be taxpayer's article amused me to such an extent that I wondered what he thought the people of Duluth were saying. I don't think I ought to allow a fake advertisement of that character to pass unheeded.

Citizens of Duluth, the article was not signed by me, but by a "Fake Tire Sale."

It is not a mark of honor to be a fake you, sir, yes, cheat you, if he can get a chance. Compare an insignificant joint of rotten rubbish in furnishing goods, clothing, boots and shoes, and anything else they can gather together at

to receive the dollar with houses like Vander and Watson, M. S. Burrows & Co., Wil-lamson & Almondson and many others of prominence and judge for yourselves

where to buy. I am not in the clothing business but I am interested enough in the welfare of Duluth and the people that I want to tell you that I am not trying to deceive, cheat or rob anybody people. The city authorities ought to haul down the fake sale sign and hang this one up in its stead: "He who cheats here will get robbed."

A MERCHANT.

Duluth, Nov. 15.

Too bad about you not being in the clothing business. A man in business eight years and does not dare to sign his name to a communication to the public.

Come out and let the public know who you are, or we will. We know you from head to foot. Eastern people own you, stock body and soul. Citizens of Duluth are invited to come to the great fire sale and see for themselves. 214 West Superior street.

Cut men—In plain, long, straight hats, furnishing goods.

Have you any more of the best, suits,

like that what I bought, at work.

Sale man—They're all gone.

Customer—Cracked, with, warped, stuffed and busted shoes, at $1.00 a pair.

Sale man—What do you want?

Customer—Nothing, only that is the way you want to sell your goods.

It's a pity you don't bought his suit at Frederick & Benson's this would not have happened.

Is Posting Himself.

Congressman A. R. Kiefer came up from St. Paul yesterday evening and discussed the Lake Superior-Mississippi canal with Mr. Sears today. The object of his visit was to thoroughly post himself on the work to be done and the amount of money which will be needed to complete the survey. Congress at its last session gave $10,000 for the survey but $15,000 at least will be needed. He will endeavor to obtain the additional money.

MARINE MATTERS.

Northern Line Boats Are Already Preparing to Lay Off.

Most of the steamboat lines, in view of the dullness of the lake freight market, are now thinking of an early close to their season. The Northern Steamship company is nearly through, and expects to have all its boats out of commission by Nov. 25. It has ten boats now on their last trip, two of which are in Duluth and eight of which are on their way up. The North Star which leaves this afternoon, will be the first to lay up.

The season has been a fair one with the company. The North Wind and the Northern Queen got in eighteen round trips each, with cargoes both ways.
The Western line will probably lay up about the same time as the Northern line. The Anchor line will run later.

There is no change in lake freights,
and business is very dull.

DID NOT CATCH HER.

United States Deputy Marshal Wanted a Boat
He Could Not Get.

The schooner S. L. Watson has had a hard time on this trip. Yesterday afternoon two of the crew libeled the vessel for wages. A deputy marshal notified the vessel's Duluth agent, who told him to go ahead. The marshal proceeded to the tug office and said that he was after a boat which was lying just outside the canal. Capt. Innan obligingly took the tug Williams and they started after the Watson.

On arriving at the outside of the canal there was nothing in sight, so Capt. In-nan asked what he was after.

"The schooner Watson," was the answer. Capt. Innan gave an expression of disgust.

"Do you see that boat built down out in the lake," he said.

"Yes," said the deputy.

"Well, that is the Watson. She is in tow of the City of Genoa, and we couldn't catch her with the tug if we chased her to Keweenaw point."

So the tug turned about and brought the deputy back.

On the way down two of the crew became involved in a quarrel, and one of them stabbed the other. Both were taken to Two Harbors.

the Neeshib yet. The steam barge Pabst, up bound light, is aground at the Encampment. The tug Gladiator and the lighter Monitor have to her.

The Maruba, down bound with ore, is aground at the Encampment. The tug Abbot and the lighter Kellogg have to go to her. She is out, but not far-ward. The wind is shifting to a northwest gale.

A. H. Farr, who has been employed watching Barker's lumber camp, near Virginia, was brought down today on a warrant charging him with stealing a dog belonging to Col. A. B. Jones. The colonel prizes the animal highly, as it belonged to his deceased son-in-law, Dixon; in fact, he says $500 would not tempt him to part with it. W. T. Bailey says the animal in Farr's possession and at once secured it and now has it in his

Farr says that he purchased the dog for $5 of a man who was a stranger to

of any crooked deal.

WEAR WHITE RIBBONS

Thousands of Delegates to the National Women's Christian Temperance Union Assembled at Cleveland Today.

Annual Address of the President, Miss Frances Willard, Was the Feature of the Session.

The Treasurer's Report Showed Larger Receipts, and the Membership of the Union Has Increased.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 16.—Under the national banner, "For God and Home and Native Land," delegates representing every state in the Union and a following of thousands of wearers of the white ribbon assembled this morning in Music hall to open the twenty-first annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. The scene presented in the hall just before the convention was called to order was a most animated one. The hum of conversation increased as the hour set for the convention to be called to order drew near, until it seemed to assume the proportions of a mighty roar.

The decorations of the big auditorium were artistic and profuse, with yellow and white predominating. The wall which formed the background for the platform was a mass of yellow and white bunting. The white is the recognized color of the W. C. T. U. and the yellow bears the same relation to the woman suffragists. The balconies are draped in white and yellow and the upper one is interwined with the red, white and blue. Each balcony post supports a state or superintendent's banner.

Miss Willard's Address.

The annual address of the president, Miss Frances Willard, was the leading event of today's session. It was quite lengthy and was listened to with close attention and was frequently interrupted by applause. A synopsis of the address is here given:

"The child of the crusade has lived out its eager youth, and stands on the threshold of mature womanhood. On Dec. 23, 1873, the first praying band of Ohio bridged with faithful feet the distance between church and dramsop. As if by magic similar processions began to move throughout the West until in the fifty days of their unexampled faith and works the liquor traffic was banished from 250 towns and villages. We date our origin from that red-letter day, set like another Christmas in the dear December to show that dawn is sure to follow darkness. In the bright summer following (August, 1874), at beautiful Chautauqua, that summer camp which is the paradise of women, a committee of the crusaders decreed that this movement should be systematized and put forth to their comrades everywhere a call to come to Cleveland in November and form a national society. To that convention we rallied from mountain and prairie, seaside and river, cottage and hall; but the cottagers were chief, for in every great on-moving of humanity it is not the sediment of the wave nor yet its foaming whitecap that carries weight, but it is the solid, restless wave itself and where the wave goes the whitecaps follow.

"In commemoration of the well ordered beginning that has been an encouragement extending fast and far we are here with men and women like-minded with us to cast a momentary glance over the shoulder at the long and weary march, but chiefly to look forward with steady and undaunted gaze at the mountains yet to be climbed before we can hope to plant our white banner on the heights of victory. Since we were in Cleveland twenty years since the half dozen state unions then organized have grown to fifty and the single national union to over forty-nine national and provinces."

A General Progress.

The address reviewed the progress of the temperance, woman purity and labor movements in the last two decades, and shows that they have all moved forward. The leaps and bounds into the habit of total abstinence is thoroughly respected everywhere. The effects of the use of alcoholics and tobacco are being systematically taught from the standpoint of science to the children of the public schools of all the fifty states and territories except five, thanks to the leadership of Mrs. Mary H. Hunt. Prohibition has gained ground in several Northern states and throughout the South by means of local option. The temperance plebiscites in Canada prove the growth of a strong sentiment in favor of prohibition law. In Great Britain the prevailing sentiment is that the question of license or no license should be placed in the people's hands, and in New Zealand, Colorado and Kansas, where women have the ballot, the effect of their influence has been strongly detrimental to the legal as well as the social position of the saloon. The age of consent has been raised in English-speaking countries until its average is now sixteen years instead of ten. Forty years ago there were but seven employments open to women; now hardly as many are closed. The appointment of matronly women on every police force was urged as a sure method of minimizing the degradation of the night side of life in the municipality. The position was taken that the saloon, the gambling house, the haunt of shame are so closely related that no reformer who staves one can afford to see that all must be incorporated into the same general movement. It was also held that the labor reform must be included, since poverty, worklessness and a contracted currency are prime causes of the misery which seeks to drown itself in drink. The earnest hope was expressed that reformers get together and have faith in the single-tax movement as "one of the highways out of the wilderness."

Use the Newspapers.

The nationalization of all means of locomotion and communication was declared to be less important than the ownership of the newspapers by the people. He, and in these days he reads what it is for the interest of great corporations to have him read. Opinion is manufactured by the newspaper just as scientific truth is clothed in woven by the loom. The editorial "we" should be abolished and every writer stand on his own merits.

JAPAN MAKES A MOVE.

Special Meeting of the Japanese Ministry Called to Consider This Country's Offer to Mediate.

Will Ask China to Make a Direct Offer or Free it From All Doubt.

The Independent Action of the United States Was Formally Requested by the Chinese Cabinet.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—The state department has received information that a special meeting of the Japanese ministry has been called for tomorrow to consider a final answer to the offer of the United States to mediate between Japan and China. The delay thus far is explained by the fact that the cabinet meets at Tokyo, while the emperor, who has to be consulted, is at Hiroshima. What the nature of the reply will be is not definitely known, yet strong intimations have reached the officials here that the cabinet will ask the Chinese either make her offer direct to Japan or else free it from all doubt, specifying the exact amount of indemnity she will pay. The fact was revealed today that the cabinet of the empire, made a direct request to the United States that this government offer its services as mediator. Heretofore it has been understood that the request from China was in a position to exercise its good offices in the matter of the understanding between China and Japan, would Japan feel that it would be prejudicial to her interests to have such influence exerted? It is pointed out that this question of language makes no offer to Japan, but merely inquires how she would entertain mediation, in case the United States was in a position to offer it.

FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS.

Jury Awarded M. L. Corman a Verdict For That Amount.

Yesterday afternoon Judge Ensign charged the jury in the Corman libel case against The Herald. Under the law, his charge was for the plaintiff. He told the jury that in any case its verdict must be for the plaintiff. The amount of the none that goes near the jury. Part of the article in question, he said, had neither been retracted nor justified, and as to that part the jury should find a verdict for the plaintiff. The damages might be either nominal or compensatory, according as the jury found that the plaintiff had been injured.

It is pointed out that the men who instructed them to take the plaintiff's character into consideration, and if they decided that it had been shown to be bad, they could take the damages of $500,000. At 3:15 the jury retired, and a few minutes before 6 o'clock returned into court with a verdict of $500 for the plaintiff. The jury was composed of the jury, M. J. Galvin, W. J. Welbank, E. W. Barker, E. A. Applehagen, G. E. Turner, W. E. Harvey, William Hoek, J. I. Wilcox, J. A. Douglas, Jesse Campbell, N. Youngblood, Isaac Henry.

A stay of thirty days was granted and a motion for a new trial will be made.

More Indictments Returned.

The grand jury finished its work and adjourned this morning, returning a large batch of indictments, most of which were withheld. Seven indictments were found, five of which were withheld. One of the withheld indictments there are four separate charges. Only one indictment can be made as to those pins which the indictments were found, but it is generally understood that there were some indictments as a result of the American Loan &amp; Trust company investigations. There are also indictments resulting from the Hibbing school difficulties, which have figured in the courts in civil cases for some time.

The cases against William McGinty were indicted for burglary in the third degree and grand larceny in the second degree for breaking into a St. Paul of Duluth box car and stealing a barrel of sauer kraut belonging to the Smith Fruit company.

The case against William Fritz for assault upon his son was nearly through at noon. The jury in the Merritt case is still out this afternoon. They came in this morning with a disagreement, and the court sent them back. The case of Leonidas Merritt against the Missabe Mountain Iron company was dismissed on motion of the plaintiff.

The cases of Alexander Solen, Ole M. Berg and Andrew Larson against Peter Rosen and others together before Judge Ensign this morning. The plaintiffs claim that Rosen sold them minutes to pine lands, representing them to be valuable when they were comparatively worthless.

Ives Still Leads.

SOMETHING WRONG.

A Policeman Meets a Man Who Is Too Grateful.

For five or six minutes the other afternoon a patrolman stood at the foot of Woodward avenue alongside of a young man who had a satchel in his hand and was waiting for a ferryboat. At length, as the officer started to saunter away, the young man handed him a cigar and said: "Thanks. I'll always remember your kindness."

"What is it?" queried the bluecoat as he hesitated over the cigar.

"Take it—take two of 'em! I'm a man who can appreciate a favor."

"But I—"

"That's all right—take three of 'em. I've traveled over most of this country and know a man when I see him."

"Well, you explain yourself," asked the officer as he closely regarded the stranger to see if he was drunk or crazy.

"Certainly. Here I am, a perfect stranger to you. You have the right to walk up and crack me with your club and ask who I am and what I am and what I am hanging around here for. You could take my satchel and fling it into the river, and you could drag me to a dungeon cell and keep me immured for years and years. Have you done anything of the sort?"

"As to that," began the officer, but the young man brought out two more cigars and said:

"Take the whole five! I haven't much wealth, but I want to show my gratitude as best I can. You, sir, are one of nature's noblemen, and though I live for the next 50 years I shall never forget you. Instead of cracking me over the head and then jumping on my unconscious body with high feet and dragging me to the station over the cobblestones, you have acted the part of a gentleman and a man who respects the rights of others. Sir, let me again assure you that I shall never forget this consideration on your part. Officer, farewell!"

He made a break for the boat and was lost to view, and after thinking it over for five minutes the officer pocketed the cigars and growled:

"Something wrong there somewhere. If I ever see him again, I'll run him in for his gratitude."—Detroit Free Press.

Society News of the Future.

Here is a dream of a society young woman had the other night after registering and then attending a swell military wedding: She dreamed she had been at a wedding and picked up a paper and read this account, which was dated May 20, 1920:

"The bride looked well in the conventional wedding gown of the usual white satin, but all eyes were centered on the groom. His suit of dark cloth fitted perfectly, but his performance in a large ballroom ornamental with red velvet, and in his daintily gloved hand he carried a bunch of flowers. His hair was out in the very latest style, and the delicately scented oil which plastered it in place left a faint perfume in the air as he passed. The girls all envied the bride for carrying off such a prize, and he will be sadly missed now that he is married. He is most popular in society, his many accomplishments, his tender graces and winning ways, having won him many friends. He has done well in his marriage, as the bride is mayor of a western town, before which time she drew a good salary as a brewer's agent. "Who will therefore miss none of the luxuries to which he is accustomed. A crowd of pretty and attractive young men shivered the couple with rose petals as they drove away."—Chicago Evening Post.

"Died yesterday."

"Died? His demise was sudden?"

"Yes. You see, he fell in love with the female Samson."

"She didn't like his attentions."

"She shook him."—New York Press.

Advice.

Mrs. Youngman—I wish I knew some way to prevent the baby from sucking his thumb."

Bachelor Uncle—Hm! Let me see. There ought to be some way. Why, yes, I've thought of a plan already."

"Oh, thank you very much! What shall I do?"

"Muzzle him."—Tit-Bits.

Eminent Practical Suggestion.

"What we want to do," exclaimed the long haired orator, "is to widen the sphere of woman's work."

"Then give us bigger kitchens," spoke up a sharp featured woman in the audience.—Chicago Tribune.

The Difficulty.

Doo Doo (to Jeweller)—I brought back this engagement ring that I bought yesterday."

Jeweller—Didn't it suit?"

Doo Doo—I didn't.—Philadelphia Record.

Best Paper, Best Advertising!

When a contractor is in a hurry to drive a long plank down the side of a new sewer, he sets two men at it. Each with a big maul hits it alternate blows as often and as hard as he can. The strokes come as even as a pendulum swings.

One man and one maul would drive the plank down, but it would take longer.

The bigger the maul, the quicker and easier he will do the work.

Two men, or a dozen, with tack hammers would not get the plank driven in a hundred years.

There's a parallel to this in advertising. If you're in a hurry to drive your business, use two papers and make the advertising maul--the space as big as possible.

If you haven't money enough to buy two big mauls, buy only one--use only one paper, the best, and make the space big enough to be felt.

You'll do more good with one maul than with half a dozen tack hammers. You'll get more benefit from a regular advertisement, of sufficient size, in a paper like The Evening Herald than you will from half a dozen smaller ads in weaker papers.

If you only have one ad, have it right. You don't believe in cutting your store in two, do you?

You don't establish a branch until you feel sure you are doing all you can in the main store.

Be sure you are doing enough in the best paper before you think of adding another.

"THE HAND

That Rocks the Cradle Rules the World."Some Comments Upon This Quotation Bearing Upon Its Application to the End-of-the-Century Times.

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 15th, 1894.—What innocent object is more potent in awakening an intense train of thought or a tender or sad remembrance than an old cradle stored away in a web corner of the garret.

We have all seen these quaint old treasures and it is not many years since each sturdy husband and happy wife delighted the heart of his loving wife by presenting her with a cradle heaped out by his own hands from the trees raised upon his own birthplace. But times are vastly changed now, and men haven't time to do this work themselves, so the sentiment expressed by his own rude work in former days is now expressed by the taste and judgment shown in selecting a cradle—or more often, a crib—from a regular stock of such goods. It is surprising to see how much time and thought have been spent upon these comfortable nests for the little ones, and in a well selected stock you will find a great range—from a strong, plain cradle for $1.50, to a handsome enameled brass-trimmed crib at $18.00. Good swinging cradles come at $2.50; large cradles with woven wire bottom, which later can have the rockers removed and serve as a crib, can be had for $2.75. Attractive cribs in oak and mahogany finish are $3.75; folding cribs with woven bottoms made to push under a large bed are also $3.75; wicker folding cribs are $7.50; enameled iron cribs with brass mountings are $10.00 and up; and some very ingenious little beds are made to fold up against the wall with a curtain in front with woven wire bottom for $6.00.

Such a complete stock as this can be found at French & Bassett's store, First street and Third avenue west, and they will be glad to show you these or any other goods they handle.

DELAYS ARE DANGEROUS

More Than Ever Since Election and With the Return of

PROSPERITY PREDICTED.

In the make-up of human nature various gifts and endowments seem to be unevenly distributed; for instance, the gift of being thrifty is not by any means the least noticeable in this regard. It is said that many people do not develop money-making qualities until they are in debt or have obligations to meet—and this is true, for we see all around us men paying for snug little homes from their savings. They have an object to work for and to save for and they do it. Almost every man needs this incentive and it is perfectly natural and proper.

Of course, it is not meant by going in debt that one should go in over their ears, but a reasonable amount of just obligation will help any man who can earn a living.

For instance, a young man is engaged or in love, but keeps thinking he cannot afford to marry because he cannot furnish a home. This is a mistake, for in these advanced times he can buy his goods and pay for them from month to month and at the end of a year he will have been married a year to the woman of his choice and have a good home, with his household goods paid for. The same principle is involved when one replenishes the home or buys any piece of furniture.

There has been considerable criticism on the methods of many installment and easy payment dealers, and justly so, for their prices and business principles are such as to call for the utmost censure. But when you decide to save some money buying household goods on a just and honest plan, don't be afraid to go to French & Bassett's, First street and Third avenue west, Duluth, and buy; for they sell honest goods at prices from 10 to 30 per cent lower than others here and give you long time and use you square.

A FIEND'S WORK

The Denver Murders Ascribed to a Man
With an Insane Desire to Kill Women.A Clue to the Murderer Is a Chrysanthemum Found in the Japanese Girl's Room.Frank Rock, a French Canadian, Who Lives Near the Strangler's Row, Has Been Arrested.Suspicion Also Attached to a German Who Was Seen With a Bunch of Chrysanthemums.

DENVER, Nov. 17.—The murderer of Lena Tapper, the German girl who lived at 1911 Market street; Marie Contassio, French, at 1925, and the Japanese at 1555, still roams about the city unshadowed and, except by a few, unsuspected. That it is the work of a fiend who has a mania and an insane desire to kill women is held by most people as the correct one. The people are inclined to the theory that the society of Frenchmen known as the "Macquereaux" is at the bottom of it, but this is laughed at by the French women, who say that almost every cent they make is turned over to the Macquereaux and they are not going to cut off their source of revenue by murdering these people on the row who support them.

With the theory that it is the work of a fiend the investigation was continued in search for anything like a tangible clue that would aid in the capture of the fellow who is murdering these women, and after first carefully sifting the evidence that surrounded each of the murdered girls to see whether the theory that they were all killed by the same person was correct or not.

Some startling facts were learned and some more pointed which either show that the police have been negligent or are so wrapped up in the theory that the Macquereaux caused the deed to be committed that they neglected to do anything else. That there is no evidence against Demady, who is charged with the murder of Lena Tapper, the district attorney's assistant seems to admit. In the case of Chaloup, the same is the case, while with the Japanese murder the police are wholly at sea.

A woman on the bench for "Strangler's row," living only a short distance from the place where these murders have been committed, let drop a hint that may lead to the arrest of the right man. In the room of the little Japanese was found a chrysanthemum. At the time the question was asked who gave her that flower. No attention was paid to the matter and the women relaxed into silence, being afraid to say anything further for fear they would bring the perpetrator of the murder down upon them next by aiding in giving some clue. No one ever seemed to think or care who gave the Japanese, Kiku Oyama, those flowers. If the police ever considered that a clue lay behind that little incident they dropped it for some unknown reason.

Armed with a determination to probe the matter to the bottom if possible, and see whether there was absolutely anything that could be of use, a visit was paid to the row and the women from Nineteenth to Twentieth street interviewed. At first they would say nothing, except to look at the theory that it was the Macquereaux. The California women, in a way, backed up that theory, but not a French or American woman on the row believes anything of the kind and loudly says so.

One woman was found who started the reporter on a clue that had been hinted at heretofore, but nothing further than hearsay could be obtained and but a very poor description of the man could be obtained. This woman again inquired about that flower and asked why they did not run down the giver of that token. Closer inquiry followed to find out what she knew about it, and a tangible clue obtained that seemed to thread a thread of circumstances to unravel.

Whether there is enough to convict a man behind that remains to be seen, but it is quite probable that there is enough to start on and beyond a doubt a stronger chain than that upon which Richard Demady and Charles Chaloup were held. For the past two years there has been a German living in Denver who seems to have a mania for women. This man formerly worked at one of the hotels and is described as being of medium height, sandy hair and a reddish moustache. He is a peculiar person and is heavy set. Among the women of the row he is described as queer. During the past two years he has paid the Market street district regular periodical visits and nearly every time his carried flowers to some inmates of the row. He was sometimes well dressed and again he was in his working clothes.

Nearly every person on the row knows this particular fellow and in most instances they consider him harmless, but there are a few who refused to have anything to do with him, as they were afraid of him. This German left the hotel and has been more or less engaged in the cultivation of flowers and this undoubtedly accounts for his mania for presenting these women with flowers. This man was seen on the row on Sunday afternoon with a bunch of chrysanthemums going toward 1957. There seems to be no one who saw him enter there, and the only thing that really might connect him with the Japanese is the fact that Kiku Oyama appeared on the street a little later with some chrysanthemums, and when asked who gave them to her, said "This German." This German has visited her before and had visited Lena Tapper and Marie Contassio at different times.

He made a statement of one of these visits that he had been robbed of $100

by one of the Californians on the row, and that he would get even. On another occasion he slapped a girl who lives at 1917 Market street in the face simply because she told him that she was "engaged," and accused her of living with another man. Last summer he whipped a woman who lived at 1715 Market street in Lizzie Preston's house. She refused to have anything more to do with him. She says he grabbed a brown sock and whipped her and another woman and a man who came to her rescue, making good his escape. These women think the fellow is crazy and have refused to allow him in their houses. These things were gathered up from different sources along the row, and all seem to give the same kind of a description of the man's queer actions and method of conduct.

Ella Berlin, in the house adjoining the one in which Kiku Oyama was murdered, was also regarding the German flower fiend. She says that on Monday afternoon, the night of the big parade, this fellow came past her place with some chrysanthemums and stopped below some place, but she did not know exactly where. She was of the opinion that it was near the house of the Japanese or the house below, but could not say so that. He came back up the street a little later and did not have the flowers. In the evening she says that Kiku Oyama was out on the sidewalk with the chrysanthemums on. The Japanese girl seemed to prize them very highly, as they resembled some species of the Japanese flowers of her native land, as she said. She does not know whether this fellow returned that night or not.

The city detectives have arrested Frank Rock, a French Canadian who lives in a small house in the alley in the rear of the Market street row where the three murders were committed, on suspicion of being the stranger. Rock was seen largely with the French Macquereaux who infest Market street. It is not known what evidence the detectives have against Rock, but the fact that he answers closely the description of a man seen running through the alley about the time Kiku Oyama was found strangled to death, Rock has been employed as a roustabout in Market street saloons. He is married.

Vanished is the magic white city of the World's fair. Enduring are the honors gained there by Dr. Price's cream baking powder.

DREDGING THE MISSISSIPPI.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The first paper read by Admiral Meade before the society of naval architects at New York, in which he condemns the building of fleet cruisers like the Columbia and Minneapolis; of small cruisers of the Detroit class, has caused much discussion in naval circles here, and it is safe to say that the bulk of opinion is strongly opposed to the admiral's ideas.

Indians Cause Trouble.

DENVER, Nov. 17.—Maj. Gen. McCook ordered two troops of the Second cavalry and two Hotchkiss guns from Fort Wing into the Mogul Indian settlement. A dispatch received from Indian Agent Wilson stated that the Orabie Indians had taken and planted fields of the friendly Indians and threatened further encroachments.

AFTER OFFICES.

The Candidates for Legislative Jobs Are Quite Numerous and Include

Has Several Very Strong
Rivals.Hon. C. A. Morey, of Winona, Will Probably Succeed Judge Start on the District Bench.Solomon Packer, a West Superior Pawn-broker, is Missing and His Family Are Much Alarmed.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 17.—[Special to The Herald.]—Candidates for the legislative offices are now becoming numerous. M. A. Hays, who used to manage the Duluth News Tribune, wants to be secretary of the senate and he says: "I have got the political habit I suppose. It's a miserable habit but I can't help it and I do not see but that I have as much of the running, to go, as anyone else." But Mr. Hays will have to keep moving all of the time between now and the meeting of the legislature if he gets the secretaryship, for there are some old timers after the place who will not make it any too easy for the people who are against them.

There are, among the other candidates, a couple of newspaper men who are active and popular. C. W. Foote, of the St. James Herald, and Sam Langum of the Preston Times. They are neither of them novices in the science of politics and both have had experience in the house and all the prestige that such experience gives. Ex-Secretary Ed Folsom is also in the race and is very confident of the outcome. He was not a strong man though last session, and what he will be able to line up his old friends remains to be seen.

TO SUCCEED JUDGE START.

C. A. Morey, of Winona, Seems Likely to Be Appointed.

WINONA, Nov. 17.—Considerable speculation is being indulged in as to who will be the successor to Judge Start on the bench in the judicial district, including Winona, Wabasha and Olmsted counties. The appointment will devolve upon Governor Nelson, as soon as Judge Start tenders his resignation, which will be early in December. Present indications seem to be very favorable to the appointment of Hon. C. A. Morey, of this city, to that place. Both he and Judge Barber, also of Winona, are named as possible candidates.

Grain Elevator Burned.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 17.—A Journal special from Crookston, Minn., says: The St. Anthony & Dakota elevator at Beltrami was burned this morning. It contained 30,000 bushels of wheat. The loss is reported as total.

A Missing Pawnbroker.

He went to St. Paul and Chicago, intending to return in four days. Since then nothing has been heard of him. He was formerly of Seattle, Wash., and is 33 years old.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 17.—A special to the Dispatch from Red Wing, Minn., says: Some persons traveling with an Indian show and giving entertainments in this country are now found to be fakirs. No one was injured, however, though Motorman Sam Olsen had a narrow escape. One horse was killed outright.

Shall we check immigration? Or shall it go on unrestricted? Whether we check it or not Dr. Price will still rank first of all the baking powders.

Lynchers Indicted.

GOLDEN, Col., Nov. 17.—The grand jury has returned indictments against Richard Shepard, John Kock, John Rich and George Vogel, well known citizens, for alleged participation in the lynching of Alex M. ## BRIGGS' LATEST WORK.

Synopsis of "The Messiah of the Gospels," a New Work by Professor Charles A. Briggs.

Faith of the Church Defective in Its Lack of Apprehension of the Reigning Christ.

It is Thought the Chapters Upon Immaculate Conception Will Call For the Most Criticism.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The Commercial Advertiser this afternoon will publish a synopsis of the latest work of Professor Charles A. Briggs, of Union Theological seminary. The book "The Messiah of the Gospels" is intended to follow "Messiah Prophecy," which caused so much comment when published in 1886. It was the intention of Dr. Briggs to publish "The Messiah of the Gospels" in 1887, but the charges of heresy were brought about that time and he has been compelled to defer publication until now.

The dedication runs as follows: "To Henry Preserved Smith, true scholar, faithful friend and brave companion in holy warfare, this book is dedicated in sympathy and love." In his latest book Dr. Briggs has entered minutely into a discussion of the second advent. He is convinced that the faith of the church of the day is defective in its lack of apprehension of the reigning Christ and in the neglect of the second advent of our Lord.

The chapters upon immaculate conception will perhaps call for the most criticism. He says: "The blessed virgin was residing in Nazareth of Galilee, betrothed to Joseph of the royal line of David, the heir of the Messianic promises of the Old Testament. The time for marriage had not yet come. God had a higher appointment for her to fulfill as the virgin mother of the Messiah. The virgin conception of Jesus as announced by the archangel is not to be interpreted as it were a miracle in violation of the laws of nature, but rather as brought about by God himself present in theophany."

"The words of the angel imply a theophanic presence, though it might be urged that the coming of the spirit upon her was an invisible coming after the analogy of the coming of the spirit in the Testament, yet the parallel statement that the divine power overshadowed her cannot be so interpreted."

"This announcement represents the conception of Jesus as due to a theophany. It does not rotate the doctrine of his pre-existence, although that doctrine is a legitimate inference. It represents an early stage of New Testament Christology. It does not go a step beyond the Pauline of the epistle to the Corinthians. It implies nothing more than the virgin birth taught by the epistle to the Galatians and to the Romans. It is really a more primitive and more simple Christology of conception."

Reference is made to "The Light of the Logia," the discussion of which played so prominent a part at the trial of Dr. Briggs, and he says: "The gospels give glimpses of the life and teaching of Jesus from four different points of view. Mark is the simplest and earliest in composition. It is that which is given in Mark reappears in Matthew and Luke, both of these gospels using the earlier Mark. Matthew is distinguished by long discourses, almost all of which are not in the other two. It is the gospel of Jesus about several great themes. We find very much the same matter in other portions of it in Mark. It is evident that the gospel of Matthew has grouped the words of Jesus about several themes. As it depended chiefly upon Mark for the historical material, it depended on the logia of Matthew for these discourses."

The logia of Matthew is the collection chiefly of the sayings of Jesus made by the apostle Matthew in the Aramaic language, according to the testimony of Papias. This logia was lost at an early date. But the most, if not all of its contents are in the gospels of Matthew and Luke. Luke gives them more in the circumstances of their utterance. The gospel of Matthew arranged them in a topical order without regard to these circumstances. These discoveries of Jesus from the logia of Matthew are rich and pregnant with Messianic material. The gospel of Matthew gives other sayings of Jesus and reports other acts of Jesus which were taken probably from other sources, written or oral. The gospel of Luke uses the historical material of Mark, gives the sayings in the logia of Matthew their original setting, but it also gives original matter not found in the other gospels. It is probable that the material was chiefly derived from a third written source.

The gospel of John is different from the other three, in that the material is entirely new. It gives us more theosophic teaching of Jesus and events of a more private and personal character, all bearing the marks of deep and thorough reflection upon the person and life of Jesus.

Dr. Briggs' views on a special study of the second advent of Christ. He makes the discussion of the second advent of greater importance than most theologians have deemed necessary and has brought many truths to light that heretofore have remained hidden, or have at least been disregarded.

Dr. Briggs' views on the doctrine of the resurrection have aroused considerable comment. It was said that he was obscure. He says: "The hour of the resurrection is coming. It is not to be said of it that it is now or that it is at hand. We have, however, a prediction of three resurrections, the first spiritual, the last universal, the intermediate one, distinct from the first and the last, and impending, being connected with the resurrection of the Messiah himself."

"Christ first predicts the impartation of everlasting life to all who hear the word of Messiah and believe in God. All have passed out of death into life. They will no more die. They will not come into judgment. This is a spiritual resurrection imparted by the word of the Messiah to all believers during the physical life in this world. It is also predicted that an hour is coming and now is when the dead will hear the (pneumatic) voice of the son of God and live. The hour coming, points to the future, and therefore, indicates a different resurrection of the previous section, which was already enjoyed by all who heard the Messiah's word and believed. Christ also predicts a universal resurrection of the dead at the ultimate judgment in which some will rise to life and others to condemnation."

The California Midwinter exposition was a dazzling success. Dr. Briggs' cream baking powder took the highest prize for purity, strength and excellence.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY.

A Prominent Seattle Attorney Wanted in Boston For Old Crimes.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 17.—John Fairfield, one of the most prominent attorneys in this city, has been arrested by Superintendent of Police Rogers on the strength of a letter from Chief Inspector Watts, of the criminal investigating bureau of the Boston police department. The letter contains the information that Fairfield is none other than John F. Dore, who was indicted at Boston in 1887 on four counts of forgery and four counts of larceny. It is evident that the man who was indicted at Boston in 1887 on four counts of forgery and four counts of larceny, was obtained from savings banks and was the property of poor women. Fairfield is one of the most influential men in the King county Democracy.

OPINIONS FROM THE STUDY.

Address by Rev. Dr. E. R. L. Gould of Johns Hopkins University.

Rev. Dr. E. R. L. Gould of Johns Hopkins university delivered an address before the students of the Wharton School of Finance and Economics at the University of Pennsylvania recently on the subject, "Ethical Aspects of the Housing Problem."

Dr. Gould began by showing the relation of the problem of the housing of the poor to the laboring man as a whole. He said: "Health, cheerfulness, intelligence and sound moral character are most prominent in the composition of efficient industrial workers. The development of these characteristics is largely determined by living conditions. Strong-willed, intelligent people create or modify environments; the weaker, the careless and the inefficient are subjects to it. We all know that the masses are not so strong-willed, so intelligent or so favorably circumstanced that they can create or even modify environment."

"There are three leading solutions, two of which are now successfully practiced almost. The first is to give the laboring man a more efficient development of electric power which has become dangerous to health and detrimental to morality; the second, the facilities to proprietors through the extension of legal facilities, similar to those granted by the Dolgan law of 1889. It is not possible for the ordinary workman, let alone the poor, to acquire house property in large cities because of the dearth of land, but if he has been denied this with a more efficient development of electric transportation the cheaper land in the suburban districts will be brought within his range. The workman measures his distance by time, not by space, and if, as has been suggested, facilities are afforded whereby the man may become the proprietor of his home in 15, 20 or 25 years at a sum equal to or inferior to the ordinary charges for rent, together with having the prospect of life insurance afforded at the same time, a happy and comprehensive solution is offered."

"The third method suggests careful differentiation of the masses and adopting methods of work applicable to individuals. It is not possible to be done for the artisan, but the factory, the careless, the unfortunate and occasional drunks are placed on an individual plan, in character and circumstances giving them a downward tendency. They must be looked after."

"As regards the last division of the social strata—the drunkards, the immoral, the criminals and the immoral and shiftless classes—there is nothing to do except to treat them together in public housing houses where they can be constantly under supervision, the sexes separated, and children placed in institutions where they may grow up useful members of society."

Was Not Arrested. In Thursday's Herald an item stated that Frank Leonard and William McNabb had been arrested for stealing a barrel of sauer kraut. McNabb says he was merely driving the dray for Tom Leonard, and was not arrested. He was held as a witness in the case.

Interpreted.

By chance the tourist staid to Sunday school. A young lady with a sweet face, and, unless the tourist's eyes were deceived him, a stylish bonnet, was explaining the meaning of the word "missionary." "Missionary," she said, is from the Latin missionaries, which means one sent. She looked heavenly enough to inspire a whole cargo of missionaries with the desire to go to the ends of the earth. "What is a missionary anyway?" an entire Texan, and the tourist did not doubt her. "Now, Charley," she said to a little Irishman with shining morning face, "what is a missionary?" "One penny," said the Irishman.

Relief. "Sweet," she insisted. He was silent. "Will you not swear?" "Yes." When the step-ladder fell on their heads for the fourth time, it decided him. As he swore the desperation in her face softened into a look akin to peace. Braving her loss out of her eyes, she smiled gratefully upon him.—Detroit Tribune.

Detained.

Mrs. Wigglesworth-James, it says here in the paper that the entertainment of the evening was a monologue by Miss Crawford. What is a monologue anyway? Mr. Wigglesworth—Oh, it's what I have to listen to for half or three-quarters of an hour whenever I come home unusually late at night.—Somerville Journal.

The Unsolved Problem.

He had spent long years in college and acquired all kinds of knowledge. From smoking cigarettes to reading Greek, and it was still by many that in Tolson, E. J. and Latin. With the accent of a native he could speak. He knew every modern science, and for every new appliance. He was able some improvement to suggest, and from bending on a hammer up to cricketing. Of all the greatest minds he was absent. He was charmed with hydrostatics, and in higher mathematics. Not a thing to stump him could he find. And to prove him a direction or bluest a come action. Was not a relaxation to his mind.

But to save a little money after all this time he had in mind having problem he had met. And he did it was his mission to enjoy his condition. To solve this most inviting problem, yet, without a bit of thinking, he has ever since been working.

On the question with an order that never that with all his... to his great and deep... He cannot get the answer he desires.—Chicago Tribune.

THE BLOW WAS FATAL

Bob Fitzsimmons Struck Con Riordan a Blow That Resulted in His Death This Morning.

Fitz Was Arraigned for Manslaughter in the First Degree and Was Released on Bail.

Riordan Must Have Been Struck a Terrible Blow on the Chin Which Caused Death.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 17.—Con Riordan, the pugilist who was knocked unconscious last night by Fitzsimmons, the coming opponent of Champion Jim Corbett, died at the Canoe house at 3:30 this morning. At about 3 o'clock he was in the same state of unconsciousness which he had been in all evening, when his laborious breathing and nervous twitching of the muscles of his face and body warned the physicians that his death was approaching.

At 3:15 o'clock his breathing had almost entirely stopped, and at 3:30 Dr. D. M. Tolman pronounced him dead. At his bedside at the time of his death were three physicians and about twenty members of the local sporting fraternity. Fitzsimmons, when informed of his death, was much affected and burst into sobs. The coroner was notified of his death at 3:45. Fitzsimmons has been locked up awaiting the action of the coroner.

Riordan, who was Fitzsimmons' sparring partner last night, was knocked out in the first round of his usual exhibition, which closes the program of his vaudeville show. The blow was a right-hander and caught Riordan squarely on the chin. Capt. Glori says that Riordan was intoxicated when he came on the stage.

Immediately after the Riordan incident, Tolman, Riordan's doctor, took him to the gloves for a 2-round set with Fitzsimmons, and in the second round landed his right on Fitz's jaw, resulting in a clean knock-down.

Fitzsimmons was arraigned this morning on a charge of manslaughter in the first degree, and was released on $10,000 bail. Tolman, Riordan's doctor, said the autopsy, says Riordan must have been struck a terrible blow on the chin, which communicated directly with the base of the brain.

When health is considered, no baking powder can be used with safety but Dr. R. analysis shows all other powders to contain lime, ammonia or alum.

It is impossible for you keep your eye on the industrial situation in order that it may be seen how long the other half of the world lives hence the value of the statistics afforded by the department of censuses and work-shops. Here is the substance of them:

In 1891 establishments the number of hands employed Oct. 1 of this year was 55,455. Before the panic of last year, or during the month of May, the same concerns employed 69,024 hands, while during the months of July and August, 1893, concerns employed 69,024 hands, while during the months of July and August, 1893, concerns employed 69,024 hands, while during the months of July and August, 1893, concerns employed 69,024 hands.

Not knowing our people, "Blue Jay" selected the low legs and wide hails and big feet of the president of the vigilance committee for the foundation of his funny article, and when we got home it was in the hands of the committee sitting in a row in our sanctum, with faces as solemn as grinders. We began to apologize at once, but it was too late. Half an hour later they took the funny article out of limbo and escorted him to the usual spot and then went on to show up. We put in an appearance, to find our position a painful one. On the one hand there was a young man in the bloom of life and full of ambition to make a literary name, and on the other his financial needs, and on the other an official of an organization necessary to our local happiness who felt that ridicule and insult had been heaped upon him and that he could no longer hold his head up among his fellows. While the secretary of the committee kindly held a lantern over the president of the vigilance committee, it was very funny—at least to us. In fact we haven't seen a richer thing going to rounds for a year past. It was also funny to "Blue Jay" standing with a nose about his neck ready to be launched into the unknown, he grinned and chuckled and laughed as we read. While he explained that he had no feeling against the president, and that nothing whatever could be set down in malice, we strengthened his case by all the arguments we could bring to bear. As a member of the committee we must stand by our fellow members, but as an outsider we did not feel best to save the young man's neck. We finally saved it. It was decided to draw him out and let him down three or four times as a great moral lesson, and this was done, and he was headed for Utah. Two or three of the committee accompanied him for half a mile on his way, and he was warned that if he didn't go out of the funny business and turn his talents to cryptic and advertisements it would be much as his life was worth to remain in the territory. We have been riding about the country for two days past in search of our agricultural editor, but have found no trace of him. The hour of danger has passed, and he is safely returned. Some of the committee may want to have a long and serious talk with him, but he will be needed by his own and earn his salary of $7 per week.

A Public Explanation of a Friendly Little Game of Draw.

A SILLY SENSATION.—The story going the rounds that the editor of the "The Kicker" (who is myself) and the mayor of this town (who is also myself) had a quarrel with Judge Coldree of this circuit last week in which several shots were fired and the judge received a bullet in the ribs is entirely without foundation. After a conference with the judge we have decided to make public explanation of the incident which some folks have magnified to the dimensions of a mountain. His honor plays the game familiarly known as poker—draw poker. So do we. His honor learned the game in New Mexico, and his game differs somewhat from the Arizona game. We were not aware of this, however, until we sat down to play with him.

Draw we picked up two kings, making what the shifty call a "full house." It happened that the judge drew three tens in the deal, but the draw amounted to nothing. Having three low cards, he felt that he was headed, and when we casually observed that we would bet $5 on our hand, he promptly came in and went "sit down." There were $200 on the table when I honor called our hand. When the hand was shown, he claimed the stakes as the draw, three tens, a full house, and a full house. Coldree is a very nice man, but "sit down" his ways. There was only one thing to do to prevent his pocketing the stake before we could convince him by argument, and we did it. We put the muzzles of a gun against his chin and requested him to throw up his hands and enter into a good natured discussion of the fascinating game, and he didn't hesitate over five seconds. Two minutes later he was perfectly satisfied that poker in New Mexico was more than a game, and we had the money in our pocket. There was no cheating, no wounding, not even an angry discussion. His honor left somewhat tired after the hot battle, but he was completely game for a play in this territory and probably request us to act as instructors. He said that he would show us the game, and that he would do so for good. His dignity as to being away at us in a dispute over cards is so absurd that no person of sense would entertain it for a moment.

A PAINTER POSITION.—Some two weeks since a young man who writes very funny things for the newspapers over the name of "Blue Jay" struck this town and the Kicker with a series of jokes. We can't do it here because a joke doesn't go with our people, as we have discovered by sad experience. While he explained that he had no feeling against the president, and that nothing whatever could be set down in malice, we strengthened his case by all the arguments we could bring to bear. As a member of the committee we must stand by our fellow members, but as an outsider we did not feel best to save the young man's neck. We finally saved it. It was decided to draw him out and let him down three or four times as a great moral lesson, and this was done, and he was headed for Utah. Two or three of the committee accompanied him for half a mile on his way, and he was warned that if he didn't go out of the funny business and turn his talents to cryptic and advertisements it would be much as his life was worth to remain in the territory. We have been riding about the country for two days past in search of our agricultural editor, but have found no trace of him. The hour of danger has passed, and he is safely returned. Some of the committee may want to have a long and serious talk with him, but he will be needed by his own and earn his salary of $7 per week.

THE ARIZONA KICKER.

A Public Explanation of a Friendly Little Game of Draw.

A SILLY SENSATION.—The story going the rounds that the editor of the "The Kicker" (who is myself) and the mayor of this town (who is also myself) had a quarrel with Judge Coldree of this circuit last week in which several shots were fired and the judge received a bullet in the ribs is entirely without foundation. After a conference with the judge we have decided to make public explanation of the incident which some folks have magnified to the dimensions of a mountain. His honor plays the game familiarly known as poker—draw poker. So do we. His honor learned the game in New Mexico, and his game differs somewhat from the Arizona game. We were

IMPORTANT DECISION.

Register Taylor Refused to Give It Out but It was Secured in Spite of Him.

General Commissioner Holds that a Few Cultivated Acres Are Not Sufficient to Make Agricultural Lands.

The Property Involved is in the Rainy Lake Country and Was Taken as a Homestead.

A. J. Taylor, register of the local United States land office, is probably a happy man today, for the commissioner of the general land office has sustained one of his important decisions. Receiver Ryan was also sustained in the decision, as he concurred with the register.

Register Taylor apparently feels so good over having things come his way that he very nearly deprived the great and sovereign public of the pleasure of knowing the points involved in this decision. The Herald gets the news when news is news, so the public's interests have not suffered in this case.

"Good morning, Mr. Receiver," said a Herald reporter as he entered the office of that gentleman this morning. "How are you?" replied Mr. Ryan. "Anything new today?" interrogated the reporter.

"Not much. There's a Rainy Lake gold land decision in there, though, I believe."

"Has Mr. Taylor got it?" asked the reporter.

"I believe so," said Mr. Ryan.

"Good morning, Mr. Taylor," said the reporter as he entered the sanctum of the register.

"How are you?" said that gentleman.

as he scowled at some type written pages of testimony.

"Anything new today?" "Nothing I know of that is of public importance," was the misleading and diplomatic reply.

"Mr. Ryan tells me there is a Rainy Lake gold land decision in here. How about that?" timidly queried the reporter as he tremblingly faced Uncle Sam's hired man.

"I don't choose to make that public," crisply replied the czar of the land office.

Register Taylor gave no reason, good or bad, why the reporter should not see the decision. He cannot, however, keep the great public in ignorance as to the decisions of the general land department at Washington, and The Herald has obtained this one.

The commissioner's decision is a new one, highly interesting and important. Here it is:

The case is entitled, Nicholas Bings vs. Charles A. Moore, timber and stone claimant. The land involved is on Sha Sha Point, opposite Rainy Lake City and is supposed to be possessed of gold.

Last winter Moore made a timber and stone filing. When he came to prove up in the spring he found Nicholas Bings on hand with a protest that protest being based on the allegations that the land was not chiefly valuable for timber and stone but for agricultural purposes.

At a hearing held by the local officials, the claimant showed that the land was covered with timber, not valuable for lumber, but for cordwood, which is a staple article up there, as it is used by the steamboats and greatly in demand. It was further shown that the land contained rock suitable for bridge abutments and other purposes.

The contestant furnished testimony to the effect that the Indians had raised gardens on the tract in question and that five acres were left only for agricultural purposes.

Both the register and receiver held that not over ten acres were fitted for agriculture, hence gave the claimant the decision.

The commissioner, in the decision recently received, sustains the local officials and says that when broken or disconnected patches are found on a tract, they must, in the aggregate, amount to more than one half of the whole area of the tract involved, to render it agricultural land and exclude it under the law.

This decision affects several other cases undecided, some of them involving lands supposed to be of great value. Naturally several of the land attorneys feel much pleased and several not so.

In this case Capt. W. H. Smallwood represented the claimant, Moore, while Mee & Sharp appeared for Bings, the contestant.

Ex-Priest Slattery is Coming.

On next Monday night, Nov. 19, the people of Duluth will have an opportunity to hear Father Slattery and his wife, the well known converted Catholic priest, who comes from Boston. He is to give a lecture on the subject, "Why I Left the Roman Catholic Priesthood and What I Saw Therein," at the Lyceum theater. It is claimed that he is the most eloquent speaker on Romanism who has ever been in the city. He has recently been lecturing before crowded houses in Milwaukee, where they have received flattering notices of their lectures.

Mrs. Slattery, formerly known in the convent as Sister Mary Elizabeth, will lecture Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Slattery is the only sister at present lecturing on the American platform.

Ladies and gentlemen will be admitted Monday night. Mrs. Slattery will speak "to ladies only" on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, and Mr. Slattery "to men only" Tuesday night. All lectures are different.

An Outrage on Honest Labor.

The extensive employment of convict labor in the manufacture of clothing in Sing Sing prison, a further exposure of which appears in The Herald, is a flagrant outrage which offers a direct insult to the honest workmen of New York. It subjects the labor of upright citizens to demoralizing and unjust competition with the enforced and ill paid labor of the criminal classes. Such competition is humiliating, degrading and a foul reproach to the cause of labor and the fair fame of the state.

The abuses which this foul system has developed are scandalous. They call for reformatory measures of the most rigorous character. The whole system should be abolished. Decency, justice and a fair regard for the dignity of free labor all demand that the accused institution shall be prosecuted and exterminated.—New York Herald.

The Morning Star.

The laborer has wrongs to right, has obstacles to remove. He has not only a right but a duty to seek to correct these wrongs and to remove these obstacles, and he has a right—may, a duty—to combine with his fellows in this work.

I look upon the organization of laborers as the morning star of the new day, the latest and finest product of social evolution. Let them find each other out, discuss their common interests, discover their mutual obligations, study together the perplexing riddle of life. Let them combine. Help them combine. Let those who perhaps through no superior merit of their own have some vantage ground guide them in their combinations.—Rev. Jenkin Lloyd Jones.

Bakershop Laws.

The New York council of the Bakers and Confectioners' International union has prepared amendments to the factory law to be submitted to the legislature next year. By these amendments it is proposed to compel bakers to keep their shops in a sanitary condition and do away with many evils from which the workmen are suffering at present.

To enforce the provisions of the law, if amended, four additional factory inspectors would be required.

THE BETHEL'S SUPPORT.

Committee of One Member from Each Church to Secure a Fund.

In the lack both of an endowment and of a local organization which is able to maintain the work, the Bethel looks to the people for support. Two years ago a yearly subscription was planned, to which $500 were pledged, in sums from $5 to $100. Hard times have reduced this to $100. In order to divide the work of securing this fund, as well as to add to the number of subscribers, it has been proposed by the board of directors that a committee of one from each congregation should be appointed to receive annual donations from the members of that congregation. Friends of the Bethel in each congregation are invited to send their pledges to the individual herein named. Let the donor state both the amount he wishes to give for the year, and whether it is convenient to be called upon yearly or quarterly.

The committee consists of the following persons: Baptist, H. H. Hartford; Catholic, A. W. Hartman; Christian, Charles Heli; Congregational, Ward Ames; English Lutheran, M. O. Hall; Episcopal, H. M. Peyton; German Evangelical, Charles Schulze; Glen Aven church, H. M. Haeuss; Methodist, Watson Nooner; Norwegian Lutheran, L. Arneson; Presbyterian, L. A. Marvin; Swedish Lutheran, Dr. J. J. ## INDICTMENT WAS BAD

High Reller Highton, Will Not Be Tried This Term But Must Wait Until February.

A Demurrer to the Indictment Was Made and County Attorney Ret Admitted It Was Defective.

John Mason Was Released, Indictments Against Him Being Quashed—Jennie Pascoe May Also Get Off.

A. G. Highton, the high rolling manager of the Ornament and Surprise mines, Greenhorn Mountain, Ore., will not come to trial this term, thanks to a defective indictment. When Highton was arraigned he pleaded not guilty to a charge of grand larceny in the second degree in passing a check for $100 upon Walter S. Whitten in payment for the Omaha car which took him and his party to Minneapolis. The charge was that he made the check on the Buffalo Bank of Commerce, in which he had no funds.

M. H. Crocker was appointed to defend him and straightway Crocker filed a demurrer to the indictment on the ground that the facts stated did not constitute a public offense. The plea of not guilty was withdrawn. This morning the demurrer was argued before Judge Moer, and was sustained. County Attorney Tarr admitted, as soon as he looked at the indictment, that it was defective and was not worded so as to state an offense against the criminal code.

Mr. Highton will not depart upon his high rolling way again immediately, however. Ever since his commitment by the municipal court he has been in the county jail, and Judge Moer ordered that he be held there until the sitting of the next grand jury, which occurs Feb. 5. Then another attempt will be made to send Mr. Highton over the road.

More Knocked Out.
Demurrers were also made to the indictments against John H. Mason and Jennie Pascoe, who were charged with attempting to carnally know a child under 16 and with assault in the second degree. The grounds for the demurrers were the same as the Highton case, and Judge Moer took the demurrer to the charge of assault under advisement, and sustained the demurrers to the other charges. On motion of the county attorney all the other indictments against Mason were quashed and the court ordered his release. Mrs. Pascoe will be held until the demurrer in her case is decided.

Frank Reamer pleaded not guilty to indictments for burglary in the third degree and grand larceny in the second degree.

Yesterday afternoon the assault case against William Fritz was given to the jury who took but a few minutes to return a verdict of not guilty. The incest case against Alfred and Mary Johnson, father and daughter, was taken up late this afternoon.

The jury in the Merritt case came in at 3 o'clock yesterday with a verdict for $300 for the plaintiff. They returned to the court twice for instructions and were out about thirty-six hours.

The special term calendar contained little of importance this morning. It was cleared up before noon. J. N. and Alice V. Pratt petitioned the court for permission to adopt Christina McIntyre and to change her name to Maria Wilson Pratt. The petition was granted. A. J. and Kate Anderson were granted permission to adopt Johanna A. Olson.

The Hulst will cases are set for Tuesday. Following is the setting of cases for next week:

Monday—202, 206, 155, 141, 111, 102, 50 to 92.
Tuesday—7, 124, 107, 116, 31, 10, 181, 180.

When shall we have real rapid transit? When Edison perfects his flying machine? Then the world will get its supply of Dr. Price's baking powder by the universal aerial route.

Loyalty to Duluth.

To the Editor of The Herald:
In as much as there has been so much said and so little done relative to the "spirit of loyalty" to Duluth and her many interests, I desire the privilege to, in a measure, portray the actual conditions as they exist here today, through the columns of your estimable paper. A man from Boston registered at the Spalding hotel last week, his first trip to Duluth, and the very first comment he made was: "Your town seems to have collapsed; bad signs, bad signs, 'going out of business,' 'great liquidation sale,' 'big fire sale,' auction sales, etc., with shouters on the street and circus signs from one end of Superior street to the other."

I want to say to every citizen in Duluth that this one thing is right now doing injury to the credit of the city of Duluth to an appalling extent. Open your eyes and walk up and down Superior street, and if you did not know they were fakirs you would certainly think the town was busted entirely from a mercantile standpoint.

"Be loyal to Duluth," "Show your patriotism," "contribute to this," "help to support that," etc., are a few of the many arguments used by the donation solicitors for our city churches and societies of charity, as they daily make their rounds among our reputable merchants. "Keep stores that are a credit to Duluth, stores we can show to strangers with pride, pay your taxes promptly, keep your help during the dull seasons," they say to our legitimate shopkeepers because it helps Duluth, and then in many instances people who must thank Duluth for every dollar they possess give all their trade to stores away from home, and then the city opens up the city gates free, which makes it a mecca to every rotten hawker, poacher and mercantile pirate that is thrown aloft at other parts.

It is said we have no state laws covering this issue, and this is a reason why this serious drain and nuisance is tolerated. State law state law! I want to ask must Duluth, a city of 7000 people, allow a lot of fakirs to make a flowery out of her principal street because there is no state law. It is too absurd to think of. In the first place men looking for state laws are not running fake sales of stuff which they don't care to tell where and how it was obtained. Think it over, if your interests are in Duluth.

NEARING THE CLOSE.

Marine Season Almost Over and Boats Are Pulling Out.

Every day signs that the marine season is nearing the close multiply. Last night's frost brought a skum of ice over the slips and swamps and over part of the bay. And vessel owners are nearly through with their season's business.

The Crescent line is nearly through. The Nicol and Moran are on their way up, and when they leave it will be for the last time this season. The only other Crescent liners which will arrive in Duluth are three which will winter here. It is not known yet which boats will stay here.

The Chicago line has two boats coming up and one going down, all on their last trip. The City of Traverse left here today for Hancock, and will return here before going to Chicago. Her arrival there will end her season. The City of Duluth and the Jay Gould are coming up on their last trip.

Dullness still holds over the marine freight situation, and there is no change in rates or business.

FOR THE PLAIN PEOPLE.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND MAKES MEN AND WOMEN WELL AGAIN.

Dr. Shady, in the Forum, gives some of the big fees that physicians receive from wealthy patients.

For four weeks' attendance during typhoid fever the physician to the prince of Wales received $50,000.

It is the countless homes in moderate circumstances, however, that find it so hard to pay for the frequent doctor's visits. What the plain people want is the very best medicine, yet not beyond their means. They have it in Paine's celery compound.

To prepare such a great, popular remedy, that should embody the most advanced ideas regarding disease, and yet be easily within reach of the thousand modest homes where sickness exists, was the life-long ambition of that eminent Dartmouth professor, the greatest physician America has produced, Edward E. Phelps, M.D., LL.D.

Paine's celery compound embodied the sound theory of Professor Phelps, and blood purifier, was first prepared by Professor Phelps in the laboratory of the Dartmouth medical school.

This most progressive remedy of this century soon made its way into hospitals, homes of physicians, and into countless modest households in the large cities, and the happy results during all these years in every city and hamlet in this broad land sufficiently shows its marvelous power over diseases of debility and weakness. Physicians advise its use whenever the system is "run down," and as an invaluable general tonic for speedily recruiting the strength of the body.

Mr. E. E. Towne, who is one of the best known business men in Springfield, Mass., has been a resident of that city for over thirty years. He has a fine residence in the McKnight district, and is well and favorably known among the best people of the city. He writes:

"I had spent thousands of dollars in hospitals and at different springs in trying to cure sciatic rheumatism. Almost every known remedy, both internal and external, was tried, but results were not satisfactory; no cure was effected. Early in 1891 (after I had had some temporary relief) I was again taken with very violent suffering, pain night and day. I tried various remedies for two months, but with no help. As another experiment I commenced taking Paine's celery compound. I began to improve at once before using up one bottle. The pains grew less, my appetite grew better, and I began to get sound and refreshing sleep, and have gained in three months fifteen pounds. I have only taken six bottles, but am nearly well. It has done for me in three months what other medicines did not do in years." The example is plain.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Duluth Society is Now Waiting for the Annual Event of the Winter, the Charity Ball.

Kitchi Gammi Club Will Be Open to Ladies on the Third Wednesday of Each Month.

Chamber Concert at the High School Monday Evening—Social and Personal Doings of the Week.

Everybody in Duluth society is evidently waiting for the charity ball at the Spalding on Tuesday, Nov. 27. There is but little doing socially now but it is hoped that the ball will mark the beginning of a run of social pleasure which will make the winter season a gay and an attractive one.

The Kitchi Gammi club has initiated a new feature which was probably brought about as much by the organization of the winter club as for any other reason. Last Saturday a resolution was passed opening the club for the admission of ladies attended by a club member on the third Wednesday of every month from 8 to 12 p. m. An arrangement has been made with the street railway company for cars to leave the club at 12:15 o'clock.

THE CHAMBER CONCERT.

Fine Program to Be Given at the High School Monday Evening.

Not very often in a city the size of Duluth is there gathered together for any occasion as many really clever musical people as are on the program of the chamber concert, which is to be given Monday evening at the High School under Athletic association auspices. The music which will be given at that time is being rehearsed, at least the vocal portion, under the direction of George Tyler, who lately came here from the city of Straits. He is said to be a fine tenor and to possess a voice of great compass and exquisite modulation.

The basso on Monday is to be J. Armour Galloway, of Chicago, who made such a hit here some weeks ago in "The Creation" oratorio. A comparatively young man, Mr. Galloway has so mastered his art as to be mentioned in the same category with Myron Whitney and other renowned basses.

The soprano on this occasion will be Mrs. Dorwin-Aspinwall. She, too, won "The Creation" audiences by her clear dramatic style. She will render the difficult "Miserere" from Verdi's "Il Trovatore" as well as the soprano part in the sextet from the opera "Lucia" by Donizetti, the latter being perhaps the most pretentious number on the program.

Miss Moak will sing a contralto solo and the presence of her voice on a program is sufficient to bring out a host of friends. Miss Moak as well as Miss Helen Mackay, who will give two piano numbers, have been lately connected with the better class of musical events in Duluth.

Nicholas Murphy will sing the Torador song from "Carmen" and will essay the baritone role in the sextet. Mr. Lahey will sing the basso part in the sextet. The program is as follows:

Piano solo—"Liebestraum".....Liezt
Miss Helen Mackay.
Bass solo—"She Alone" (Charmant) My Sadness.....Mr. J. Armour Galloway.
Contralto solo—"My Heart at Thy Sweet Gate".....Mrs. Dorwin-Aspinwall.
Tenor solo—"Wagoner".....Mr. George Tyler.
Soprano solo—"Chamade".....Mrs. Dorwin-Aspinwall.

Part II.
Duet—"Miserere" from "Il Trovatore".....Verdi
Mrs. Dorwin-Aspinwall, Mr. Tyler.
Bass solo—"A Reverie".....Tosti
Mr. J. Armour Galloway.
Piano solo—"The Guitar".....Moskowsky
b. Waltz.....Chopin Bartone solo—"Toreador" song from "Carmen".....Mr. Nicholas Murphy.
Sextet—"Waltz" from "Venetian".....Donizetti
Mrs. Aspinwall, Mrs. Moak, Mr. Murphy, Mr. Tyler, Mr. Seikas, Mr. Lahey.

Nancy Hank's record 2:04. Who can beat it? The question is often asked of Dr. Price's baking powder.

THE WORLD OF LABOR

Printers of Minnesota, the Two Dakotas and Manitoba Have Formed the Allied Printing Crafts.

Next Meeting Will Be Held at Grand Forks on the Second Tuesday of June.

The Plasterers and Lathers Will Assemble Tonight to Revive the Union That Was Disbanded.

The Allied Printing Crafts is the name of an organization launched at St. Paul this week. It covers Minnesota, the two Dakotas and Manitoba. Its membership will include printers, pressmen, press feeders, binders and folders, mailers, etc. On Tuesday, the State Typographical union, of which W. D. Dean has been president, met and closed up its affairs and then merged into the new organization. The officers of the district organization are: President, L. T. Rutter, Duluth; secretary, J. R. Puttee, Winnipeg; district organizer, H. S. Woodward, Minneapolis.

The convention was closed on Wednesday with a banquet given by St. Paul Typographical Union No. 30. Among the prominent speakers were State Labor Commissioner L. C. Powers, United States Marshal J. Adam Biele and H. P. Hall, of the St. Paul Daily Call. The banquet was a great success. During the whole convention, the St. Paul Typographical union left no stone unturned in the way of attention and entertainment for the visiting delegates. The Duluth delegates are loud in their praise of that feature of the occasion.

The convention was a great success and the attendance large. Reports from over the district show that the various unions and crafts embraced in this district organization are in a good condition. The next meeting will be held at Grand Forks on the second Tuesday of June next.

This is the off week in local union circles. The assembly holds its regular meeting next week and at that time, a general view of the labor field in Duluth will be afforded. Last week's column had two mistakes. Instead of being chosen secretary of the assembly, Charles Leitz was named president. Instead of the assembly's appointing E. Applegreen organizer, vice Gustave Olson, President Compters of the American Federation of Labor was named to make the change. He has that appointing power, not the assembly.

This evening, there will be a meeting held for the purpose of organizing the plasterers and lathers. About a year ago, the union, which had been in a somewhat feeble condition, was disbanded. There are thirty members and a few more who are anxious to get organized. They will join the American Federation of Labor and affiliate with the local Federated Trades assembly.

A GREAT AWAKENING.

The Recent Campaign Shows that the People are Thinking.

(Special Correspondence.) The intense last days of the political campaign are upon us. It is the one time of the year when the workingman is "a good fellow," a man to be respected and conciliated. He is not now a machine, a grumbler, a malcontent who "wants to ride in a carriage, have turtle soup every day and eat a gold spoon," but a creature to be talked to, to be calmed, "treated" and coaxed. All this will be over by the time you are reading this, and the workingman be again in his normal, insignificant, mere wealth producing condition. Now he is all important.

But one thing is true: While the two old parties are coaxing and flattering the "sturdy voters" with more earnestness and anxiety than ever before it is with much less effect. A great new thought is sweeping over the country. It is a political campaign of ideas. The mechanical voting to the sound of old party piping, the torch carrying, cape wearing and loud shouting are not so readily performed this year. The skillful whipping into line is not so effectual. There is something wonderful in the waking up of the people. A new spirit infuses the whole movement; the thrill of a new hope inspires the masses. You can see it sweep through a throng of earnest listeners at any of the vast people's meetings, like a summer breeze blowing over ripening wheat, turning it into golden ripples and gleams of all-vigilant light. You may stand among them imagining you are a philosophic spectator, but you feel the thrill as it reaches and sweeps by you. There is something great in this new campaign which springs out of the west like a fresh invigorating breeze from the occidental sea.

What does it matter if platforms do not suit us? What if every word does not find a ready response in our minds? What if the statements of the new party are not up to our ideals or not exactly in line with our theories? We may think there is too much grasping in the declaration of principles for clearness and consistency. It does not matter, after all. It is the spirit of the movement that appeals to us. It is the strong, rising sense of justice, the principle of revolt against wrong now permeating the nursing masses, that they desire. This is the significance in the present political movement. The people may not know exactly what to ask for, and perhaps their eager rush onward is a blind dash toward an unknown goal. Perhaps they are not always logical or always wise. But that they are becoming alive to their condition, that they are moving enthusiastically together, all alike stirred with an idea of freedom and justice—this is the hopeful thing.

To know that the old parties can no longer train the voters as they choose, but that they are declaring themselves free to think and choose for themselves—this is the glorious fact of the hour. There will be many discouragements. Even the greatest success might not prove to be success in the end. If the highest hopes of the new party should be realized, all that has been expected from such realization may not follow. But that is of little consequence. The real good is that the people have started to ask for their own; they have set out on the right path; they will have begun to learn the inevitable lessons they must learn; they must undergo many experiences, painful and humiliating often, but if they keep the idea of "equal rights to all, special privileges to none," they will not blunder far out of the way and always, they will be advancing.

Education now proceeds so fast as during a campaign like the present. The people are in a receptive mood; they really want to know, you know. And as somebody always rises to every occasion, so speakers and leaders, as eager to talk to their audience as to have them, come to the front, and agitation is in the very air. A great deal of nonsense and humbug are spouted forth continually, but minds are in the process of thinking. Every debate sharpens the wits, and both participants and listeners rise a step higher mentally after a vigorous clashing of ideas.

If the only good to be attained in the present campaign was a plurality of votes for the Populist candidates, we might have little to cheer us for the platformers are as determined the working people shall not gain any concessions through the ballot as they are that not one of their privileges nor one iota of their power shall be lost by strikes, petitions or conventional means. At present, however, the people have been made to see workingmen by the ears and make them animal one another's votes all over the country. Note the speech in Chicago.

When the Populist convention was called at Twelfth Street Turner hall, the Democrats and Republicans had their men ready to pack the hall and subvert the purposes of the convention. They failed to accomplish this, but they prevented any business being done and finally broke up the meeting. They tried to do the same when a second convention was called, but they did not get inside. They then converted themselves at another hall, fooled a few genuine trade unionists, induced candidates on the Republican and Democratic tickets and called it the genuine People's Party ticket. The case was taken before a board consisting of candidates on the Republican and Democratic tickets, where a farcical investigation was instituted, which ended by placing the spurious ticket on a par with the genuine and excluded both from the official ballot except by petition.

Oh, yes, you deserve some ameliorations of your condition, but this is not the way to get it. You must go to the polls to find a remedy for your grievances. Every wrong of an American citizen can be righted at the ballot box. When, in order to compel a heartless millionaire to treat his employees like human beings, a great railroad strike was inaugurated, much inconvenience and some confusion ensued. The respectful public, much annoyed, cried out: "This is no way to do. You may have grievances, but you can't right them this way. The polls are the place to register your protest." When labor men have gathered in groups in our large cities until visions of a desperate mob frightened the eyes of timid, law-abiding citizens, they have said: "Yes, certainly you have rights; but, please, don't try to get them in this violent manner. You will lose all sympathy. You do not understand our American institutions. You must get your rights at the ballot box."

The people have taken that advice. They are going to the polls in throngs, and they are asking for justice there with such force that the class that has so long been becoming alarmed. They will resist being deprived of privilege and power at the ballot box as decidedly as they do when threatened by tramp armies and bandied strikers. The reason they have always advised workers to go to the polls for their rights is because they did not believe they were because they did not believe they were. But now that it looks as though the people were taking their advice they are scheming to defeat them by any dishonest means they can employ. They will not be beaten. The privileged classes will not yield to the will of the majority if that means that they must give up their power to live on the labor of others. As they have beaten back industrial armies with clubs and guns, protesting workmen with troops and calling guns and starting women and children with the militia, so they will meet the will of the voters if that will threatens their position. They will not give up their power without desperate struggles. Do not anticipate, but at the same time do not be taken unawares.

Wages and Civilization. Low wages break down the self respect of the laborer; they destroy his hope and ambition, causing him to be indifferent to his mental, social and moral development, and reduce him to the low level of making merely a struggle to live.

It is an insurmountable obstruction to progress. In this country, where the governing power is in the hands of the laboring classes, such compensation for labor as will cause the man with his ballot in his hand, to realize the importance and responsibility of his position and enable him to qualify himself to meet his requirements is an absolute necessity. A blow struck at the wages of the laborer is a menace against the nation's life. Despoth, with the aid of great standing armies, may maintain and keep solid the oppressive government, where poverty has extinguished the manhood of the oppressed. But here in our country the common man is the highest authority. He should be a manly, intelligent ruler. He must have a chance to earn and receive the wages that will bring to him the necessary culture.—Exchange.

Helping Their Unemployed. There is a peculiar feature of self help among the mass of the English working people which is truly astonishing. At the present time they are asking for more legislation on their behalf—old age pensions, an eight hour law and measures of that kind. But they do not wait until they get the legislation. They do everything in their power to meet their own needs for the emergency. H. Llewellyn Smith, labor commissioner of Great Britain, was telling us how much the trades unions themselves have been able to do for their unemployed members. For example, during the year 1891 upward of 202 of such unions, including over 600,000 members, distributed an unemployed benefit over $1,100,000 among their unemployed members.—Professor Sheldon.

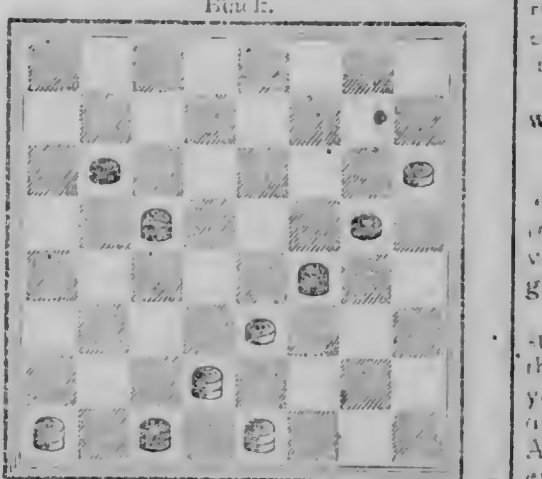

How the Law Is Circumvented. A dispatch from Port Townsend, Wash., says: The customs and immigration officials here have discovered a scheme whereby it is estimated that 500 Japanese have been admitted this year. The only restriction to immigration is that each applicant for admission shall possess $30. It now develops that when a party of pauper Japanese arrive in Victoria they are not there by agents from this side, who supply each with $30 and a ticket into this country. Upon arriving here the Japanese are taken to the custom house, examined, and as each has the requisite amount of money, they are passed. Before starting for interior points the money is refunded to the agent, who crosses the line again to wait for another batch.

An Experiment in Co-operation. Agnetta Park, near Delft, in Holland, is the result of an interesting experiment in co-operation. A tract of two acres has been divided into 160 small plots, each with its little garden and with certain common buildings and common grounds. The houses are occupied by the employees of a great distilling company, who form a corporation which owns the park. Each member owns shares in the corporation and pays rent for his house. The surplus after expenses are paid comes back to him as dividends. If he wishes to go away or dies, his shares are bought up by the corporation and sold to the man who takes his place.

TRUTH IS MIGHTY.

Moses Gage Shirley, the Poet, Cured by Dr. Greene's Nervura Blood and Nerve Remedy--Words That Show a Poet Can on Occasion Use Vigorous Prose.

MOSES GAGE SHIRLEY, THE POET.

That Moses Gage Shirley, of Goffstown, N. H., is a popular poet, the world knows. That he is a great poet is evidenced by the fact that he is endorsed by that master of poets, James Whitcomb Riley, and such eminent men as Governor William E. Russell, of Massachusetts, and Mayor Knowlton, of Manchester, N. H. His book "Everyday Rhymes" has made him famous.

The poet personally is a genial gentleman, who talked interestingly to the writer concerning himself.

"I am very well, indeed, now," he said, "but some time ago I was troubled badly with weak nerves and kidney and liver complaint. I took that wonderful medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and it completely cured me."

"As a nerve strengthener and blood purifier it is unequalled and richly merits its great success as the grandest of medicines."

"I advise everybody ailing to use it, and I take every opportunity to recommend it. It will certainly cure."

Our great writers, our illustrious statesmen, our most eminent physicians and best known society people, use and recommend this grandest of medicines, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It occupies a position among the sick and ailing far above any other remedy ever discovered. No other remedy cures like it, no other medicine begins to have such a long array of wonderful cures. Day after day prominent and well-known people publish their testimonials, and recommend this remedy because it cured them and they desire to point out the road to health to others who may be suffering from nerve weakness, overworked brains, tired-out bodies, nervous debility, insomnia, dyspepsia, constipation, rheumatism, or some other affection which causes nervousness, weakness and prostration.

Prominent persons, whom everybody knows, would not thus give their names to the public and advise people to use Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy if they did not know from their own experience that the medicine cured, and that it will cure others if they use it.

Our only say, try it and prove for yourself that it will do just what these well-known people say it will.

Why waste time in trying uncertain and untried remedies, when here is a physician's prescription, a discovery made by the greatest living specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 West Fourteenth street, New York city. If you take this medicine you can conquer yourself under Dr. Greene's direct professional care, and you can consult him or write to him about your case, freely and without charge. This is a guarantee that the remedy will cure, possessed by no other medicine in the world.

IN SPORTING CIRCLES

The Advent of Cold Weather Has Caused the Sharpening of Skates and Other Preparations.

The Curlers Are Already Planning for the Season and Rinks Are Quietly Being Formed.

Murphy and Finnick to Meet Soon and Have a Sharp Contest--Other Sporting Matters.

The week has been another dull one in sporting circles. The only proceedings that have occurred have been largely embryonic and preparatory, and on account of the weather and the state of the ground there has not been a single sporting event of any consequence. With the earth covered with a coating of snow, ice and mud, any talk of football, the only seasonable sport, is out of the question.

Still, preparations for a lively winter are going on, and unless all signs fail, the coming of cold weather will be followed by a round of sports which will not let up until the sun comes forth again in the spring and dissipates the ice.

A good part of the amusement this winter will be furnished by the curling club at their Glen Avon rink. Out there the work of preparing the rink for business is going merrily on. The front members of the club, but they will not let up until the sun comes forth again in the spring and dissipates the ice.

The curling season is now well advanced. During the late cold snap this frost and it began to look like business, but the warm weather has allowed the frost to melt and the ice to break up. The curling season is now well advanced. During the late cold snap this frost and it began to look like business, but the warm weather has allowed the frost to melt and the ice to break up.

It is nearly time that some of the rinks for the winter's curling matches were formed, and it is said that one or two have been formed. Their composition has not been divulged yet, even to the other members of the club, but they will probably come out in the near future.

Those interested in pugilism are anxious to see a good bout between Finnicks and Murphy, and it seems likely that their wishes may be attained. The last fight was not entirely satisfactory, though it was a good one, for Finnicks was not in the best of conditions and therefore was no match for Murphy. Murphy has accepted the kid's challenge for a contest worth $100 and $500.

Both men are good fighters, and placed on an equal footing they will give one of the best scrapes ever witnessed in Duluth. The fight will take place on Monday night at the rink at Clear Lake.

Miss Hurd was in town Wednesday afternoon. She was accompanied by her brother, Max Swenski, of Rhineland, Wis.

The ladies of the First Baptist church are preparing for a Christmas sale and supper to be held in the church Dec. 5, 1894.

Thanksgiving morning the Central Gun club will give everyone a chance to shoot for the gobbler necessary for a proper celebration of the holiday. The shoot will be the wind-up of the gun club's season. It will take place at their old range at the foot of Twenty-first avenue west. A meeting was held Wednesday night to discuss the matter and President J. W. Nelson appointed a committee consisting of Messrs. Nelson, Pastore, Day, Gunderson and Heiler to make the necessary arrangements.

Company G, of West Duluth, will also give a Thanksgiving turkey shoot. The arrangements have been placed in the hands of a committee consisting of Messrs. Nicksles, L. Barnes and Will Crawford.

From all appearances football in Duluth is nearly over, unless a few weeks more of weather free from ice and snow is granted, and that would be directly in opposition to those who are anxious to begin the sports impracticable without an outcome of the correspondence with the South Minneapolis eleven, and the prospects are that no game will be played.

The various rinks are nearly ready for the ice which is rapidly coming in the weather of yesterday and today may be relied upon. The Polo club's rink at Twenty-second avenue east was completed during the week, and yesterday the water was turned on the saddest. Last night there was a good freeze, and if this weather will only continue there will be skating there before Thanksgiving.

The rink is an excellent location and will undoubtedly catch a large part of the best patronage, lying as it does in the midst of the residence district.
